

Past Week Of Femme Sports Featured By Varied Activity

The climax of the basketball season for the girls is almost here, and all of the teams are playing more and more exciting and intense games as they head for the semi-finals.

Headed in the direction of the semi-finals very definitely are the ADPIs whom we pick as the team of the week. As yet they are undefeated in their league. The ADPIs have the advantage of height in their forward line up as well as speed and deceptive ball handling. The trio in the line up forward are Barbara and Evelyn Stephens, and Janet "Pee Wee" Ross. Janet Ross has exceptional speed and ability handling the ball and sinking baskets from all over the court. Evelyn Stephens keeps any guard on her toes with her deceptive playing under the basket and her ability to make shots from any position. Another good forward for the ADPIs is Bobbie Edwards who is a quick and tricky ball handler.

The guarding power of the ADPIs is exceptional. They are headed by Betty Lee Humphreys, Barbara Bently, and Carmen Green. This trio of guards is hard to beat on any team. They are excellent ball handlers and very accurate in every play. On an equal par with the first string guards are three of the subs, Charollet Wicki, Florence Hamilton, and Doris Trask.

The first meet of the year for the swimming team is now over, and it was as exciting and interesting as any swimming meet could be. Every spectator at the meet was entertained to the best degree by the excellent swimming put on by the various girls' living organizations. The Alpha Delta Pis won the meet with a total of 46 points to their nearest competitor's 26 points.

Eva Anderson who swam for the Lane Ducks was their outstanding swimmer. She was at her best while swimming freestyle. Another good free style swimmer was ADPI Doris Trask who won the 40 yard free style swim and the 40 yard backstroke. Doris also won the form swimming and she proved herself to be an excellent all around swimmer. Theta Polly Gordon brought the score up for her house with her excellent backstroke swimming. The next swimming meet is Wednesday, February 9, and it promises to be more exciting than the last. The meet is free and open to the public. To see an exciting team and individual competition in sports, everyone should go to the next swimming meet in Gerlinger.

Following is the results of last week's basketball play.

Intramurals For Civilians

Civilians will have a chance to show what they can do on the maple court when the All-Campus intramural round robin basketball tournament gets underway Tuesday night, February 8, at 7:30. All games will be played on the P.E. building courts at 7:30 on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Any civilian who is enrolled in any of the regular athletic programs or who is physically able to participate on any one of the teams. One provision for participation is that no one can play for more than one team in the tournament.

A handball tournament for both singles and doubles will also be held next week in the P.E. building. The eligibility requirements for this are the same as for basketball. All games will be played at 4:45 p. m.

The schedule of the games will be posted on the bulletin board in the men's locker room, and also in the sports page of the Emerald every Saturday.

Entries should be put in Mr. Wilson's mail box in the Physical Education office by 5 Monday. On each basketball entry should be the managers name, address, and telephone number. For handball the entry should contain each player's name, address, and telephone number.

Washington Tops Pack In Basketball Tilt Race

Northern division standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Pf.	Pa.
Washington	6	0	1.000	300	217
Idaho	4	2	.667	264	239
Oregon	3	5	.375	316	365
Wash. State	3	5	.375	330	345
Oregon State	2	6	.250	293	337

Standings don't include Friday games.

Washington is still in the lead of the league with an unblemished record. Idaho is the biggest surprise of the league. They are in second place and this is the highest the Vandals have been in many a season. Oregon and Washington State are tied for third, and Oregon State is a distance behind with no chance of leaving the cellar soon because they play their next series against the Huskies in Seattle.

in the Supreme Soviet. The new provinces were even granted the right to secede.

The catch came in the fact that only communists could be elected to office. We have never heard of an opposition newspaper becoming successful in the Soviet nation. We remember the fate of the millions of people who have dared to differ with Comrade Stalin. They are at present in the ground or enjoying the blessings of the "most democratic constitution in the world" in the prison camps of Siberia.

A written constitution, therefore, is obviously no guarantee of civil rights. The British, for example, do not even possess a written constitution, yet the British citizen is free to vote for whomever he chooses or to vilify Mr. Churchill.

We think that this decentralization of the Soviet Union is the Russian answer to all the allied plans for international government after the war.

The Russians have abandoned the dualism of the comintern and the Soviet state for a more subtle program of action. They undoubtedly propose to set up puppet republics in Poland, Germany, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, and other countries of Europe. These puppet states would become part of the Soviet Union. Russia, in other words, has cast out communism for Russian nationalism.

The Russians are realistic—they admire toughness. This Molotov plan is a trial balloon, sent up in order to test the reaction of the West. The Russian government heads must be having a good laugh at the amazement portrayed by much of our press.

The Webfoots have finished the first half of their four game series with the Washington State Cougars. After losing the first game the Cougars came back to defeat the Webfoots in the second by a score of 38 to 33. Both teams were playing good ball as the final score would indicate.

The Webfoots' zone defense in the second game didn't seem to work against the Cougars because they kept the ball in motion until they had a set shot or a man in position to sink a shot.

ED ALLEN ...

... is one of the holdovers from last year's Frosh team who is now a reserve on the Webfoot squad.

The team is now playing Idaho. Idaho has already beaten the Staters four times this year and in view of the Washington State series, the coming games should be very interesting. The Idaho-Washington State games were close, and the Webfoots broke even with the Cougars; therefore the Ducks should meet the Vandals on even terms.

With the coming of next week civilian students will start the winter term intramural basketball season—open to all civilian students.

Also, there will be a tournament for handball enthusiasts. These will be for both singles and doubles.
