Oregon's Webfoots are in Seattle today where they will take on the University of Washington Huskies. It's the opening of the northern division hoop struggle between five of the coast's best casaba-hoisting clubs.

Traveling with Coach Howard Hobson will be a party of ten players and a manager. This group will attempt to upset the heavily-favored Huskies. The men making the trip are: George Bray, Bob Caviness, Dick Humphreys, Wally Borrevik, Bob Hamilton, Bill Phillips, Ernie Danner, Norman Henwood, Edwin Allen, Marion Huff, and manager Nick Weddle. The probable starting lineup will be Caviness and Humphreys at the forward positions, Bray at center, and Hamilton and Phillips as guards.

Included in the traveling team is Wally Borrevik, one of last year's lettermen; and Ernie Danner, the newcomer from Eugene high. As these men have not completely rounded into condition, they will probably see only limited action.

Coach Hobson will run the team through a light work-out at the University pavilion to prepare them for the Friday and Saturday night games.

When the outcomes of the games are known, it will not be difficult to determine the caliber of this year's team. The Ducks are entering the game on the lower end of the odds. This is because they will be facing a team composed entirely of veteran players of college ball. A small matter like being considered to have nothing more than an outside chance to win will not daunt the spirits of the fiery squad gathered together this year to fight for the honor of Oregon. After all it was the Webfoots that gave such teams as the Albina Hellshippers a tough time in winning.

After the Saturday game it's back to the home grounds to lie in wait, and prepare a reception for the Oregon State Beavers, January 15.

Technical Sergeant David J. Sanderson, former Oregon student, has been promoted from staff sergeant at his marine corps post "somewhere in the South Pacific." He is a clerk in the quartermaster office of a marine aircraft unit there.

Private Doris A. Shoemaker, former University student, is one of the marine corps women learning radio operation at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio.

During the 19 weeks of training her studies include transmitting and receiving radio messages, repair and maintenance of standard radio equipment. Upon completion of the course she will be assigned to a marine base as a qualified radio operator.

While a student at Oregon, Private Shoemaker was affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi.

Former totals for this term were topped Thursday when registration reached 1607. This compares favorably with Fall term final registration which was 1738, Clifford L. Constance, assistant registrar said.

Commenting on the total, he said that this is the first time for a good many years that Winter term has held up so well in comparison with Fall term.

"It looks as if we have reached the bottom of the drop," he remarked, "and indications are that we will improve from now on."

Four students will be presented in a recital of piano music by Mrs. Aurora Underwood, associate professor of music, Tuesday, January 11. The students are as follows: Betty Jones, junior in architecture and allied arts; Emily Rhodes, freshman in music; Elizabeth Schafers, junior in music; and Virginia Lindley, junior at Eugene high school.

The recital will start at 8 p. m. in the music auditorium.

His wife is the former Joyce Freed, also a former student at the University.

Ex-Shack Rat Pays Visit to Alma Mater

Private Rodney Swanson, former sophomore in journalism at the University, dropped in for a short visit yesterday with his old friends at the "shack". He is in ASTP training at the University of Idaho. He remarked that, "Out of three colleges which I've now attended—Idaho, Oregon, and Oregon State, where I matriculated as a freshman, I can fairly say that Oregon has them all beat a mile."

Swanson is home on a furlough between terms. He returns to Idaho day after tomorrow.

Joe Coenenberg Starts Air Training

Joe Coenenberg, student of the University in 1942-43, is enrolled as an aviation cadet in the army air force pre-flight school for pilots at Maxwell Field, Alabama.

He will receive nine weeks of intensive military, physical and academic training preparatory to beginning actual flight instruction at a primary flying school.

Coenenberg played on the freshman basketball team while at the University and was a member of Canard club.

Half a Dime Promises

their doors to the masculine invaders, and from then on, may be the best house win. Five cents is charged for three dances in each house, and the womens house with the most money at the end of the evening is considered the winner.

The men, too, have a contest. The men's house or unit which has the most participants in this affair will receive a prize. The idea is to visit as many houses and dance as many dances as possible in the two hours allotted. Co-chairmen Gloria Malloy and Jean Watson assure everyone that a good time will be had by all. Profits from the dance will go toward the AWS scholarship fund.

Committee chairmen have been named, and plans are now being laid to assure each house a fair chance in winning this year's prize for the most "customers".

Family of Prof Proven Old One

An article in the Geneva (New York) Daily Times describes the history of the family of Dr. Robert E. Cushman, professor of religion at the University. A copy of this article was sent to Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of liberal arts, by Dr. Paul Baldrige of Geneva.

Dr. Cushman is a direct descendant and namesake of Robert Cushman who was one of the pilgrims, chartered the Mayflower and preached the first sermon ever to be printed in America.

The article commemorates Robert Cushman and Thomas Cushman, Robert's son, who succeeded Elder Brewster as pastor of the colony.
