

Weslyans Plan Sautrday Night Plantation Fete

With Westminster house people as special guests and the whole campus invited, Wesley foundation will present their Cotton Fling dance and party Saturday night immediately after the basketball game.

The dance has a plantation theme and the whole program will be given partly at Wesley house and partly at the YMCA hut, both on Kincaid street, just around the corner from the Side.

Evelyn Woodworth, freshman in architecture and allied arts, is general chairman of the program. Georgia Adams is in charge of refreshments, and Ken Hays will be master of ceremonies for the intermission program. Others on the program are Murry Adams, Harold Olson, Margarite Weigant, Roy Smith, and Wes Durland.

 strengthened by the addition of a new player, Roland Haug, a freshman from Lincoln high in Seattle. Although he just joined the squad he will be slated for a starting position tonight in the game. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 160 lbs.

The former squad was a capable one and with this addition to the starting lineup will present a formidable combination when they face the Webfoots. The starting lineup will be Haug and Malory as forwards, Mar and O'Neil at guard and Nichols as the pivot man.

 ular performance and will be no different from those scheduled for next week end, January 28, 29.

Last term the hilarious "Out of the Frying Pan" topped all box office receipts for the past 12 years, including last year's star show "My Sister Eileen". "Dark Victory" appears to be heading for even greater glory, in fulfilling the promises of the University theater to present a well-rounded year's program.

Reservations may be made by phoning 3300-extension 216, or tickets may be purchased at the box office in Johnson hall.

 orchestra with Sue Welch as vocalist will sing and the air corps military band will be on hand.

Soprano Margaret Zimmerman and tenor John Brenneman will sing. Lt. Col. Worth Wicker is scheduled to speak.

Beginning at 2 p. m., the program will be broadcast over KOAC and KORE. Main event of the program will be the introduction of the five finalists for the title of "Bonds Away Girl".

Saturday night at half time at the basketball game, the winner will be announced and introduced. Presentation of a bouquet of roses from Chase gardens and a bracelet from Skeie's jewelry store will be made. At the same time the name of the boy who bought the most bonds and will therefore rate a dinner-dancing date with the "Bonds Away Girl" at the Eugene hotel with all expenses paid, will be announced.

Escorting the five finalists will be George Stuart Douglas, Jr., air corps; Dick Maier, ROTC; Eugene L. Mulligan, engineers; Keith Van Dyck, SAE house and one member of the foreign area and language students to be announced later.

Nominations

In nominating Miss Buckingham, Nanette Meehan said: "She is able, conscientious; member of Phi Beta, music honorary; active in social affairs of the campus, chairman of entertainment for the ISA dance; freshman representative to the ISA council; she is very interested in the welfare of the freshman class."

Florence Hintzen was nominated for number two position by Sue Welch, who commented that Florence was active in high school, was co-chairman of the salvage committee.

Commenting on the turnout to the meeting, Harry Skerry, vice-president of ASUO and chairman of the meeting, said: "If you show spirit like this all the time you will really have one of the best classes ever to come out of this school."

Voters were urged to remember to mark ballots in order of preference; stating first, second, third choices. An "x" means nothing on a preferential ballot.
