

—Photo by Ted Bush

HERE SOME . . .
 . . . of the new army students are preparing to carry their barracks bags into the dormitory to which they have been assigned.

University to Confer Honors For Notable Service to Five

The 66th commencement at the University of Oregon will be highlighted Sunday, May 30, by the conferring of five honorary degrees, Dr. Donald M. Erb, president of the University, announced Thursday. Those to be honored are Miss Nellie B. Pipes, Portland, master of arts in public service; Ben Hur Lampman, Portland, honorary master of arts; Mrs. Lila Bell Acheson Wallace, Pleasantville, N. Y., doctor of laws; Dr. Rosiland Wulzen, Oregon State college, doctor of science; and Dr. Ralph A. Fenton, doctor of science.

Miss Pipes has served as librarian of the Oregonian Historical society since 1919. She has contributed frequent articles to the Oregon Historical quarterly and placed her store of historical knowledge at the disposal of researchers for a generation.

As editorial writer and associate editor of the Oregonian, Ben Hur Lampman is recognized for his outstanding work in northwest letters. Lampman has published several books of poems and essays which have made him a voice of the Oregon country.

Mrs. Wallace has gained fame across the nation as co-founder with her husband, Dewitt Wallace, of the Reader's Digest. She received a B.S. degree from Oregon in 1917.

A graduate of the University of California in 1904, Dr. Wulzen has contributed work in the field of vitamins and nutrition. Her work, the writing of many scientific articles, was begun at the University when she was assistant professor of biology here.

A graduate of the Oregon medical school class of 1914, Dr. Fenton is now head of the department of to-laryngology there and has been honored for his achievements in medicine and his contributions in the field of medical literature.

War Tempo

(Continued from page one)

tember 29 and 30, of freshman week.

Recent announcements from the personnel office state the probability that men will not hold their regular rushing period at the regular rushing time, but may rush later. It is also likely that women rushees will stay in the sorority houses during rush week.

"If there isn't enough room for women on the campus during the school year, they may have to rent rooms in some of the sororities which have vacancies," said Dean Schwering, in a discussion of the housing problem.

New pledges announced this week by the dean of men's office include Loren Arnett, Sigma Chi; Leland Huff, Theta Chi; and Maurice Drenkel, Alpha Tau Omega.

NYA Cards Due

The present NYA pay period ends May 15, and all NYA workers are asked to turn in their time cards as soon as possible at the proper window on the second floor of Johnson hall.

Theta Sig Takes Six New Pledges

Six University women were pledged to Theta chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalistic fraternity, Friday. In an informal ceremony officers of the group pinned the green and lavender pledge ribbons on Marjorie Young, Betty Ann Stevens, Edith Newton, and Joanne Dolph, all sophomores in journalism, Ruth Dozier, junior in journalism, and Utahna Hall, senior in journalism.

Membership in Theta Sigma Phi is limited to junior and senior women in journalism, and the honorary usually pledges only in the fall. Pledges tapped in the spring are outstanding junior and senior transfers from other schools and sophomore women chosen for special achievement in journalism work.

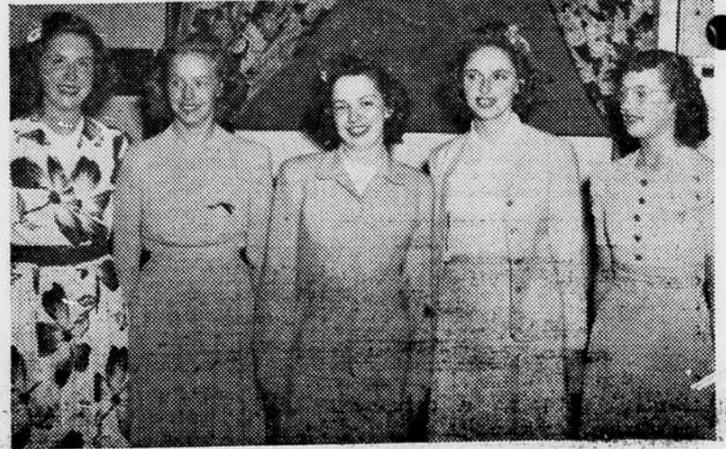

Formal pledging will take place Wednesday, May 19, at 7 p.m. at the home of Ann Leo, vice-president of the group. Uledges will be honored at a tea after the ceremony.

