Four Houses Contribute 100% In Campus Red Cross Drive

Kappa Kappa Gamma, contributing $39, was the first house to report 100 per cent membership in the 1944 Red Cross war fund drive which started Wednesday. Sigma Kappa with $30 and Delta Delta Delta with $44 were second and third, respectively. Pi Beta Phi turned in the largest amount on the first day of the drive, $53, and was fourth to report 100 per cent subscription.

According to Mary K. Minor and Dorothy Rasmussen, co-chairmen, the competition between the houses is being judged on a percentage basis in order to be fair to the smaller organizations. The winner of the first prize, a cup awarded by the war board, will be the house with 100 per cent membership and the best support per member. The money collected by five other houses was on record by Wednesday night: Alpha Chi Omega, $20; Laurel lodge, $14; Hillcrest lodge, $11; Hilyard house, $10; University house, $8.27.

"Today the activities of your American Red Cross girdle the globe. In directing your attention to this graphic presentation of some of the services rendered, I can affirm from personal observation on recent inspection trips that your Red Cross is faithfully fulfilling its obligations at home and abroad," stated Norman H. Davis, national chairman of the American Red Cross in Washington, D. C.

This is what the Red Cross, backed by American dimes and dollars, does at the side of soldiers and sailors overseas: Red Cross field directors with miniature offices composed of packing crates set up in foxholes are trouble shooters who help servicemen with personal difficulties or home worries. The Home Service may secure the co-

Submit Skits Quick, Asks Arliss Boone

An urgent call has gone out for skits which may be presented as added entertainment May 5 at the all-campus sing during Junior Weekend, according to Arliss Boone, chairman of the sing.

The skits do not have to be in completed form to be submitted, Miss Boone said Wednesday. Outlines and ideas should be turned in to Miss Boone at Alpha Chi Omega not later than Friday at 5 p.m. She asks that students who plan to submit ideas to her do so at once, and continue working on their plans until she contacts them.

Any student on the campus who will be here during Junior Weekend may turn in ideas for skits. Four skits will be chosen of those submitted. They may run from 10 to 25 minutes, in length.

Dr. Landros Tells YWCA About Peace Points

Dr. Edna Landros, head of the classics department who recently attended a conference of the United Nations association in Portland, told members of the YWCA forum yesterday that she was particularly impressed by the frequent recurrence of the phrase "third world war" in the speeches at the convention.

An 11-point program to prevent another world war has been evolved by the association, and Dr. Landros emphasized this program in her talk. Two of the following ideas have been put into working order directly, she said, and the leaders of 26 of the United Nations, including Russia, Great Britain, China, and the United States, have already subscribed to the plan.

First of the points advocated is immediate action so that all nations will participate in the organization; second, universal obligation to resort to peaceful means for the settlement of disputes; third, prevention of aggression by having available an international

AWS Change Cabinets

Duo Feature Offered Women; Dramatist, New Officers Billed

Associated women students will get a double bill this afternoon with a speech by Oleda Schrottsky, who has been in charge of the national dramatic department for the Girl Scouts for a number of years, and installation of the new AWS officers. The assembly will be held in alumni hall, Gerlinger, at 3 p.m.

Miss Schrottsky was formerly an instructor in dramatics at Mt. Holyoke college. She is a member of the New York story telling club, and at one time served as president of that organization.

At the present time she is touring the United States. Her speech today will be about coeds in the war and the problems of leadership they must face.

Marilyn Campbell, outgoing president of AWS, will introduce the speaker. Ensign Elizabeth Hill, navy recruiting officer from Portland, and Lieutenant Barbara Smith, air Wac, will also be introduced. Both will speak to coeds at a later date and Ensign Hill will see any girls interested in the Waves at the dean of women's office all day Friday.

New officers to be installed are: Mary Riley, president; Ardis Jensen, vice-president; Signe Eklund, secretary; Mary McCandless, treasurer; Beatrice King, sergeant-at-arms, and Roseann Leckie, reporter.

Retiring officers are: Marilyn Campbell, president; Kay Jenkins, vice-president; Mary Riley, secretary; Phyllis Horstman, treasurer; Phyllis Evans, sergeant-at-arms; and Betty Lu Siegman, reporter.

Following the assembly the annual banquet for the new and retiring cabinets will be held at 5:30 p.m. at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

Eligible Voters Register In Room 312, Fenton

For the convenience of Oregon students who are eligible to vote in the May primaries, Harry Skerry, first vice-president of the ASUO, will be in Room 312, Fenton hall, to register students who are not registered voters. Skerry is a deputy registrar and will be at the office from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Students are reminded that April 18 is the last day for registration. They may also register at the county clerk's office at the county court house.

