Annual Church Social Mix For Soldiers, Civilians Scheduled for Saturday

By PEGGY OVERLAND

Another school tradition is going to shake itself out of a year's retirement this Saturday night and hit the campus in full force. Church night, an annual fall custom, will be the second big affair held on the campus with the purpose of giving the soldiers a chance to get acquainted with the students and vice versa. Sponsored by the student religious council and including practically every church in town, the event is designed to offer an evening of variety and fun, with accent on the fun.

"Mexicali Cabaret," newest night-spot just off the campus will open for the first time this Saturday, to all students and soldiers, campus-clothed, uniformed, date or dateless. Complete with floor show, emceed by a soldier-student, with an old-world atmosphere (the candles burning in a variety) and cigarette music, the Cabaret will be St. Mary's Episcopal students' contribution to church night.

The program for the evening will include the campus songstresses, June Johnson, recently of the Albina Hellicats of Portland and Margie Knowles, vocalist with Art Holman's orchestra. Yvonne Umphlette will dance. Dancing will predominate at the Cabaret and the upstairs lounge will be opened for games. Campus clothes are in order and signs on the campus will point the way down Thirteenth street to the Cabaret.

Westminster House Plans

A spectacular but just as fun will be provided by Westminster house where games are scheduled to be held both outside in the yard and in the house. There will be a musical program, with refreshments and dancing in order. It is designed for those who want to spend an informal and friendly evening playing games, eating and dancing.

Wesley house, now moved to 1258 Kincaid street, will be open to students from 7:30 to 12 (Please turn to page four)

Dean Schwering Names Nine New Housemothers To Staff

An announcement was recently made by Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, of the addition of nine new house mothers to the University staff. An increased number of chaperons has been necessitated due to the smaller dormitory units now in operation.

Theater Group Forms Council

Over 100 students, including eight freshman men, turned out for the first meeting of the University theater group, Thursday evening. The main issue was the formation of an advisory council to assist Horace Robinson, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts, in planning the group's program for the year. The council will be composed of two seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, and four freshmen—two men and two women—because of the predominance of freshmen at the meeting. The names will be announced in Saturday's Emerald.

Mr. Robinson stressed that for the first time in approximately 20 years, participation in dramatic activity will not be limited to those enrolled in acting classes but will be open to everyone on the campus.

The theater group, which may be renamed later, headed by its advisory council will help in choosing the productions, in casting, and with the business end of the shows. An expected activity will be the printing of a news sheet to keep former University theater participants in touch with the latest developments.

Mr. Robinson expressed the hope that the theater group would extend to at least 200 members. Any student interested should see him at the educational activities office in McArthur court.

Engineers Rule Hospital Roost

Outnumbering the army air corps seven to one, the ASTU students claim a decided priority on the infirmary these days. Those seven engineers are: Joseph Biango, John Barclay, Eugene Bialek, Ellery Pimentel, Richard Ulrich, Frank Washburn, and Archibald Watson.

Harlow Bohlen represents the lone air corps man and celebrates a month's sojourn there today.

Two sophomores, Mary Jane Reese and Robert Mueller, and one freshman, Jean Redmond, complete the list of "internees" at the present.

AWS Appoints New Officers

Appointment of Kay Jenkins and Mary Wright to the positions of AWS vice-president and campus social chairman, respectively, was announced Thursday by Marilyn Campbell, AWS president.

Miss Jenkins will take the place of Nancy Ames, ASUO president, who was elected to the AWS position last spring; while Miss Wright will act as campus hostess and will name what type of dress will be worn to different campus social events.

Dr. Erb, Nancy Ames Preside; Army Duck Show Featured

Held in the evening instead of the usual morning hour to accommodate Uncle Sam's Webfoots, tonight's all-campus assembly will be unique in recent University history, because of the many students in army uniform.

The program will be a double feature with Dr. Donald M. Erb, president of the University, presiding over the first portion of the program and Nancy Ames, ASUO president, wielding the gavel for the second half.

Would-be Chairmen's Bids Asked

Petitions for chairman of Coed Capers should be turned in to Marilyn Campbell not later than Tuesday noon, Miss Campbell, AWS president, announced Thursday.

To qualify for the chairmanship a girl must be either a sophomore, junior, or senior; must have a GPA of at least 2.00; and must have a signed eligibility slip from the dean of women.

The annual capers, which is for campus women only, will be held sometime in November, according to the AWS president.

Board To Hear Job Aspirants

Students wishing to apply for one of the seven positions open on the campus war board, will be interviewed today from 3 to 5 p.m. in the ASUO president's office in McArthur court.

Jobs open are: chairman of the agricultural aid committee, blood bank committee, USO committee, finance committee, and air raid shelter committee; co-chairman of the publicity committee; and secretary for Jean Friderger, head of the campus war board. The position of chairman of the agriculture aid committee became vacant Thursday when Ruth Collins, former chairman, resigned.

Alum Added To Faculty List

A new name has been added to the faculty roster of the schools of architecture and allied arts. Miss Jean Kendall replaces Miss Pauline Conradt as assistant to Miss Maude I. Kerns, head of art education. Miss Kendall is a graduate of University of Oregon, class of 1941. Prior to her employment in the art school, Miss Kendall was teaching in the Salem senior high school.

Military Music Makers Slated to Take Stand

One of the features of the ASUO assembly tonight will be the 51st army air forces technical training detachment band under the leadership of Professor John Stehn. The band is composed of 40 men and will also be directed by Private Orlyn Lewis, their drum major, Private Irwin Cherniss, and Private Earl Truax.

The soldier students are being excused from their regular Friday night study hall to attend the assembly. This will be one of the few assemblies that they will be able to participate in or attend.

Dittman Emcees

Included in the first half of the program will be speeches by President Erb, Miss Ames, and Major W. S. Averill, professor of military science and tactics and commandant of the AAFTC students. The 40-piece AAFTC band under the direction of John Stehn will play several numbers and close the program with "Mighty Oregon."

Don Dittman will be master of ceremonies for the second half of the assembly. Skits will be presented by both soldier and civilian students and the new soldier orchestra will play. This will mark the first appearance of this orchestra made up of pre-meteorology and engineering students and led by Owen Bailey. Many of the members formerly played in prominent bands. They will play: "Johnson Rag," "Kansas City Moods," "It Can't Be Wrong," and "I Heard You Cried Last Night." The last number will feature Sue Welch as vocalist.

Houses Get Awards

It was necessary to hold the assembly in the evening because classes are being held this year at 11 on Thursday morning, the time previously designated for assemblies.

Prizes awarded to houses going over the top in the athletic card drive will be awarded at the assembly.

Junior Honorary Taps Six Pledges

Six new members were tapped Thursday evening for Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary. New members were tapped during dinner by members of the honorary remaining on the campus.

Velita Estey, junior in architecture and allied arts; Polly Gordon, junior in architecture and allied arts; Betsy Wooton Howard, junior in liberal arts; Flora Kibler, junior in liberal arts; Margery Pengra, junior in music; and Betty Ann Stevens, junior in journalism, were those tapped.

Is Willy In?

There was 10 minutes left in the class period of Dr. Rudolf Ernst's course in English drama, room 119, architecture.

The door opened, a student (girl) stuck her head through it, inquired, "Is this Shakespeare?"

Dr. Ernst turned, gazed at the intruder, turned, gazed at student Bill Buell in the front row, then turned his eyes back to the girl at the door.

"Do you mean Mr. Buell or me?" he asked.

Thus occurred the acme of every English professor's ambition—to be mistaken for Shakespeare.
