

Wolves, Wartime Marriages Discussed at Love Assembly

Sex, moral delinquency, war marriages, religion and wolves were some of the problems discussed at the Love and Marriage assembly attended by over a hundred students in the music auditorium Sunday afternoon. Charlotte Calder, sophomore in business administration, was chairman at the meeting at which Dr. R. P. Huestis, professor of zoology; Dr. L. C. Bee, assistant professor of sociology and Dr. Wesley G. Nicholson, of the First Congregational church were the principal speakers.

Following a brief jam session by "Fathah" Owen Bailey and his crew of GI hepcats, the first item on the program was a discussion by Dr. Huestis on the biological aspects of marriage. The fact that the only reason there are sexes is that sex fosters variability was stressed.

"A successful marriage is built on companionship and agreement, rather than on sex," stated Dr. Bee. Sex was defined as the result of an adjustment, not a cause. The four types of war marriages were given by Dr. Bee as:

1. Long courtship which would have resulted in marriage despite the war.
2. Long courtship with sudden decision to marry as a result of the war.
3. Short courtship and the decision to marry as a result of the war.
4. Meet and marry in a three-day furlough.

Dr. Bee presented the three most prominent problems to be faced in war marriages as emotional maturity, the ability to restrain sex desire until after the war and the possibility that the mate may return as a mental or physical casualty.

The chance of divorce for a war marriage is 50-50 or more, and the real test will not come until about a year after the war, stated Dr. Bee.

According to Dr. Bee a "wolf" is the term in college slang given to a man with the tendency to fixate emotions on a sexual level. To a "wolf" sex becomes an end.

There are several reasons why men, especially men in the armed forces, become wolves, said Dr. Bee. The rise in prostitution is a direct cause; plus the fact that the men are not in their home communities, they are given contraceptives, they are trained to emotional tension, there is a lack of personal recognition and their culture has been hacked away by war training. The girls sympathize because there is nothing else to do.

Several remedies were suggested by Dr. Bee: be a companion, face a conscious recognition of the problem, prepare yourself by acquiring a knowledge of social and biological courses, tolerance, abilities, develop a personality of deep interests, gain mature interest and a cosmic view of men, have purpose and a sincerity of attitude.

Cosmic man and the theory that religion gives meaning, depth, and unit to life was discussed by Dr. Nicholson.

Four Basketball Victories

In the last two minutes of play the ASTU team came from behind to defeat the 91st division quintet. After leading the game all the way the G.I.'s suddenly realized that the boys from the Pine Tree division had closed the gap in the score and at that point in the game held a 33 to 36 lead.

Bob Nail immediately put the ASTU's back into the ball game when he dropped in a cripple that knotted the score. A few seconds later Brandiger passed to Nail who put the Ducks into the lead with another neat cripple. In the last 17 seconds the Brandiger to Nail combination netted another bucket to give the Ducks the long end of the 42 to 38 count.

Big Bill Moylan, who showed signs of regaining his shooting eye by dropping in 8 points, played an outstanding game and was continually breaking up the 81st Division's offense.

Bob Nail, the team's scoring forward has a total of 72 points for the five games after adding 17 counters in the Adair game.

ASTU-TILLAMOOK
Tillamook's six-man squad made a valiant effort to stem the tide of the G.I. Webfoot offensive but the Army-Duck five finally won. Although the ASTU men won, they did not play their best brand of ball and had they been up against a more powerful team the score might not have come out with ASTU on top.

Ophelia Observes

she got the last lesson . . . Oh, well, there are always correspondence courses. But no time with the Military Ball next week . . . called her father to come take her to it . . . but he said he couldn't . . . hadn't reached Portland yet.

Ophelia thought of her true love, Gordon, the garbage man . . . HE would take her . . . maybe, even scare up a corsage . . . if his collections were good . . . Orchids stay nice for a week, sometimes. Ophelia beamed . . . just thinking of Gordon . . . that is to say, Gordon . . . gave her that watery feeling. Blithfully, she sang, "Leth Be Jelly 'Cause Jam Don't Shake That Much".
