

Duck Tracks

By BOB STILES

Next on the schedule for the Duck quintet is the game with Oregon State on the 15 and the games with Washington on the 21 and 22. The Webfoots are expected to more than hold their own on their home floor when they meet the Huskies. During the ten minutes the Huskies' civilian team was on the floor in the opening game of the season they were out-played and out-scored by the Oregon team.

Oregon State has a good team which rated second only to Washington at the Astoria Jamboree.

As there has always been a great deal of rivalry between the two teams, particular attention is being taken to have the Ducks in good condition for the game. Practice this week will be centered around Borrevik, Danner, and the rest of the squad that did not make the trip to Seattle. Borrevik and Danner will especially need the practice because before the Huskies series Borrevik had been out only one night and Danner had been out only four and therefore had not had the opportunity to learn the style of play used by the Ducks. With the further development of these men and a strong reserve squad it is expected that Oregon will be able to successfully meet anything that Oregon State has to offer.

The Beavers this year are a higher scoring team than the Beavers of the past. Even though they are mostly freshmen it can be assumed that Slats Gill will use a floating zone defense in an attempt to stop the rushing Webfoots.

Wendell Brooks Edits Army Field Magazine

Staff Sergeant Wendell Stanton Brooks, who attended the University in 1940-41, is editor of the Deming army air field magazine, GI.

A transfer from Montana State university, he came to Oregon when his father came to teach at the University. He majored in journalism and was a member of Chi Psi fraternity, and Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary. He also worked on the Emerald.

Former UO Student Killed In Air Mishap

Captain William L. McCurdy, a former Oregon student, was one of 13 army men killed in the crash of a four-motored bomber at McClellan Field, Sacramento, Sunday.

Captain McCurdy was commissioned a second lieutenant in the army air corps in June, 1940.

At the time of his death he was chief gunnery officer of the army serial gunners' school at Kingman, Arizona, to which he was en route when the bomber crashed.

Mrs. McDuff Learns She's Grandma Now

Mrs. Alice B. MacDuff, assistant dean of women, was figuratively passing around the cigars after receipt of the following telegram from Schenectady, New York: "Grandmother MacDuff, Gerlinger hall, UO, Ethel and Allen are doing swell seven pounds whoopee, Jack."

Jack MacDuff is an alumnus of Oregon and is now doing research work for General Electric in New York.

Marguerite Wittwer Named To War Board

Marguerite Wittwer, freshman in journalism, has been appointed co-chairman of the war board, Jean Fridger, chairman, announced Monday. She will replace Barbara Younger who resigned. Gloria Malloy, sophomore in liberal arts will assist Betty Lu Siegler in publicity.

Marjory Allingham, freshman in liberal arts, has been appointed to serve as secretary for the war board-sponsored bond drive to begin January 22.

Hoop Action

"CANDID" CAMERA SHOOTS SIX FOOT NEGATIVES!

THE world's largest camera, developed and used by Bell Telephone Laboratories, makes negatives up to 6 feet high at the rate of 20,000 a month. The crew works inside the camera which has a battery of lenses with focal lengths to 70 inches.

Photographs to full scale are made of valuable technical drawings that are costly to produce. These were formerly short-lived through the repeated heat and handling of blue-printing.

This safer, faster method helps speed the designing of new and special communications equipment for the armed forces—now the main job of Bell Laboratories' scientists.
