

From the Pulpit

Among various religious functions being held on the campus this weekend, are the vesper services to be held at 5 p. m. Sunday in the music auditorium. Under the direction of Helen Luvaas, the choir will have as guest soloist. Pvt. Lyle Larson, of the air corps, and Father E. S. Bartlam, of St. Mary's Episcopal church, who will lead the meditations.

Included in the program of the all girl choir, are "The Lord's Prayer" by Mallotte, "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn, and "Beautiful Savior" by Christiansen with Pvt. Larson singing the solo and Retta J. Rippey at the organ.

Sunday at St. Mary's Catholic church will be Holy Name Sunday. This monthly event has been changed from the third Sunday of the month to the second. Catholic trainees are invited to receive Holy Communion at the 9:30 a. m. mass to be followed by breakfast in St. Mary's cafeteria.

Westminster's Sunday morning discussion group, which meets at 9:45 a. m., will discuss "The Golden Rule In These Days". Sunday evening at 6:30, the forum will be led by Dr. Quirinus Breen, assistant professor of social science and history.

The YMCA hut is open to soldiers and their dates every evening until 10:30 p. m. The lounge has been newly furnished for dates, with radio, record player and a good floor, and is open to everyone.

Westminster and Wesley house invite students to open house on Saturday from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m. The Christian church has a regular Saturday night open house at the church annex for service men and college students. Of special interest at the Baptist church is a basketball game to be held in the church gym Saturday night between two young people's groups.

A special meeting for trainees of Jewish faith with Rabbi Charles Sydney of Hillel Foundation, Portland, is planned for Tuesday, January 11, at 6 p. m., in the recreation room of Unit I, John Straub hall.

Messages to Fathers

You know, Dad, since I have grown up a little bit, we haven't had much time or opportunity to go any place together. A long time ago, when I was a kid, we sometimes went to shows or trips and had a lot of fun . . . well, at least I did. But always YOU had to do the planning and I just sat back and enjoyed the fruits of your labors. Now I would like a chance to plan a good time for you.

It happens that the weekend of January 22-23 is the OREGON DAD'S DAY celebration, and I can't think of a better opportunity to "give Dad the works" on this occasion.

The University of Washington basketball game is being played here on that weekend too. You always liked college basketball, even though as a rule you enjoy it from a chair in front of the radio, so here is a swell chance to see real action in one of the top games of the season. The real joy comes with the noon luncheon honoring the Dads, and if I know my "Dads" it will be plenty worthwhile, both from the speech and humor angle. We will have a program with appropriate events, including an address by Ernest Haycox, famous Oregon author and alumnus who will speak on "Dads Belong to the Human Race."

Another interesting feature is the presentation of "Dark Victory". Although Bette Davis won't be here we'll guarantee another "star".

If these events don't keep you stepping all the time, the gang will have plenty more to keep you going. Dad, I honestly believe you can't figure out a more exciting or worthwhile weekend.

So let me know when you will arrive. Affectionately,
Signed by son or daughter

Teacher Named For Anthropology

Alfred Whiting of the University of Chicago will take over Dr. H. G. Barnett's classes in anthropology starting Monday, January 10, Dr. Cressman, head of the anthropology department, announced Thursday. The appointment is subject to confirmation of the state board of higher education.

He will teach introduction to cultural anthropology, The American Indian, and the peoples of the Pacific rim.

Mr. Whiting was formerly with the Museum of Northern Arizona at Flagstaff, Arizona, where he worked in ethnobotany. He had an article on the ethnobotany of the Hopi published in the museum of Northern Arizona bulletin. He is the author of other articles and reviews, and a member of the American anthropological association, the society for American archaeology, and the American society for the advancement of science. He has done extensive field work in the southwest and was a member of the University of Michigan botanical expedition to Mexico in 1934.

The professor received his bachelor of arts degree at the University of Vermont and his master of arts in botany at the University of Michigan. He wrote his thesis for the degree on the "Origin of Corn". He has completed all work for a doctor of philosophy degree, except to defend his thesis, which is on the Havasupai Ecology (Grand Canyon Indians).

He is married and has two children. He comes highly recommended for his scholarship, teaching ability and personality, Dr. Cressman said.

Art School Gets

(Continued from page one) The summer session is planned especially for art teachers and students from various art institutions on the Pacific coast with the purpose of promoting the teaching of art appreciation in the schools.

The University of Oregon is the center for this work in the West, and Harvard University is the Eastern center. This will be the 13th art summer session to be held at the University, 1941 being the only year since 1930 that the group has not met on this campus.

This is the 13th such award re-teaching of art appreciation in and he was posthumously awarded the army air force.

Library Concert To Play Requests

An all request program, featuring some of the most well known recorded classical music, will highlight the browsing room concert this week.

Included on the program are Tchaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite," Brahms' fourth symphony in E minor, and an aria, "A un dotto' della mia sorte," from Rossini's "Barber of Seville."

Hostesses will be Miss Genevieve Graves, Mrs. Phil Nordling, Miss Ella Carrick, Miss Mary Ellen Poland, and Miss Martha Foster.

The concert begins at 4 p. m.

Men CAN Get Dates For the Senior Ball

All men new on the campus who wish dates to the Senior Ball should contact social chairmen of women's living organizations as soon as possible.

Airplane Crash Kills Cadet Alfred Kelly '46

Funeral services were held Friday in Portland for Aviation Cadet Alfred P. Kelley, Jr., class of '46. Also on Friday his name was called with other members of his cadet graduating class at the Douglas army air field, Arizona, and he was posthumously awarded his pilot's wings and the commission of a second lieutenant in the army airforce.

Kelley was in his freshman year at the University of Oregon where he was majoring in law and was a member of Chi Psi fraternity, when he was called up for flight training in the army air forces in March of 1943.

At the time of his death, Kelley was in the twin-engine plane with his instructor. The ship was of three, each occupied by a cadet and an instructor, that were engaged in flight over mountainous country east of Douglas. All three ships crashed.
