Overseas Ducks To Get Newsletter

A new publication, University of Oregon Overseas Newsletter, has recently been issued by the Alumni association in collaboration with the athletic board. The gathering of information, and handling of the issues is being done through the alumni office on the campus, with financial backing from the athletic board.

The Newsletter is to be sent to all alums and former students of the University who are overseas and is a condensation of the information offered in the alumni magazine, Old Oregon. Issues will be mailed only to those whose overseas addresses are registered in the alumni files, and anyone wishing to have copies sent to men in the armed forces should report their addresses to the office.

The first publication is entitled "Hello Webfoots!" and carries a cartoon by Charles Politz as its heading. It includes a letter of greeting to all alumni overseas from President Erb, and a brief survey of campus news and political affairs, the athletic situation, and a summary of the fighting alums' records.

The Newsletter will be issued approximately three times during the school year.

UO Symphony Director Publishes Violin Texts

Rex Underwood, professor of music and director of the University symphony, is the author of two new texts for students of violin.

The text books are titled "Rhythm Themes" and "Bow Art," and are detailed studies of new and unique methods of approach to the difficult techniques of the stringed instruments. Their importance is shown in the fact that they were published this year when most publications of this nature have been postponed due to the paper shortage.

Army Dramatists to Meet Tonight in Studio

Soldier students interested in drama will meet Tuesday night at 9:30 in the drama studio, Horace W. Robinson, acting head of the drama, announced.

All those who have attended the meetings before and anyone else interested are invited to attend, Mr. Robinson said.

Women students outnumber the men at the University of Texas this fall.
