

Tag Wearers to Raise $1,000

LIKE SUPERMAN . . .

. . . Coed Caper committee women really go to work to show how women will reverse the universe. Gerd Hansen, general chairman; Mary McCandless, co-ticket chairman; and Shirley Huntington and Janet Ross, mistresses of ceremony, are working on the job.

Oregon Men Form New Science Society

Either the juvenile delinquency problem in Oregon or the problem of post-war collaboration with Russia will be the topic for discussion by the University symposium this year, Robert D. Clark, director of the group, announced recently.

Members of the discussion group will decide on the subject at a meeting next Tuesday when a definite statement of the problems will be formulated.

Durable Peace Subject of Talk

"How to Secure a Just and Durable Peace" will be the topic of Dr. W. W. Van Kirk's address to the University students at an assembly Monday at 4 p.m. in the music building.

Dr. Van Kirk is on tour of the United States and Eugene is one of the four stops he will make in Oregon. His tour is being sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ.

A year ago the Federal Council instituted a commission to study the bases of a just and durable peace. Dr. Van Kirk directed the organization of the commission and is now acting as its secretary.

Toured England

He has made many lecture tours to England and this summer was there at the invitation of the Archbishop of Canterbury. While in England Dr. Van Kirk conferred with leaders of the British churches, Anglican and Free Church; he attended a two-day conference at Oxford, chaired by the Archbishop of Canterbury, at which time there was an exchange of views regarding the position of the churches of the

Annual Press Confab Listed As War Casualty

By JEAN LAWRENCE

War conditions have forced abandonment for this year of the annual University of Oregon high school press conference, Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, announced Thursday.

Difficult traveling conditions, crowded housing resulting from army students' use of dormitories and some fraternity buildings, and food rationing have made this action necessary.

Contests Continue

In answer to inquiries from various parts of the state Dean Allen has suggested continuance of the regular annual high school newspaper contests which have been an integral part of the conference. If his suggestion is acted upon the contest would be held later in the year in order to get judgments on papers and staffs of this school year.

Last year's conference held October 24 and 25, was attended by approximately 260 representatives from 49 state high schools.

Franklin Post Won

The Franklin High Post, Franklin high school in Portland, won the Arnold Bennett Hall sweepstakes cup for the best paper in the state.

Other winners were the High-O-

University Must Hit Quota by Tuesday

Oregon must reach her $1000 quota for the World Student Service Fund by next Tuesday, it was announced today by Dorothy Rogers, chairman.

Representatives have been appointed for each living organization and donations will be collected by them. Each person contributing more than ten cents to the drive will be given a tag to wear on his coat.

Scrap Drive Commences

Today marks the beginning of the year around scrap drives to be held on the campus, according to Marge Curtis and Bibbitts Strong, co-chairman of the drive.

The cans washed, smashed and with the labels removed, should be placed on the front porches of the living organizations by 1 p.m. A University truck, Miss Curtis said, will collect the cans and they will be sent to Portland later. The results of the drive including the totals of each house will be published in the Emerald.

The metals taken from these cans will be used in making weapons for the armed forces. Every living organization is expected to contribute its tin cans for the drive, Miss Curtis said.

Last year scrap collections were held often during winter and spring term. During fall term a general scrap drive and parade were combined for an all-campus activity.

A booth will be set up in front of the Side to collect additional contributions. The booth will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. Monday.

Last year Oregon contributed $350 to the drive which was one of the lowest amounts raised on any campus in the Northwest.

The money is being raised to help students all over the world who are prisoners of war interned, refugees or dispossessed.

Exec Comm Post Open for Senior

A vacancy on the executive council resulting from the withdrawal of a senior representative will be filled for the first time by campus-wide nominations instead of the usual selection by the council, Nancy Ames, ASUO president, announced Thursday.

The position of senior representative is open as Kay Jenkins was ruled ineligible. Any senior may be suggested for the office. A record of activities along with an eligibility statement from the dean of men or women's office is required. Suggestions should be turned in to Jean Page by Tuesday, November 2.

The only name submitted so far is that of Charline Pelly. Final selection from nominations received will be made by the executive council on Thursday.
