

Coed Capers' Sales Sliding

Ticket sales for Coed Capers have not been as big as was expected, Mary McCandless, chairman of ticket sales, announced after first receipts were turned in. Girls going home for the weekend, since it is the last open weekend before exams, was her explanation for the small number. Capers directors are planning on a large turnout of girls, however.

From sales in houses on the campus, $47 was turned in yesterday. All money must be in by Thursday night, Miss McCandless said. It will be possible to buy tickets Friday at the door, but all girls are urged to buy them from their house representatives so that the houses will receive credit for them.

Approximately $20 has been turned in from sales to alums and organizations in town.

Minister Talks On Disloyal Japanese Wednesday, p. m.

"Loyal and Disloyal Japanese" will be the topic which the Rev. Mr. Wesley Nicholson, of the First Congregational church, will discuss at the joint AAUW and YWCA-sponsored program Wednesday afternoon at 4. Mr. Nicholson was a member of the Pasadena Civilian Defense committee at the time the American Japanese were transferred to campus, and he is a member of the national committee of the Congregational church on the relocation of the Japanese.

Carolyn Hines of the AAUW and Betty Butler of the YWCA are in charge of the program.

A surprise under a cover dish awaits all who come for the Supper club meeting at 5:30 Wednesday. Pat McFadden of the Supper club and Leslie Brockelton of the World Fellowship committee will plan the evening. Those coming to the forum are invited to stay for supper, and all faculty members are also welcome, advised Mrs. E. E. DeCou, executive secretary.

Cabinet members of the YWCA will meet this afternoon at 4 in the bungalow.

Soldiers-Students Hear Post-War Discussion

Dr. Lawrence Bee, assistant professor of sociology, was the guest speaker at the YMCA breakfast given for the soldier students at the "Y" bungalow Sunday.

Dr. Bee stressed the fact that people must prepare themselves for a post-war adjustment, stating that "twentieth century freedom has run its course; we shall be confronted with the necessity of building a mature liberalism to be a part of a larger institutional life and world community."

Following Dr. Bee's talk a forum was held by Robert E. Cushman, head of the religion department. Soldiers participating in the discussion suggested ideas and plans in answer to the question, "What Can the 'Y' offer the soldier?" A Friday night mixer and Sunday afternoon forums were the preference of the majority with mention being made of Christmas hospitality for those who will be on the campus over the Christmas holidays.

At the next meeting of the advisory board, Wednesday at 4:30, the possibility of carrying out the plans will be discussed and definite plans will be decided upon.

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

VOLUME XLV

NUMBER 33

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1943

Methodist War-Time Meet Planned Here

Planned around the theme, "To Serve the Present Age," the state conference of the Methodist Student movement will be held at the First Methodist church November 19, 20, and 21.

The general session will begin at 4 Saturday afternoon, with the leadership training session opening at 6:30 Friday night. The program has been arranged so that military personnel may join the conference as soon as possible on Saturday. Discussion groups will attempt to explore technique, methods and skills in worship, world mindedness, and recreation, as they relate to the war time campus.

Five Confess Part In Mutilation of Memorial Union

Five boys voluntarily went to the dean of men's office Monday morning and confessed they had painted the green and yellow "O's" on the Oregon State college memorial union building.

This action climaxed a week of raids and counter-raids begun when University students stole the Oregon State beaver in broad daylight and brought it to the Oregon campus. The OSC students retaliated by making a trip to Eugene Wednesday night with the primary purpose of recovering the beaver and as a sideline planned to paint the "O" on Skinner's butte a brilliant orange. Although they were unable to carry out either plan that night, the "O" has mysteriously changed colors and is now orange.

Saturday morning found green and yellow "O's" painted on the memorial union at OSC.

At the latest reports, a University truck arrived at Casablanca lodge and removed the travel-weary Beaver. Final destination of the mascot is the OSC campus, transported there by the University truck.

Museum Gets Burmese Items

Newest addition to the museum of natural history is the E. H. East, M.D., memorial collection from the primitive Chin hill tribes of northwestern Burma. It was given by Alan East, director of psychiatric social work at the University of Oregon medical school, Dr. L. S. Cressman, director of the museum of natural history, announced.

The gift is from the estate of Mr. East's mother, who wanted the collection to be left to the University, Dr. Cressman said. The materials were collected from 1900 to 1912 by Mr. East's father, Dr. E. H. East, medical missionary among these people.

The collection consists of costumes, mainly native clothes woven on primitive instruments but of very fine weave, a large rain hat, and a rain cape made of wide strips of a jungle plant. Native weapons, a headhunter's knife and a skull, undoubtedly a headhunter's trophy, samples of agricultural implements, musical instruments of bamboo and wood, and quite a number of miscellaneous specimens.

Solution

We could settle all this trouble now, And the campus would remain tame, If Oregon and OSC's Colors were the same.

—W.R.L.

Students Head Groups

Stella Spears of Oregon State college, Leslie Brockelbank, junior in liberal arts at the University, and Paul Jaquith of Willamette university will lead the discussion groups.

"Summer Youth Projects" will be the theme of the Saturday noon luncheon, and the "World Mindedness" banquet is scheduled for that evening.

