

'Prevue and Review' Slated for Assembly

White-coated Mortar Board members will parade their new finery today at the AWS assembly at 4 o'clock, in the music auditorium. The white coats, which they are wearing for the first time, are the uniforms of the organization. Elizabeth Edmunds will be the narrator for a skit called, "Prevue and Review of Oregon" in which all Mortar Board members will participate.

Acting President Orlando J. Hollis will speak about "The Present Day Coed". The affiliation between the marines and the marine corps women's reserve is the subject of a talk to be given by Sergeant L. J. Pittenger. A quartet composed of Phyllis Evans, Eloise Mulhausen and two others will sing "Sweet Sue."

Oregon State representatives, who have been invited to come to the assembly, will present the projects sponsored by the AWS cabinet at Corvallis. Marilyn Campbell, AWS president, will preside at this assembly which will be the only one given winter term. For this reason all coeds should plan to attend, Miss Campbell said.

Student Union Meet Slated

The all-campus student union building committee "got the ball rolling" Monday when they chose seven members from each class to serve as class committees. Because there were no petitions turned in by members of the senior class, no senior committee was appointed. With these appointments and the election of officers for the committee next Monday, the organization will be ready to go ahead on student union plans.

All members of both the all-campus and the class committees will meet Monday night at 4 p. m. in 105 journalism. New members will be told of past student union activities and the class committees will elect officers.

Army Scores 49 Over Air Corps 40; Kramme High Man

The ASTUs had lots of trouble Saturday night, but finally managed to eke out a victory over a fighting air corps squad, 49 to 40. The game had everything, including plenty of spills, fast breaks, howitzer shots, and contested decisions by the officials.

The ASTUs led by Kramme and Nail, led the birdmen all the way with period scores of 15 to 13, 22 to 16, and 35 to 28, but nevertheless they were periodically worried throughout the game by birdmen threats, the strongest coming in the fourth quarter when the air corps closed the count to four points.

The air corps mets were hampered throughout the game by their lack of height. Forced by the defensive play of Moylan and Nail to shoot from outside the ASTU defensive, Bill Mitchell, air corps ace, found the range in the third quarter, but was forced to leave the game with a bad leg before he was able to materially alter the score.

With the cry of three to one and some practice against a man-to-man defensive, the air corps has promised to come back with a victory in a rematch game scheduled in the next few weeks.

Oregon Blasts Idaho

Ducks Add to Victory String With Triumph Over Vandals

Oregon made it three in a row over the Idaho Vandals as they fought their way to a 62-54 victory. The game was tight all the way with Oregon pulling away after the second half started.

At the start of the game the Webfoots jumped into the lead, but then things tightened up and the lead changed with every basket. Half time score was tied at 31-31.

The Webfoots got off to a grand start in the first of the second half. At one time during this period they had a 9 point lead, but then the Vandals started rolling and closed this to 4 points. The game was very rough with a great number of fouls being called against each team. Phillips, of Oregon, and Payne of Idaho both fouled out.

Eight of the players made 10 points or better, four for each team. Borrevik was high man of the evening with 23 points and Pyne, was high for Idaho with 17.

Tonight the Webfoots will again play the Vandals on the Igloo floor in the last game of their current 4 game series. Game time will be at 8.

Wellesley Man, UO Alumnus, Drops in for Chat

DICK WILLIAMS

Ensign R. C. (Dick) Williams (SC) USNR, '41, former educational manager at the University and for three years managing editor of the Oregana, visited the campus yesterday afternoon during a short leave on completion of his training at the Wellesley unit, navy supply school, Massachusetts.

"Yes, it's a nice girl's school," Williams commented on Wellesley. "Very beautiful campus." He remarked that the men didn't know what to think when first stationed at a girl's school, but that they were kept "so darned busy, it didn't make much of an impression on us."

Out of the 193 men stationed there, only 10 were unmarried and 60 per cent had children. "The girls said they'd been gyped, being sent a bunch of old married men."

One of the "old married men", Williams was married in June, '41, and has two sons, Tom, age four months, and Jerry, age 19½ months. His wife is the former Marjorie Kellogg, a University alumna.

Williams graduated in 1941 and became acting manager of educational activities in September of that year and was made manager in 1942. While in school he was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalism honorary; Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary; Friars, senior men's service honorary; and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, as well as his Oregana position.

He enlisted in the navy, June 14, 1943, and was first stationed at Bremerton for three months, receiving a two-day leave before going back East. This is his first leave since that time. Friday he will leave to report to Charleston, South Carolina, on "essential business."

"As soon as this mess is over I'll make a bee line right back here and be educational manager of the University of Oregon. You just don't appreciate this town until you go away," Williams stated emphatically, "Oregon is a wonderful country."
