Bailey's Ork To Jive Again

Sunday afternoon Owen Bailey and all his army musical organization will present their third "Campus Serenade." As in the past, this week's performance will be staged in Gerlinger hall, and will begin at 3 p. m.

Two previous shows attracted large audiences of soldier and civilian students and Eugene townspeople. "Campus Serenades" are without admission charge. However, during this week's show soldiers will pass through the audience to collect voluntary contributions for "The March of Dimes". The proceeds will be turned over to the Infantile Paralysis fund.

"Fathah" Bailey and his soldier musicians will again headline the show, presenting many new numbers from their recently enlarged library. These include several specialty arrangements which will be announced in tomorrow's Emerald. Vocally the band will be augmented by Sue Welch, popular girl vocalist and George Barker, baritone, who appeared at the last Serenade. A third singer, Jimmie Kayes, will also appear as a guest on the program.

Sy Klempner whose comic capers have entertained previous Serenade audiences will be on hand to offer skits and wise cracks. As a special attraction he has offered to try a high dive into a sauce of salt water, but it is unlikely that the authorities will grant permission for such a feat.

Brass, Beer, And Blondes

By AL YOUNG

Especially Brass.—Last Saturday night took in an event known locally as the Nickel Hop. It was just like an amusement park, so many thinks to do that we didn't know which one to grab first. The thing we enjoyed most was the complete lack of commercialism, or taint of a taxi dance... yes, indeed.

Of course, we did have a little trouble at the Pi Phi house. We had to argue with the gals at the door for half an hour before we could get any change back from our $10 bill. Not that they were eager, but they did mention selling us 9451 minutes of dancing with... even Rodney bought five tickets. Reminds one of Roseland "... they dance, they sing, they..."

We understand the Pi Phi's won the contest.

We finally found our raincoats which had been neatly packed away in the attic and made our way through the door. When we rounded the corner our gaze fell upon a magnificent structure, built high upon an embankment. An engineer from Company B on his way out told us it was the Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Two young pledges, with next to nothing on, were standing on the porch beckoning us to enter. We did. Then a big frill, who looked like the bouncer, asked us if we would care to meet some of the girls. "Quite," we replied. In a fleeting moment of spatiality, we found ourselves in the arms of the Alpha Chi "dream girl" who immediately tried to psychoanalyze us by gazing into our big brown eyes.

We guess she did... a moment later we were dancing with a wicked little red head who asked us how many houses we had been to. We told her that we had been to one.

"Well, then," she replied, "... you'd better get going or you'll never make the rounds, will you?" We left...

Basketball.—We quote from the January 18 edition of the Oregon Daily Emerald: "Saturday night the Army-Webfoot five established themselves among the top teams on the coast..." Perhaps, but we think the air corps has a team which can give them a run for their money. In a practice game last week, the unofficial score was 50-10 in favor of the air corps. Of course, the ASTU's only had one of their first five men in the game; but, nevertheless, it indicates something of the relative strength of the two teams.

ASTU Team Slates Saturday Navycat Tilt

Saturday the GI Webfoots travel to Salem to meet the Willamette U. Navycats in one of two games on an Infantile Paralysis Benefit card. The ASTU cagers will have a chance to size up the Tillamook naval training station team which plays in the first game of the double-header. The ASTU team has an old score to settle with Willamette U. for the 25-6 trouncing ASTU got from the Navycats in football season.

Worth, Vanclor, Lober, Flynn and Kulesh, all members of the Army-Duck football eleven, will be out to avenge their defeat at the hands of the Navycats last fall.

There is a rumor floating around (please do not spread) that the ASTU team will play the air corps unit here... If so, this would set the stage for an all-Eugene championship game. The winner of the air corps vs. ASTU game could play the UO varsity. This is just a rumor, but it certainly leads to interesting speculations.
