

UO Groups To Celebrate Church Night

Student groups and committees have been working all week on the programs which will be offered this Saturday night when church night is celebrated on the campus. Sponsored by the Student Religious council, the entire affair will be marked by spectacular and novel ideas which have been arranged to appeal to both soldiers and students alike.

The different church groups will meet at the following places:

Mexicali Cabaret, St. Mary's Episcopal church, signs along Thirteenth street will point the way; Westminster house, campus; Wesley house, 1258 Kincaid street; Harvest Homecoming, First Christian church, 1166 Oak street; Paradise Garden, Baptist Church, 868 High; Congregational church, Plymouth house.

Everyone is invited to come in informal campus clothes, except at the Baptist church at 8 p.m., which will be formal with a reception line. It's a time for fun and you should realize that.

Co-op Women Publish Sheet

Service men who are former members of the three men's co-operative houses, Campbell co-op, Canard club, and Kirkwood co-op, will again receive the news of the campus in the form of a monthly mimeographed paper. This paper was started last winter term by co-op men, and the project will be continued by the three women's co-ops.

A preliminary meeting was held Thursday evening at Highland house, but the staff has not been definitely determined. Addresses of the men are being collected and the women plan to send out their first issue the latter part of this month. A page of news about the men from each house will be featured, as well as general campus news.

Color Schemes Intrigue Sorority Redecorations

On a certain dismal evening a female stranger to the UO campus chanced to walk past the home of a well-known sorority. Suddenly she became intrigued at the sight of several husky men unloading bales of cotton from a truck and carrying them into the building.

"Rather unusual," she thought. "Still, I've heard that they do funny things down here." She walked on. Presently she approached another sorority house. On the porch several girls sat blindfolded. They were all studying or conversing in normal tones without seeming to mind their handicap in the slightest.

Hammer Head

"Got to quit buying bootleg," the stranger remarked to herself. On she went. Before long, however, she came to still another feminine sanctuary. Through a large window she caught a glimpse of three or four girls hitting three or four of their sisters on the head with hammers.

"Perhaps I should reason with them," thought the stranger. She straightened the feather in her thinking cap, mounted the steps, and walked in.

And what did she find? Why,

Club Outing Slated

Webfoot Wanderers, formerly the Outing club, will hold their first hike this afternoon. All girls interested are asked to bring a lunch and meet in front of Gerlinger hall at 12:15. In case of rain the hike will be postponed.

Soldiers to Rate Piggers' Listing

Military personnel will be included in a separate section in the annual Student Directory, according to a decision reached yesterday by the Educational Activities office. As in past years, the directory, commonly known as Piggers' Guide, will list each student's name, address, year, and major.

A special section is devoted to faculty and ASUO offices.

Carol Greening, editor, and Joan Dolph, business manager, are in charge of compiling the book, which will be distributed from a central point, yet to be decided.

"The Guide has always reached the campus by November 1, and it will be out by the same time this year," said Horace Robinson, educational activities director.

Students who failed to order their copies at registration may purchase them after all orders are filled, as long as the supply lasts.

Bright Future

That first week of homework wasn't so hard,

We can face the next week without fear

And the one after that, and the one after that,

There are 33 left in the year.

Honoraries Increase Duties; Women Step Up War Activity

Women's service organizations will handle the blood bank, agricultural aid, and emergency air raid protection committees of the campus war board, Jean Frideger, head of the board said Friday.

Mortar Board, senior women's service honorary, will handle the blood bank committee under the chairmanship of Beverly Goetz. Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary, has taken over the agriculture aid committee under the direction of Marty Beard, Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary will handle the emergency air raid protection committee.

Students appointed Friday as chairmen of other committees on the campus war board are: Red Cross chairman, Carol Wicke; staff members, Maxine Kemp and Martha Bucknell; hospitality committee, Phyllis Horstmann; bonds and staff committee staff member, Beatrice King; co-chairman of the publicity committee, Betty Lu Siegman; finance chairman, Alyson Hales; contact chairman Dorothy Miller; members of the USO committee, Betty McFadyen, Jean McDonald and Kay Shey.

