$260,360 Title Won by Tri-Delt Portland Bond Rally Planned

Oregon's bond sales climbed to $260,360 Saturday noon at the close of the war board-sponsored campus drive and Irene Gresham, Delta Delta Delta, received the title of "Bonds Away Girl" after a close contest in which the top five girls changed from day to day.

The winner was picked from the five finalists by a committee composed of Anse Cornell, manager of athletics, L. K. Shumaker, director of lower division advisory group, Lt. Col. Worth Wicker, 70th division, Camp Adair and Glenn Hasselrooth, Register-Guard reporter. The stars and veterans who put on the bond battalion program Saturday afternoon were scheduled to serve as judges, but were unable to do so because they had to leave for a program in Salem.

According to a letter received by Jean Friderger, chairman of the campus war board, the treasury department is planning a program for Miss Gresham in Portland. The letter was signed by David Eccles, executive manager of the treasury department, Oregon war finance committee of Portland.

The other four finalists were: Jean Carlin, Alpha Omicron Pi, 48,025; Sue Stater, Delta Gamma, 31,875; Jean Villair, Alpha Delta Pi, 28,075; Betty Sprague, Kappa Alpha Theta. Miss Gresham received 29,800 votes. The finalists received corsages and Miss Gresham received a bouquet of roses from Chase gardens and a bracelet from Skeie's jewelry store.

Army Will Get Together for Military Dance

By SHAUN McDERMOTT

For the first time since the army initiated its various programs at the University of Oregon, the ASTU, including Engineers, Foreign Area and Language students, and ROTC, are combining efforts and are going to sponsor the formal Military Ball, which will be held February 5 in McArthur court with Owen Bailey and the GI orchestra supplying the music.

Since the days of early summer plans have been springing up among the soldiers and students to hold a formal which would compare with, if not surpass, the various dances of pre-war days. With the augmentation of the military personnel in the past few months hopes have turned into reality, and the various social committees, with Lt. Dwight H. Near as military social adviser, are now planning arrangements.

No Snow or Ice Contrary to '43

January 24, 1943: Maximum 26°; minimum 9°.

January 24, 1944: Maximum temperature 46°; minimum 37°.

Last year January 24 was the coldest day of 1943 according to the Eugene weather bureau records. On that day there was eight inches of snow in Eugene and the weather was reported as "snowing and light fog" with precipitation at .13.

Yesterday, from the meteorologist's point of view, there was a "showery condition," similar to the same day of 1942 when the maximum temperature was 54; minimum 40; and it snowed one minute and shone the next.

Dr. Morris Plans Confab

Tentative plans are being made for a Pacific coast conference of the Sarnegie-Endowed International Relations club on the University of Oregon campus, according to Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration. He stated that definite plans cannot be made until a letter of confirmation is received from the Institute.

The total victory league, recently organized on the campus under the sponsorship of the (Please turn to page four)

Love and Marriage Discussion Sunday

Sunday, January 30 is the date set for the annual Love and Marriage series on the campus when students and faculty members will have an opportunity to get together and discuss problems relating to love and marriage questions of all students.

The meeting will be at 2:30 in the afternoon. Dr. R. R. Huestis, professor of zoology, speaking on the biological angle, Dr. L. S. Bee, assistant professor of sociology, the psychological angle, and Dr. Wesley G. Nicholson, on the religious aspects, will lead the discussion.

Following this main assembly, individual meetings will be held in all the houses either Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday nights. These will be in the form of fire-side meetings and each house will have a choice of leaders for the discussion.

Some of the leaders will be Dr. R. E. Cushman, professor of religion; Mrs. E. E. DeCou, secretary of the YWCA; Mrs. Jim Bryant, director of Westminster house; Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel; Mrs. William Jones, wife of Professor William Jones, head of the political science department; Mrs. Carl Kossack,

Casaba Games Net Two Wins

Oregon basketball teams won two and lost one in games played over the weekend. The civilian Ducks lost their fourth conference game to Washington, 56 to 47 Saturday night, the ASTU quintet beat Willamette 44 to 39 Saturday night, and the air corps' "Mets" ran down Rubenstein's Oregonians to the tune of 52 to 36 Sunday afternoon.

The Washington-Oregon game was the tightest conference game played on the Igloo floor this season. Only six players from either side got in the game and five of these made 14 points or better—three from Washington and two from Oregon. Hamilton of Oregon held high scoring honors with 19 points. Also for Oregon was Phillips with 17. High for Washington were Mallory and Mar, both with 16. Also at the 14 mark was Nichols.

Half Lead

In the first half Oregon led all the way until just before the half ended, although by never more than 4 points. The second half saw Washington pull away until at one time they had a 10 point lead.

The Oregons were not fast enough to keep up with the Huskies so they changed from a man-to-man defense to a zone defense. Washington with great passing skill kept pulling the man who was supposed to check under the net away and then sending a man in to make the basket.

Vandenevnde Elected Prexy Of UO Dads; Averill Retires

At their annual business meeting held in Guild theater Saturday afternoon with President Ed. F. Averill in the chair, the Oregon Dads:

1. Voted to promote and support national and state legislation designed to assist returning soldiers to resume and complete their interrupted education;

2. Got behind the Oregon Mothers' suggestion of a memorial scholarship in honor of Dr. Donald M. Erb, late president of the University;

3. Elected officers and members of the executive committee;

4. Passed a resolution expressing the organization's deep sense of loss in the untimely death of Dr. Erb.

5. Heard Acting President Orlando John Hollis's informal statement of his ideas of how the University should carry on at once its educational program for the regular civilian students coming in from the high schools and its program for the returned soldier whose education had been interrupted by the war.

It was decided to have the organization write and each member write the members of the Oregon congressional delegation in the interest of legislation to aid veteran soldiers in carrying forward their educational program. The members are to be asked, also, to write the chairmen of committees considering such legislation urging their favorable consideration.

'Orientor' Carveth Wells To Lecture Thursday P.M.

Carveth Wells, distinguished explorer, author and engineer, is scheduled to appear at an all campus assembly Thursday, 8:45 in MacArthur court. He will lecture on the subject "Countries Behind the Battlefronts."

Professor of engineering in London, railroad builder in Canada, surveyor in Malaya, explorer in Central Africa, lecturer in America, writer in Bermuda and at various other times soldier, naturalist, motion picture producer Carveth Wells is the most effective public speaker available, according to Karl W. Onthank, chairman of the assembly committee of the University.

As an official orientation lecturer for the war department, Mr. Wells spent most of spring and summer, 1942, speaking about Africa to officers and men in camps all over America. The bureau of public relations of the war department says of him: "He has been graded 'top notch' in every camp where he has appeared."

All University students, faculty and townspeople are invited to attend this one-hour lecture which is being incorporated into the study course of ASTU students.
