Ophelia Observes

Big day . . . Ophelia's dad, Alonzo, met her at the depot Friday . . . what with picketing the bank for bonds, two runs in her nylons and a continued story . . . Went to the game that night . . . at intermission, a tall GI trumpeter sent her a few sweet nothings from Besame Mucho . . . Ophelia whipped out her little Spanish dictionary . . . Alonzo's daughter fell through the bleachers . . . stayed there 'till he was done playing like Sinatra.

Faux Pas

Committed a social error at the luncheon Saturday . . . asked for a second on potatoes . . . socially, Ophelia doesn't show . . . much. Politically, very sharp . . . attended business meeting with dad . . . nominated Alonzo for president . . . he's sergeant-at-arms . . . here, a janitor there, a janitor! Helped Alonzo clean up after meeting

Meet Jean Frideger -- War Drive Mainspring

By BETTY ANN STEVENS

Striking taffy-colored hair, bright blue eyes, and a small, neat figure is the surface impression received of readily-smiling Jean Frideger, Tri-Delt chairman of the campus war board.

Jean, who engineered the recent $260,360 bond drive, which scaled unimagined heights of campus interest and publicity, sat on the couch in her Tri-Delta room and trilled, "Oh, did you see that wonderful show at the Mac? It was just wonderful, and the crowd was two blocks long!"

"It's really a woman's world," she said enthusiastically. "I dreamed about $75,000, but $260,000! I can't believe it yet. Last spring when there were boys on the campus it hit only $11,000. You know, some of the kids even went down to the jail to solicit bonds."

In Side Dope

Decided to take Alonzo on tour of the campus . . . started with the Side, where he met all of Ophelia's friends—all two of them . . . Big Pete, dishwasher, and little Pete—assistant dishwasher . . . told him all about college life . . . Ophelia may not be back next term . . .

Ophelia dragged dad to the second slaughter, (a basketball game by any other name) Tough deal . . . "Huskies Slap Ducks" again . . . just then Bonds Away Girl was named . . . announcer pointed Ophelia-wards . . . she stood up . . . Tri-Delt Irene Gresham stood up . . . Ophelia sat down . . . that's life! . . . Swallowed her disappointment and two vitamin pills . . . smiled bravely at her daddy . . . who leered back.

Sparkplug

Took him to the house for dinner Sunday . . . was very proud of him . . . life of the party . . . led the singing . . . encore, "Beer Barrel Polka" with right amount of longing . . .

Time for Alonzo to go home . . . lived in Portland . . . So Ophelia looked up schedules . . . called train, bus, airplane . . . even helicopter . . . all filled . . . Ophelia walked part way with him.

escorted him to the Bond Cavalcade . . . huge mistake about top five girls . . . Ophelia wasn't mentioned. Sorority sisters were out gunning . . . for her . . . Took out her teeth, hid behind papa . . . slunk out . . . phew!

A senior in business administration, the Ashland coed was last year a member of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary. When a freshman she was on the Kay Kyser program committee, which stands out in her memories. "You know, Ginny Simms has sent me Christmas cards for the past three years, and they're just darling!"

Jean paused for a moment, "Do you want to know anything like favorite sports, or what I do in the summer?" We nodded. "Well, we used to go to Crater lake for skiing . . . before the war. Have you ever been there? It's wonderful . . . And in the summer we go fishing and aqua-planing."

She glanced quickly around the room. "See my pottery?" she asked, pointing to a small, blue statuette. "I just doodle around down there at art and journalism."

" . . . And every exam week when I get too bored I go out and buy records. You can tell by the number of albums . . ." She laughed brightly.

"You know, I feel sorry for the frosh," Jean confided, preening a string of dance souvenirs. "They used to have the cutest dances and dance programs, and mine make the pledges awfully jealous."

Plans after graduation include New York and a career in retail merchandising. She elucidated, laughingly, "Here's where I really want to go," with a gesture at two travel prints of Rio de Janeiro and Hawaii on the wall. "They're out of Richard Halliburton's book of marvels. It was a public library book, but it had so many pictures I didn't think they'd miss two."

Suit of Hearts

The alums are brightly shining this week and we do mean with diamonds. Alpha Chi alum Shirley Lindley was married to Robert Barnes, Navy lieutenant from New York, in Modesto, California, this past weekend.

Pi Phi Alum Jean Kendell was recently married to Phi Delt Neil Baumgartner. Also a recent wedding that we have neglected to mention is that of Pi Phi Leone Spaulding and Phi Delt Jim Benison (now on the campus, with returning ROTCers).

At the Theta house we find one engagement—that of Dorothy Payne to Dick Garvai of Los Angeles. Dick is now with a medical branch of the United States Army. Dee Gee Phil Miller recently announced her engagement to Beta Frank Jacobson.

One of our new fraternity pins or brass additions comes from the Alpha Xi Deltas. Evelyn Missoff has a Sigma Tau pin which belongs to Coast Guard Jim Johnson. Jim attended Willamette for two years.

The other is the planting of the white cross of Sigma Nu by Bill Hales on Dorothy Riley.

Michigan's famed Willie Heston scored more than 110 touchdowns from 1901 to 1905.

AWS Notes

AWS is having a short "time out" after the Nickel Hop (as far as activities are concerned). But from "the looks of things" (several soldiers and civilian students overhead) more nickel hops are wanted—not a bad idea if enough people want them.

A "marine" assembly has been scheduled by AWS for Wednesday, February 9, when a representative from the Eugene recruiting office will speak to campus women on opportunities offered in the marine auxiliary branch of the service. Representatives from Corvallis will also speak and entertainment added by several activity groups, says AWS president Micki Campbell.

Winner of the AWS scholarship of $35 presented this term, was June Buckles, a senior in liberal arts.

WAVES in Action ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Recruiter

OFFICIAL U. S. NAVY PHOTOGRAPH
 WAVES assigned to recruiting duty spend some of their time traveling about the recruiting district to which they have been assigned. It is their job to advise and assist young women who are interested in the WAVES, and to answer their questions about the duties, pay, social life, opportunities for advancement, uniforms, etc. In the photo, the uniformed girl—a Specialist (R), Third Class—is assisting an applicant. "R" indicates she's a recruiter. She and other Navy representatives in the recruiting service are anxious to talk about the WAVES to thousands of young women between 20 and 36 years of age.
