

Musicians To Perform

A long and varied program of music will be given in the music auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Helen Luvaas, introducing the night of music, will play "Lobt Gott," a chorale prelude by Buxtehude, and "Fugue in G-Minor," by Frescobaldi, on the seldom-heard organ.

A sextet, composed of sopranos, Ruth Merritt and Lolita Pierson; Jean Burlingham; tenor, Lee Formley; baritone, Ray Leonard; and bass, Dan Wessler, will present the second groups of numbers. They are to sing: "Hence With Earthly Treasure" by Bach; "O, Lovely May" by Brahms; and "Dedication" by Douglas Moore.

Duet

Ruth Baker and Elizabeth Schaefer will entertain with a piano duet, "Sonata No. 3," the first movement, by Mozart. "Rondo," from "Piano Sonata No. 3 in A-major" by Schubert is to be presented by Janice Hough. Betty Jean Taylor will play three Hungarian folk dances by Bela Bartok. Maurice Ravel's "Forlane and Rigaudon," from the "Tombeau de Couperin" will be

The fourth part of the scheduled program is devoted to singers. Ray Leonard, baritone, will sing "Adelaide" by Beethoven, accompanied by Helen Luvaas. "Die Frauen Sind Oft Fromm Und Still" and "Gefunden" by Richard Strauss, are to be sung by Soprano Margaret Zimmerman, accompanied by Phyllis Taylor. June Marie Wilson, also a soprano, accompanied by Alfhild Wahl, will sing "Serenade Florentine" by Henri Dupare. Soprano Lolita Pierson, assisted by Ruth Baker at the piano, will present Chanson Enfantine's "Oh, Raconte, Nianiouchka" by Mussorgsky and Ravel's "La-Bas, Vers L'Eglise" and "Tout Gai."

Andante

Elizabeth Walker, James Gibson, Verne Sellin, and Barbara Bagley will offer Gabriel Faure's "Andante," from the "String Quartet op. 121." The string quartet, together with June Johnson, Lolita Pierson, and Ray Leonard, will also present "Scherzo Musicale" by Claudio Moneverdi.

Concluding the program is Schubert's "Standchen" as sung by the quartet: Ruth Merritt, Lolita Pierson, Barbara Bentley, and Ruth Van Buskirk, the alto solo taken by Jean Burlingham. Piano accompaniment will be provided by Helen Luvaas.

Mrs. Alexander Thomson, Sr., recently was elected president of Western college, Oxford, Ohio.

OSC Professor To Speak Here

Dr. Leo Friedman, associate professor of chemistry at Oregon State college, will speak before University students and faculty members Thursday at an "outstanding meeting of the year" for Oregon's chemistry seminar, according to Dr. Pierre Van Ryselberghe, of the chemistry department.

Subject of the discussion will be "The Chemistry of Lignin."

"One of the main constituents of wood, this substance is of great interest in the Pacific Northwest, due to its bearing on the lumber industry," Dr. Van Ryselberghe commented.

Formerly a member of the University faculty, Dr. Friedman moved to Corvallis in 1932. His main interest in the field of colloids, the scientist has published several papers on this and other related subjects.

Tin Cans Rattle Last Time Today

Tin cans again rattled on curbs last Friday as another campus pick-up of scrap metal netted 150 pounds more of tin cans for the campus collection, Bibbits Strong, co-chairman of the salvage committee, announced after the drive.

The final tin can drive for this term will take place today, and all organizations should place all their cans at the pick-up corner nearest their house, Miss Strong said Monday.

In the last drive, Highland house gave 9 boxes of cans, Pi Beta Phi, 8; Gamma Phi Beta, 3; Alpha Chi Omega, 1; and Alpha Omicron Pi, 1.

Senior Class Meeting Switched to Tuesday

Senior class meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday evening, has been cancelled, according to Ray Packouz, because of interference with other scheduled affairs. It will be held instead Tuesday, May 18 in 105 Commerce hall.

Business before the May 18 meeting will include: determining the use of class funds which have been raised, the election of permanent class officers, and announcement of baccalaureate and commencement plans. Packouz urged all senior class members attend.

A committee to determine disposition of the class funds will give its report at the meeting. Those on the committee are Betty McCall, Carolyn Holmes, Warren Treece, and Ray Packouz.

Senior Debt Deadline Set

May 20 is the deadline for the payment of graduation fees and all other indebtedness to the University. Seniors must also have their applications for degrees in the registrar's office by that time if they intend to graduate this year.

Saturday noon, May 22, will be the deadline for dropping classes with passing grades.

Men Find Dorm

geant and the photographer and reporters with such questions as:

"How many girls are there on the campus?" "Are there many dances?" "I guess we won't have much time off, huh?" "Name some of the sororities."

The ages of the men probably run between 18 and 25; closer to 18 than 25, however. Some of them looked as young as 15.

Eager

They all looked eager to get started at their new work; they looked tanned and healthy and military. They jumped quickly to attention when introduced to Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, who is taking care of the food problem for the army students.

They looked capable of undergoing the rigid study regulations and requirements they will soon be up against. To a man they looked like officer material and University students.

Final call for Tobacco preciates your generosity. We suggest the entire amount be used to purchase American cigarettes, which of all personal comforts are the most difficult to obtain here."

The cable sent in response to an inquiry made as to what troops would most appreciate as a gift from American colleges and universities. Other bulletins state that under present conditions, many American fighting men overseas receive an allotment of approximately one cigarette per week.

"The collection of even $25 on this campus will mean that 500 packs can be sent out of the country," Miss Younger declared. "The low cost of 4½ cents a package is made possible by the donation of shipping by the Raleigh company, and by reduction of federal taxes."
