

Coeds Plan Post Office In Co-op

Oregon students will again be able to mail packages at the Co-op. Polly Gordon, Co-op board manager, announced last night.

The station, scheduled to open Monday, will handle the weighing, stamping, and mailing of laundry and other packages for a service charge of five cents on all packages up to five pounds. An additional cent will be charged for each extra pound. Hours will be from 3 to 5 on week days and from 10 to 12 on Saturday mornings at the former location on the Co-op balcony. Edith Newton, Marjorie Young, and Anne Craven, juniors in journalism, will manage the service this year. The service was handled by Russ Hudson and Kim McKim last year after the Claypool-Van Atta druggists removed their contract station.

This was decided at the first meeting of the year for the board whose present members are Reed Gurney, Jack Pennington, Mr. McLain, Professor Hollis, and Dean Gilbert. The two absentees, Og Young and Jim Thayer, are expected to arrive with the ROTC unit, so their positions are being held for them.

Byrne Takes Trip To Eastern Oregon

Dr. Charles D. Byrne, secretary of the state board of higher education, left early this week for eastern Oregon.

Byrne is making a comparison of the health services in western colleges and universities to those of Oregon State college and the University of Oregon. He is also carrying on a study of the gym suit service in the physical education departments.

Traveling Student Speech Group Scheduled for Organization

Organization of a student speakers' bureau, designed for those students who wish to speak on their favorite topics before audiences in western Oregon, has been planned this year by the University speech and dramatic arts division. The organization will be completed as soon as there are enough students to carry out the program, Professor W. A. Dahlberg, director of the bureau, said Wednesday.

"Many students come to the campus each year with a wealth of information and experience in special fields, such as art, music, business, sports, and are highly interested and anxious to speak on these subjects.

Special Interests

"To give these students an opportunity to speak and be heard in their fields of special interest and to give audiences a chance to profit by such a program is the reason for the speakers' bureau," Dahlberg said.

"The subjects will be as varied and as many as the speakers who sign up for the activity," he added.

When a request for a particular speaker's program is received, the student in question is provided with transportation, by bus or train, meals, and a hotel room.

Anyone who is interested is asked to contact Mr. Dahlberg in room 107 Friendly where arrangements will be made to schedule speaking dates.

Programs such as this have been in operation at many universities and colleges throughout the United States, Mr. Dahlberg said, and have done much to stimulate both student and public interest in effective speaking.

Sarah Webb's Address Tells WSSF Need For Funds

"It is hard for many of the students of America to realize that there are people actually dependent upon them for an education," Sarah Webb, national representative of the World Student Service fund, told the second all-campus assembly of the year, held yesterday. "The only means by which intellectual relief can be given them is through the WSSF," she added.

The assembly, marked the official opening of the World Student Service fund drive here on the campus. Nancy Ames, ASUO president, introduced the speaker.

Art League Holds GI Open House

The allied art league is again inviting all soldier students interested in art to take advantage of the school's facilities on Saturday and Sunday, Edith Onthank, head of the league, announced. The art building will be open Saturday from 12 to 11 p.m. and Sunday from 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. Professors and students will be available to give aid and criticism. There will be supplies for drawing, painting and water coloring, and a group of three or more may arrange for work in ceramics or sculpture. Locker space is offered and the store-room will be open after 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

The league has already scheduled two successful meetings of soldiers who are anxious to continue their art work while in the army, and it is hoped that an even larger number of uniformed artists will attend the meeting this weekend, Miss Onthank said.

Miss Webb, who is an active worker in national religious and philosophic movements, described the deplorable conditions of education in China today. "Only one out of every thousand manages to gain an adequate education and the only places where the Chinese student is able to read and study are the foreign centers in the different cities," she stated. These are founded and maintained by student donations which are needed now more than ever.

She also mentioned that the Greek students, the majority of whom suffer from tuberculosis, are able to survive only through the funds cabled them by the fund association.

She quoted a prisoner war commander who wrote to her as follows: "We can feed our men and we can clothe them, but we cannot keep them from going insane," and the intellectual relief which the WSSF provides is for that purpose.

Dime Diggers Donate Dough

Better known as "dime-digging dinners," the weekly war stamp drive in civilian living organizations has resulted in a novel type dinner entertainment and definite aid to the United States treasury, reports from various houses indicate.

The idea is that each member of living organizations participating in the plan contribute ten cents for a war stamp before being admitted to dinner one night each week.

"In this way more war stamps are bought, and they are bought regularly," says Beverly Padgham, chairman of the drive.

