

Phi Theta Rally Held in 'Heaven'

Following the rally squad across the campus in the first snowball rally of the year, students gathered at Gerlinger hall to see what campus traditions amount to, according to the Phi Theta Upsilon assembly which was officially known as "Out of This World."

Scene of the play was heaven, with Oregon coeds invading the place to modernize it with Oregon traditions. Featured also in the program was the heavenly trio of Phi Thetas Flora Kibler, Ruth Van Buskirk, and Margery Pengra.

Mistress of ceremonies was the junior holiday's president, Andrew Holliday. She introduced Sue Sawyer, president of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and Mary McCandless, vice president of Kwama, sophomore women's honorary.

Pre-Mets Renew

University representatives meeting with the army officers were Dr. Earl M. Pallett, executive secretary; C. D. Byrne, secretary of the state board of higher education; J. O. Lindstrom, business manager; H. A. Bork, comptroller, and Dr. Will V. Norris, academic director.

Major W. S. Averill, University commandant, and Captain C. D. Cable also took part in the negotiations.

Captain Cable stated that the readjustment of the contract was a routine matter, taking place each semester to work out the problems which have come up.

Instructors Needed At Red Cross Center

Instructors are urgently needed for the Red Cross surgical dressing center, Carol Wicke, head of the Red Cross committee, said Friday. At the present time there are only four qualified instructors.

Any girl who knows she has earned at least 10 hours in folding bandages and would like to become an instructor can do so by going to the Red Cross room on the third floor of Gerlinger Saturday morning from 9 to 12, Miss Wicke said.

The total output of bandages to date is 325. Although as yet no monthly quota has been set, last year it was 8,000. Miss Wicke, stressing the vital need of the bandages, said that "Over 100 bandages are used in one operation."

Westminster to Present 'Conchies' in Discussion

"C.O. and G.I. Talk Things Over," will be the subject of this week's regular Sunday night discussion held at 6:30 at Westminster house.

Airing the opinions that placed them in active duty and in the conscientious objector's camp will be Clarence Angel, from the Elkton civilian public service camp, and Burton Moore, engineer.