The contact committee is a new committee organized for the purpose of working in connection with the publicity committee.

YW Drive Nears Goal

First women's living organization to report "all out" card purchases in this year's YWCA membership drive, Oregon Alpha Xi Deltas, Friday noon turned in fees and interest cards for each house member, Drive Chairman Joan Dolph announced yesterday.

"Y" members 100 per cent during the past years, Alpha Xis took the lead in sales during the first day of the drive, enlisting even their housemother, Mrs. H. L. Robinson.

The membership campaign, which began Thursday afternoon with the distribution of cards to organization chairmen will continue until Tuesday of next week, with a goal of 100 per cent membership in each women's living group. Members of the flying speech squadron will visit houses again this noon, when issues of last year's "Y" Co-edition will be distributed.

Girls Urged

"I want to urge the girls in every organization to help us reach our 100 per cent goal so that we can make this the friendliest, most interesting year the 'Y' has ever had," Miss Dolph declared. "Also I'd like to congratulate the Alpha Xi chairman, Betty Ann White, for the grand boost she has given this year's campaign in her house."

Members will swing into their regular schedule of activities early next week, she stated, following a cabinet meeting set for Tuesday afternoon.

Oregana Sets Pic Schedule

Individual pictures for the living organizations in the Oregana will begin next week at the Kennell-Ellis studio in downtown Eugene, the Oregana office announced last night. The Alpha Chi Omega house is scheduled to start the groups on Monday, with the Alpha Phis and AOPis following on Tuesday.

The number of poses for each person this year will be reduced from four to two, because of film shortages. It was emphasized that promptness in arriving for appointments would greatly decrease chances of mix-ups or disappointment.

Open House This Afternoon; Women Invite Men Students

Open house will be held in all the women's living organizations this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, Jean Page, head of the student coordinating committee, said Friday. All men students, both soldier and civilian, are invited to go to any or all the houses where dancing to phonograph records will be the order of the day. An informal affair, campus clothes will be worn.

The open house will be somewhat like the nickel hops held on the campus for the past few years, except for the fact that no charge will be made.

This is one of the first activities of the year sponsored by the student coordinating committee which was set up to coordinate plans for social events given by soldier or civilian students.

Other plans such as informal get-togethers somewhat like the exchange desserts were discussed at the meeting of the committee Thursday afternoon. Members of the committee are: Jean Page, Barbara Younger, Mary Corrigan, Babe Wimberly, Bud Pence, Si Bernstein, Ben Zinda, and Don Dittman.

Fraternity Members To Consider Rushing

Any fraternity that has members attending the University this year should send a representative to a meeting at the dean of men's office, 4 p.m., Wednesday, Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, said Friday.

The meeting is for the purpose of discussing the advisability of rushing and the possibility of an organization if there are enough fraternity members on the campus to warrant one.

Art School Prepares Exhibits; Fall Term Schedule Announced

The fall schedule of art exhibitions was announced yesterday by the school of architecture and allied arts. All exhibitions will be shown in the art school gallery, and students and their friends are invited to attend, free of charge.

At present, and until October 14, the gallery is filled with the annual student exhibition which should prove of particular interest to art students.

SDXers Call for Members to Work

"We Three Are All Alone" is the complaint of Sigma Delta Chi, national men's professional journalism honorary, members who are contemplating publishing their annual edition of the Emerald soon to avoid being left with but "Two Sleepy People" to do the required work.

Any of "The Musketeers" who have donned army uniform since initiation are asked to contact Ted Bush at the Side between 4 and 6 in the afternoon sometime before Tuesday next, so that plans may be laid for the proposed history making paper.

For two weeks, beginning October 18, a collection of Alexander Nepote's water color work will be on display.

Mr. Nepote's exhibit will be followed by a two-week showing of drawings and pastels done by Robert Henri. Mr. Henri will be remembered as the author of "The Art Spirit."

During the month of December, a collection of paintings by Oskar Kokoschka, a modern German painter who has been blackballed by the Nazis, will be hung in the art gallery.

These four exhibitions promise wide variety in subject matter and technique and it is hoped that a large number of University students will find time to attend. The gallery will be open each day from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
