

Leap Year Spree . . .

Men to Receive Innings At Saturday Night Ball

Mortar Board ball-going-gals, having asked the men of their choice to the annual dance Saturday night, can throw back at their dates all the Emily Post men ever displayed for them. But they won't have to pay $1.20 a couple for the dance. Contrary to this erroneous announcement, admission is only 60 cents a couple.

Phi Thetas and Kwamas are putting the tickets on sale today at living organizations. Or the feminine escorts may buy their tickets as they enter McArthur court Saturday night at 9.

Yesterday the news was out that the senior women's honorary was unable to secure an orchestra for the event. It will be the record dance this term at which records are the source of music.

In proverbial leap year fashion, girls will call for their dates at men's residences—Hendrick's hall, John Straub hall, Steiwer hall, Campbell club, or what have you. The next step will be dinner, probably at the girl's living organization.

To make the evening complete, the coed daters may furnish the gentleman with a flower for his buttonhole. In past years vegetable corsages have been fashionable. To please their companions, girls will open doors, help the men with their coats, carry any bothersome accessories the men may wish to unload on them, and take over the coat-checking task. In short, the girls have the opportunity to repay all date obligations.

The Mortar Board ball has usually been the last dance of the term, but the date was moved up with the thought that there may be fewer men on the campus later.

Mother Goose in War Goes to Junior Prom As Decoration Theme

"Mother Goose Goes to War," the official theme of Junior Weekend, will be carried out in decorations, programs, and the general theme of the Junior Prom, traditional formal dance presented each year during Junior Weekend, Phyllis Horstman, chairman of the prom committee, announced Wednesday.

An important part of the prom's entertainment will be the presentation of the Junior Weekend queen and her court. Also to be presented at the prom are the Koyl cup, given each year to the outstanding junior man, and the Gerlinger cup, presented each year to the outstanding junior woman on the campus.

Committees for the prom were announced today by Miss Horstman. Arrangements for the program will be handled by Irene Gresham, liberal arts. Kathy Dunn, liberal arts, is chairman of the ticket committee; and Mary Riley, liberal arts, and Polly Gordon, architecture and allied arts, will be in charge of decorations. The refreshment committee will be headed by Marty Beard, liberal arts, and Alva Granquist, journalism, will arrange for patrons and patronesses.

The committee in charge of posters for the dance has not yet been appointed. Miss Horstman asks anyone interested in working on that committee to contact her at 2306, before 5 p.m. Friday, March 31.

Second Revision Given Calendar

Since the academic calendar for 1944-45 was revised a short time ago, officials have found it feasible to amend the revision. School will now open fall term September 25, one week later than had been previously announced. This will allow one more week for incoming students to clear up their summer jobs and will place the calendar back on pre-war footing. The summer quarter will remain the same, starting June 10 and ending August 25, with the first session ending July 18 and the second session starting July 19.

Freshman year is scheduled for September 18-23, and fall term registration will be September 22-23. The term will end December 15, and Christmas vacation will extend from that date until January 2. Winter term registration will be held January 2 and the term will close March 23. After a nine-day spring vacation, spring term will open April 2 and extend until June 17, 1945, Baccalaureate and Commencement day.

Committee Arranging Mother's Day Weekend

The Mothers' Weekend committee met Wednesday to formulate plans for the special activities designed for visiting Oregon mothers in conjunction with Junior Weekend. Dean Karl W. Onthank presided; Mrs. R. R. Huestis and Mrs. (Please turn to page four)

O'Neill Play Starts Friday

Tomorrow night at 8 in Guild hall, the University theater guild will present its initial performance of "The Great God Brown," Eugene O'Neill's drama of a man who tried to play God and lost.

Leading the cast of 22 players are Frank Krasnowsky as the Great God Brown, and Louis Vogler as Dion Anthony, tragic mixture of good and evil. Margaret, leading feminine role, and Cybel, symbolic character of mother earth, are being portrayed by Mary Ellen Foland and Jeanne Briggs.

Appearing as Margaret's young sons are Bobbie Joe Quigley and Jess Scott from Roosevelt Junior high school, and Peter Laurence Horn, son of R. D. Horn, associate professor of English, who attends Condon grammar school. Bobbie Joe has formerly appeared in several University theater productions including last year's "My Sister Eileen."

Other members of the cast are: Ed Mickel, Barbara Ayer, Jim Bartell, Valerie Strahl, Sam Benveniste, Joy Willard, Cay Shea, Ervin Webb, Bob Hull, Nancy Sampson, Bob Smith, Milton Surface, Curtis Butterfield, Marilyn Sage, and Marilyn Rowling.

Assisting Horace Robinson, director of "The Great God Brown" are Mrs. Kathryn S. Barrett, instructor in speech and dramatic arts, in charge of costumes, and Jean Lawrence, student assistant director.

Helping to establish the expressionistic mood of "The Great God Brown," background music, special lighting and exotic stage settings are being used by the stage and design crews.

Future performance dates are Saturday, April 1, and Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4 and 5. Tickets are on sale now at the box office in Johnson hall. Phone 3300, extension 216, for reservations.

Campus Club Organized to Back Wayne L. Morse for U.S. Senator

Rallying in support of Wayne L. Morse, former dean of the University law school, for United States senator, a group of students has organized to give him all possible support, Harry Skerry, chairman of the group, announced Wednesday.