Those who are already registered in other counties may obtain applications for absentee ballots either at the county clerk's office or from Skerry.

To be eligible to vote in the primaries on May 19, the student must be 21 years old before that date.

Mothers' Day Plan Underway

Plans for Mothers' Day will be discussed at a state executive board of Oregon Mothers in Portland this coming Saturday, Karl W. Onthank, executive secretary, announced yesterday.

Other action will be taken on the scholarship awards and also, in conjunction with the Oregon Dads, on the proposed Erb endowment fund.

There will also be a joint meeting of the Northwest College Personnel association, Association of Collegiate Registrars, and Associated Junior Colleges this Friday and Saturday in Portland, to discuss the postwar problems affecting higher education.

Wayne Morse, former dean of the law school, is scheduled to be one of the main speakers and several members of the faculty and personnel staff are expected to attend.

Social Side Talked At Union Confab

Social facilities were discussed at a meeting of the sophomore Student Union committee Wednesday afternoon, Dorothy Rodgers, chairman, reported.

The committee decided that as a starting point the building should have a ball room, lounges, a reception room, private party rooms, a smoking room, and a faculty club.

As their project the members of the committee will find out what social facilities are now available on the campus and what ones are needed. They will also investigate other student unions in the United States in regard to such facilities as they have and the manner in which they are run.

Red Cross Offers One Week Course

Robert Culbertson, a well-known district examiner in Red Cross water safety methods, will be on the campus from April 24 to April 29 to conduct a 15-hour course for future Red Cross instructors of this division.

High School Speakers, Actors, To Bat Verbal Ball on Campus

Approximately ten schools represented by about 50 students are expected to participate in the annual Oregon High School Speech league tournament on the campus from March 30 to April 1, Robert D. Clark, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts, announced yesterday. Five schools, who have entered contestants, are: Klamath Falls, coached by Walter Eschebeck; Medford, Ann Allen; Salem, Ellen Rose Mason; Grants Pass, Alvera Brookman, and Beaverton, E. C. Webb.

The seven divisions of the contest, in addition to debate are panel discussion, extempore speaking, oratory, after-dinner speaking, radio speaking, poetry reading, and humorous reading. Panel discussion has as its subject "Are the high schools of Oregon adequately meeting the needs of the students?" Each panel will consist of from five to eight students with a faculty member or University speech student serving as chairman. There are no set speeches or order of speaking.

Subjects for the extempore speaking section will be drawn from a list compiled from Harper's Magazine for January, February, and March, 1944. One hour before draw three topics, one of which he will use for his speech.

No limitation is placed on the subject matter for oratory except

Oregon Swimmers Paddle to First Place in Western Regional Division

First place in the Western Region division in 1943. That year al Intercollegiate Telegraphic swimming meet went to the University of Oregon women's swimming team. Dorothea Moore, instructor in physical education and faculty adviser for the team, announced the results Wednesday.

High point girl, with 10 of the winning 36 points, was Beverly Hauser, freshman in liberal arts, who did not return to school this term. Miss Hauser came within 1.5 seconds of breaking the record for the 40-yard crawl. Runner-up, with 7 points, was Doris Traske, freshman in business administration.

Other members of the winning team are Charlotte Wicke, Barbara Huntington, Barbara Hinds, Ada Anderson, Sharlee Heimann and June Spor, freshman in liberal arts; Virginia Wright, sophomore in liberal arts, and Mary Jo Geiser, senior in journalism. Betty Crabb, sophomore in physical education, was the student manager. Seven members of the team belong to Amphibians, the swimming honorary.

There are four regional divisions of the National Intercollegiate meet: eastern, western, central, and southern. Each school in each division holds its own meet, and sends the results to the division sponsor. The school sponsoring the division meet is the school which won the meet the preceding year. Thus the University of Oregon was the sponsor this year, through winning first place in the western region division in 1943. That year and the preceding year, the University placed fourth in the national meet.

This year seven schools in the western division turned out for the meet. In order of their place, they are: University of Oregon, 36 points; University of Hawaii, 31; University of Utah, 21; College of the Pacific, 18; Utah State college, 16; University of Idaho, 14; and Washington State, 12.

The only record made during the Western region meet this year was made by Maxine Finder, Utah State, who broke the record for the 60-yard individual medley, originally held by Helen Gilbert of