Emerald Chiefs

(Continued from page one) page, Betsy Wootton; chief night editor, Carol Cook; editorial board, Edith Newton.

Positions on the editorial board will be announced in the fall when publication resumes, as well as other news department assistantships. City desk editors and night editors will also be announced then.

The Turnbull-Hall plaque, awarded annually to the senior in journalism, most valuable to the Emerald, was awarded to Mildred Wilson, Emerald columnist and prominent coed. Emerald certificates were awarded to about 45 business, news, desk, and night staff workers for completion of one year's service to the Emerald. Sixteen Emerald "O" pins for two years' service were given at the banquet.

—Photo by J. Warten Teter

OREGANA BRAIN-TRUSTERS . . .

. . . for the coming school year are Joan Dolph, associate editor; Nancy Brownell, managing editor; Helen Johnson, editor; Edith Newton, business manager; and Adele Riggs, associate editor.

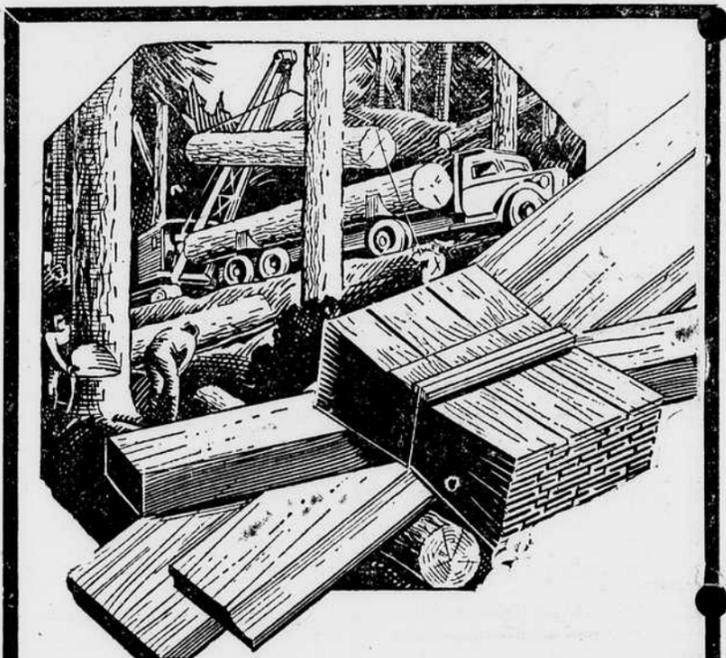

Mary Louise Vincent 'USO' Play Hits Road

A one-act play, "USO," written by Mary Louise Vincent in the campus playwriting class, is taking to the road. After a first successful production last week at the local USO center by students of the drama department, it is being scheduled for repeat performances for the enjoyment of men in the service at various out-of-town centers in the county and state. Monday night it was produced at Crow.

Doris Jones Fills

(Continued from page one) term from the incoming freshman class. Officers will be installed at the ISA cabinet meeting next Tuesday.

This term's officers included: president, Al Larsen; vice-president, Leighton Platt; senior representative, Alene Gardner; junior representative, Norman Mannheim; sophomore representative until her resignation, Audrey Holliday; and freshman representative, Jack Malcolm.

The Lumber Industry Is all-out for Victory

Booth - Kelley Lumber Co. wishes to extend best wishes to this year's graduating class of the University of Oregon.

BUYING DEFENSE BONDS AND STAMPS!

● War today is war in which all who are willing and able may serve. It is war brought home, where citizens with a desire to help their country may give as much time as they can to Civilian Defense work—a war in which ALL can be of help by

THE OLD LUMBER-JACK AND ALL HIS ASSOCIATES WISH YOU LUCK!

THANKS
WEBFOOTS

For a wonderful year in associating with you, your friends and your activities.

To those of you who are leaving school this spring—best of luck. And those of you who are coming back next fall we wish you a most pleasant vacation. Thanks to you all.

Art Holman and his orchestra will continue to play for your enjoyment while you are on the campus.

Eugene Hotel

DINING ROOM AND COFFEE SHOP
 222 East Broadway Phone 2000

BEFORE YOU LEAVE FOR THE SUMMER

Don't even think of packing your blankets away for the summer without having us launder them first. Smart coeds know that cleanliness is the way toward making blankets last longer, and keeping them moth free.

Phone 825

"Service Our Motto"

New Service Laundry & CLEANERS

839 High St.