The University of Oregon Morse for Senator club plans to contact all students 21 or over and put before them the policies for which Morse stands.

"The club is not only for those who are able to vote this year, but is open to anyone interested in seeing Wayne Morse elected in United States senate," Skerry said. "We are supporting him not only because we know him, but because he is the type of leader that college students like, intelligent and liberal."

Anyone interested in joining the club should contact members of the executive committee, composed of Barbara Younger, senior in journalism; Jean Page, senior in business administration; Bill Sinnott, special student in liberal arts; Peggy McGill, senior in journalism; Nancy Ames, senior in liberal arts; Audrey Holliday, junior in liberal arts; Marty Beard, junior in liberal arts; Ann Leo, senior in journalism; and Carlton Reiter, graduate student.

WAYNE L. MORSE

UO Contributes $740 to Red Cross

Thirteen houses subscribing 100 per cent and a total of $740 is the result of the 1944 annual Red Cross membership drive. Casablanca, with $31, is the thirteenth house to hit the all-out goal, and Kappa Alpha Theta, $26.50, and Lombardy lodge, $10, were the last houses to report their final results Wednesday night.

College 4-Fs Face Draft

With the announcement last night by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson that 3,500,000 4-F's between the ages of 18 and 37 will probably be inducted soon into army work battalions if they do not transfer to an essential industry, the Eugene Register-Guard learned from Washington, D.C., that the rule will probably hold true for most 4-F college students.

No exact details have been arranged yet on handling the 4-F's now in college, but they probably will not be eligible for deferments unless engaged in study in some essential field or engaged in part-time employment in an essential field, selective service officials said.

The move is part of an effort by the armed forces to get more men doing their utmost for the war effort. Patterson, in a speech earlier Wednesday said the national manpower problems calls for "passage of national service legislation."

"However," he added, "if we are not to have this measure passed promptly I believe there is solid merit in this new proposal to utilize men who are not physically fit to enter military service."

Plans to draft men from 37 to 45, which have received some consideration lately, were not included extensively in Wednesday's discussion.

"We are very pleased with the way everyone has showed," stated Co-chairmen Mary K. Minor and Dorothy Rasmussen. "The drive has been successful and we are sure that every dollar contributed by the students of the University will be used where it will most help our servicemen here and overseas."

Each house representative is to leave the money she collected in an envelope marked with the name of the house and the number of members, according to instructions from the chairmen, with her house-mother.

The envelopes will be collected Thursday afternoon, and any contributions will still be accepted until then and added to the house totals. Four sorority houses and nine lodges have not yet reached the 100 per cent mark and are urged to make this last attempt to do so. The winning house will be announced Friday.

WAA Plans Zoom Ahead For Friday's Fun Night

With ration points assured, WAA cabinet members are going full speed ahead with plans for the first fun night of the term, to be held at Gerlinger Friday, March 31, the eve of April Fool's day.

Chairman Margaret Wake has announced that Mary A. Lawson is in charge of the food situation, Elsie Ball, posters, and Pat Howe, table tennis. Other cabinet members are working on arrangements for the all-coed affair which has been planned to usher in April Fool's day. Sports of all kinds will be available to those who attend.

High School Debaters Open Tournament Today

The first round of debate in the Oregon High School Speech league contest will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Friendly hall, Robert D. Clark, secretary of the league, announced. Round two is to be at 7 p.m. and round three at 8:15 p.m. in Friendly and the library.

Registration for the debating teams is at 3 p.m. At 3:30 an assembly for the teams and their coaches. Headquarters for all sections of the contest are in the faculty room of Friendly. Two defeats in the first three rounds today will eliminate a competing team, and the schools surviving the preliminaries will debate the final round on Saturday night over station KOAC.

Odeon Art Show Slated For Saturday, April 8

The final date for Odeon, the annual creative art show, has been set for April 8, when student talent will be presented in the music auditorium and in Gerlinger hall at 8 p.m., Norris Yates, general chairman, announced.

The program under consideration will consist of reading of poems, short stories, and essays by students; performances of original musical compositions; and exhibits of painting, sculpture, and ceramics, and a master dance performance. The first part of the program, including the literary and musical numbers, will be given in the music auditorium, and will last about an hour and a half. The second part, immediately following, will be given on the third floor of Gerlinger, and will consist of art exhibits and dance routines.

A charge of 25 cents has been set for admission, and refreshments will be served at Gerlinger between the two halves.

Schedules for tomorrow are as follows: Round one: Roseburg affirmative against Salem negative in 107 Friendly with Esther Quier, chairman, and K. J. O'Connell, judge; Medford affirmative and Beaverton negative in 108 Friendly with Alice Harter, chairman, and W. A. Dahlberg, judge; Beaverton affirmative and Roseburg negative in 207 Friendly with K. S. Wood, judge; and Salem affirmative and Medford negative in 111 Friendly with P. X. Knoll, judge.

Round two: Roseburg affirmative and Beaverton negative in 107 Friendly with P. X. Knoll, judge; Medford affirmative and Salem negative in 108 Friendly with no judge chosen yet; Beaverton affirmative and Medford negative in 207 Friendly with R. D. Clark, (Please turn to page four)