

Van Kirk Demands Economic Justice in Post-War Planning

By COURTNEY SWANDER

The renunciation of isolationism and the establishment of economic justice among the nations of the world were given as prerequisites of a durable peace by Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk at the assembly Monday afternoon.

Dr. Van Kirk's appearance in Eugene was part of a national tour sponsored by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America. He is chairman of its commission for international justice and good will and for several years has conducted the "Religions in the News" program over stations of the National Broadcasting company.

Having participated in world peace movements for twenty years and completed a number of conferences with British churchmen this summer, Dr. Van Kirk came well prepared to express the voice of the church in making the next peace lasting.

Church Renders Service

The church is rendering a spiritual service to the country, Dr. Van Kirk said. Through it there is an interchange of relationship—even between nations at war. Such a service is invaluable in its possibilities for keeping the peace.

The speaker touched upon his many efforts and those of the church in general toward "out-lawing" war and limiting armaments, but he said that their effect did not stabilize peace.

"Resolutions against war and conferences on reducing armaments are fine as far as they go," Dr. Van Kirk asserted, "but they do not touch the basic cause of war.

"One of the most important factors in making the next peace permanent is the establishment of economic justice in the world community," he stated, "but too few people have an accurate realization of the fact."

Economic Justice Explained

By economic justice he explained that he meant that exploitation of natural resources for the development of the regions where they are found and not for the gaining or enlarging of empire.

Dr. Van Kirk pointed to the Atlantic charter as an example of economic justice and to the resolution on American post-war cooperation which is now before the senate. Of the latter he predicted that its enactment or defeat would play a large part in determining the future of world peace.

Former Duck Trains In Pre-Flight School

Arthur A. Eddy, who attended the University fall and winter terms of '42 and '43, is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the army air force pre-flight school for pilots at Maxwell field, Alabama.

At Maxwell field Eddy will receive nine weeks of intensive military, physical, and academic training preparatory to beginning actual flight instruction at one of the primary flying schools in the army air forces eastern flying training command.

UO Faculty Members Boost Service Fund

Beginning today the faculty will be contacted for their contributions to the World Student Service fund. Each member of the faculty committee is assigned to one of the departments and will contact all the teachers in that department, Shirley Neal, head of the committee, said. The deadline has been set at November 9.

Members of the committee include: Joann Holstad, Martha Herald, Shirley Huntington, Betty Ann White, Julie Carpenter, Marion Olson, Beryl Robertson, Marianne Blenkinsop, Joan Meed, Nancy Boles, Ann Chapman, Barbara Hawkins, and Beverly Jacob.

Volleyball Schedule Set for This Week

Future intramural volleyball games scheduled for five o'clock in Gerlinger are as follows: Tuesday, November 2, Alpha Gamma vs. Alpha Chi Omega; University No. 1 team vs. AOPi; Highland vs. Delta Gamma. Wednesday, November 3, Hillcrest vs. Pi Beta Phi; Hilyard vs. Birch; Hawthorne vs. Rebec. Thursday, November 4, University No. 2 team vs. Kappas; Alder vs. Alpha Gamma; Highland vs. Sigma Kappa.

'Hot' Volleyball Marks Feminine Intramurals

Thetas and Orides played one of the most exciting and peppy volleyball games of the tournament Monday afternoon. The Thetas nosed out Orides by three points giving them the hard-earned score of 33 to 30.

There were no weak spots in their team and their well-balanced team work was especially good in the second line where Dotty Payne and Martha Hoch played. Mickey Riley boosted the score with her steady playing and accurate spiking. Orides had a team hard to beat with the cool playing of Carol Carter and the expert spiking of their captain, Pete Lawson.

Rebec Wins

Rebec house won from Sigma Kappa, 44 to 14. Rebec's team was in there all the time proving that team work will win the game. Jean Jones kept the ball in fast play and Grace Edwards sent it across the net with zip and zest.

At the same time those games were going on, the Kappas were chalking up a score of 34 to Lombardy's score of 28. Lois Twining was doing a neat job of setting them up for the Kappas and was on her toes all the time. Mercedes Foley did her share of the good playing on the Kappa team.

Oregana Pix Schedule Tuesday:

Lombardy lodge

Steiwer hall

Wednesday:

Hilyard house

Met Star Sings Here Saturday

Marjorie Lawrence, Metropolitan soprano, will be the first of the concert attractions to appear on the campus this year, according to Horace Robinson, acting director of educational activities. Miss Lawrence will sing in McArthur court Saturday night.

Although she was the victim of an attack of paralysis in 1941, she has been able to overcome this handicap. Her voice has retained all of its glow and power despite the fact that she must sing from a sitting position.

Miss Lawrence attributes the remarkable physical endurance which made it possible for her to continue her career to her childhood on an Australian ranch.

Master Dancers Hold Tryouts Wednesday

Master Dance tryouts will be held Wednesday evening at 8:15 in Gerlinger hall, Barbara Scott, president of the organization, announced today.

Miss Scott stated that both men and women are eligible, the only requirement being one term of previous dance study. The group is preparing a recital for Christmas.

The purpose of Master Dance is to promote modern dance participation and appreciation among University students.

Last year Master Dance was active in the school's entertainment and participated in Odeon, a program which presented the University's best in art of all kinds.

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

City Desk Staff:

- Carol Cook, city editor
- Jane Gordon
- Louise Robson
- Lillie Kiste
- Betty Ingebritson
- Ruth Bley
- Betty Layman
- Elizabeth Haugen

Night Staff:

- Norris Yates, night editor
- Maryann Howard
- Betty French

He Said the ROTCs Would Be Home. Now he says ...

Give the other boys as much as you can of Oregon . . . send them the Emerald.

Only $1.00 for remainder of term
$3.00 for entire year

Send name, address, and remit at once to Educational Activities Office University of Oregon

OREGON  EMERALD

give yourself a glamorous
PERMANENT WAVE

RIGHT IN YOUR OWN HOME for Only...

Complete with 50 curlers. Nothing else to buy.

59¢

"CHIC" PERMANENT WAVE HOME KIT requires no heat, no electricity, no machines or dryers. No experience needed. Easy, safe to use. For women and children.

TIFFANY-DAVIS, DRUGS

SATISFACTION OR MONEY BACK