Prizes awarded at dinners were won by Bette Davis of Alpha Delta Pi, Esther Paronen at Highland house, and Joan Dolph at the Chi Omega house. Delta Delta Delta house has had two drives, with Barbara Taylor and Signe Eklund winning the prizes. Peggy Klepper received the prize at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house and Tinki Paladini at Alpha Chi Omega.

Save Yellow Tickets, Co-op Refunds Money

Army students were reminded yesterday to save their Co-op receipts as they will receive the usual refund at the end of the year, Polly Gordon, Co-op board chairman, stressed.

The refund is usually given in May and amounts to approximately 5 per cent.

Dream Girl Field Cut

Final plans have been made for the selection of Oregon's Dream Girl, Gerd Hansen, chairman of Coed Capers, said Wednesday. A committee composed of three Associated Women Student council members, one soldier student, a civilian man, and Miss Hansen will select six finalists from the field of freshman girl candidates.

Pictures of the finalists will be placed at the entrance of Gerlinger hall, site of Capers, on the night of the frolic. Under each picture will be a box, in which the audience will drop their tickets as votes for the candidate they think would be the best pin-up girl. Each ticket entitles the holder to one vote.

Miss Hansen also announced the appointment of Barbara McClung, Sue Sawyer, and Marty Beard as authors of the activities skit.

White Game Still on Fire

By LOREN SHANK

The football game for Saturday is still in the fire although the game previously scheduled for this Saturday with Camp White is not certain. Because of Joe Louis' appearance there Saturday the officials are not certain if the squad will be able to appear here for the game. The final decision is expected sometime today.

Lt. Davis hopes, if the Camp White team is unable to be here, to have a game with some other squad. Final information will appear in tomorrow's Emerald. This will be the third game for the ASTU squad and promises to be an exciting game. The first was dropped to the "Navy Boys," 26 to 6. The second game was a little different with the ASTU's ahead, 33 to 12.

William Sands left the hospital yesterday but will be unable to play in Saturday's contest. "Big" Chuck Norris is still confined to the hospital but hopes to be out in time for the next game. Bob Pinnick is still out with a bad ankle and it is doubtful if he will be able to play this Saturday.

ISA Senate Holds Meeting at 4 p.m.

Members of the ISA Senate will meet today at 4 p.m. in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall to nominate candidates for president of the Senate and freshman class representative on the executive cabinet, Doris Jones, ISA president, announced Wednesday.

Nomination by petition may be made until Saturday noon. Petitions should be given to any member of the executive cabinet, Miss Jones said.

Elections will be held Tuesday, November 2, in the men's lounge. All independent students are eligible to vote.

The office of the president of the Senate is open due to the resignation of Charles Politz.

Bi-Weekly Scrap Drives Begins Friday

Collection of tin cans for the bi-weekly scrap drives will begin Friday afternoon, according to Marge Curtis and Bibbits Strong, co-chairman of the salvage committee of the campus war board.

Beginning at 2 p.m. Friday tin cans from all living organizations will be picked up by a University truck. Preparation of cans should include washing, flattening, and removing labels. They should be placed in substantial boxes on the front porches of the living organizations by 1 o'clock, Miss Curtis said.

The results of the drive will be published in the Emerald after collections. All scrap received will be held on the campus at present. Plans are being made to enlist the aid of Eugene school children in gathering as much scrap as possible. The total amount will be sent to Portland later, Miss Curtis said.

The metal which is salvaged from these tin cans will be used in processing foods, building tanks, airplanes, guns, munitions, and ships, Miss Curtis added.

Dr. W.M. VanKirk Honors Campus At Student Meet

Dr. Walter M. VanKirk, director of the Christian Mission of World Order, will speak on "How to assure a just and durable peace" at an assembly given in the music building, Monday, November 1, at 4 p.m., according to an announcement by Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel.

Dr. Van Kirk is secretary of the Department of International Justice and Goodwill of the Federal Council of Churches in America. He conducts a radio program over the national hook-up of NBC called "Religion in the News."

The Christian Mission of World Order is sponsoring his tour, along with two other important leaders in the religious field. The afternoon assembly on the campus has been arranged especially for students and faculty members at the University.

Lombardy Lodge Tea Set For Housemothers

Starting off the social year, Lombardy lodge will honor new housemothers to the campus, house presidents, Dean Schwerling, Mrs. Alice Macduff, and Mrs. Turnipseed, director of dormitories, at a formal reception this evening from 8 to 10.

Guests of honor will be Mrs. Nancy Tandy, Lombardy lodge, Mrs. Day, Laurel lodge, and Mrs. Hagedorn, Casa Blanca lodge. All girls from these three houses and all housemothers and house presidents, both independent and Greek, are invited.

Girls at Lombardy will receive and serve in formals, and the guests of honor will wear formals. Short silks will be in order for all other guests.