Speaker from Tennessee

Dr. James Chubb of Nashville, Tennessee, will be the guest speaker at the conference. Dr. L. O. Griffith, director of Wesley foundation in Eugene, and Dr. Jesse Bunch, director of Wesley foundation in Corvallis, will lead

(Please turn to page two)

Odeon to Feature Drama, Music, Art

Odeon, an all-campus showing of creative endeavors in the fields of music, art, drama, letters, and designing, is being organized this year, according to W. A. Dahlberg, director of speech and dramatic arts and head of the program last year.

All members of the faculty and students who are interested in any of the fields of art should attend a meeting Friday at 5 p.m. in room 107 of Friendly hall at which time plans for presenting Odeon again this year will be discussed.

Odeon made its first appearance on the campus last year. The purpose of the program was to show the reason for the existence of a liberal arts college.

Farce Opens Theater Season; Cast Features Student Artists

The University theater season will open November 26 with the production "Out of the Frying Pan," a farce by Francis Swann.

Horace W. Robinson, acting head of University drama department, is directing the play which concerns a group of stage-struck young people trying to get a break in show business. They rent an apartment directly above that of the producer whom they are trying to impress. The plot employs an hilarious play-within-a-play construction.

The cast includes Gordon Halstad, Portland, in the part of George Bodell; Ed Mickel, Eugene, as Norman Reese; Dorothy Rosenberg, Eugene, Mrs. Garnet; Bob Foreman, Portland, Tony Dennison; Jean McClanathan, Silverton, Muriel Foster; Dorothy Weygant, Portland, Kate Ault; Sue Welch, Portland, Marge Benson; Pat McCormack, Banks; Dottie Coburn; and Dr. Robert Horn, associate professor of English, as Mr. Coburn.

Former Star

Dorothy Weygant was prominent in the spring term play, "My Sister Eileen," and Dr. Horn has done work with the Very Little theater. Katherine Korn, assisting Mr. Robinson with the direction, has also played in Very Little theater productions and has been active in campus dramatics. The play, "Out of the Frying Pan," has been filmed under the title, "Young and Willing," and recently ran on Broadway.

Production will be on two weekends, "November 26, 27 and December 3, 4. Tickets will be available by Monday, November 22 at 104 Johnson hall from 10 to 12, and from 1 to 5 p.m.

DR. DONALD ERB . . .

. . . University president, who was back in his office Monday after a trip east during which he attended a meeting of the National Association of State Universities in Chicago; he also went to New York to attend various meetings and conventions with foundation heads on University business, and attended a meeting of the association of American Medical colleges in Cleveland.

Red Cross Needs More Leaders

Oregon girls now have an opportunity to become instructors in Red Cross bandage rolling, according to Carol Wickie, head of the Red Cross committee. To qualify as an instructor, a girl with ten hours of bandage rolling may add five more hours this term and take a refresher course. If a girl has no hours to her credit she may earn 15 hours this term and take the refresher course.

Instructors must wear a white uniform or a white blouse and skirt. Regular workers are required to wear cotton dresses and bandanas of any color. Anyone interested may become an instructor and there is no limit to the number of instructors from a single house, Miss Wickie stated.

Located on the third floor of Gerlinger, the Red Cross is open from 3 to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays

(Please turn to page four)

Delts Ahead In Book Drive

With approximately 1900 books collected in the book drive, Mary Bush, chairman of the war board sponsored drive, said Monday that she was very pleased with the way the living organizations on the campus had backed the drive.

The four houses that came out on top in the drive were: Delta Delta Delta, 1100 Alpha Phi, 650 Alpha Delta Pi, 70 Pi Beta Phi, 45

Any houses that have not turned in their contributions should take them to the war board office in the Igloo by Wednesday noon, Miss Bush said. The books, collected in an all-campus drive lasting from Monday through Saturday noon of last week, will be taken to Camp Adair Wednesday afternoon, Miss Bush stated.

Onthank Cites Personnel Need

The demand for graduates trained as personnel technicians and administrators greatly exceeds the supply, Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel, announced recently.

As an example, he cited the recent appointment of Spencer Carlson, Oregon graduate of 1935, as personnel manager of the Seattle office of Pan-American airways. Carlson left a good position in personnel work for the government to take this job. He will have charge of the classification of employees in this rapidly expanding division of Pan-American airways, as well as handling of tests and interviews of the new applicants for positions and other work normally done in a personnel office.

War Created

The war has created an unprecedented demand for personnel workers, and one of the primary requirements for a quick and victorious conclusion of the war is the best possible distribution of manpower, Onthank said. For this purpose, the personnel worker is a valuable asset.

Chances for rapid advancement for young men and women of ability and adequate training are excellent, he said. For those who make good, there will be no lack of opportunities for permanent post-war professional careers.

Personnel workers are employed in a wide variety of practical situations. No single program can possibly prepare students for all of them. According to Onthank, the University has organized several flexible programs, so that the student may plan a pattern of training suited to the particular type of work in which he is interested.

(Please turn to page two)

Sports Editor for Oregana Appointed

Evans Cantrell, freshman in liberal arts, has been appointed sports editor of the 1943-44 Oregana, according to Helen Johnson, editor.

Cantrell came to the campus from Portland, where he was sports editor for The Washingtonian, Washington high school paper. At the present he is collecting data on the major athletic activities last spring, and the rest of his job will be to compile news and pictures of the gridiron and casaba events of this fall and winter.