

Beauty Parlors, Movies, Listed in Union "Musts"

Oregon Coeds want beauty parlors, a sun deck or porch, and a movie room, among other things, in the Student Union building after the war. The freshman committee, which is in charge of gathering suggestions from students on the campus, has gathered a number of pointers but still wants many more, Gene Conklin, general chairman of the Student Union committee said.

Various services are included on the list of wants for the building. A free student book exchange, a photo shop and developing facilities, check cashing service, a campus post office, a ticket bureau, and a lost and found office are among student demands.

In the line of games and activities, suggestions call for billiards, table tennis, bowling alleys, an inside archery range, and a bureau to arrange for sports excursions such as skiing and hikes.

In the list of social facilities students request fountains, record libraries, dancing rooms, dining halls, and meeting rooms for campus organizations.

Writing and study rooms, a recreational reading room, art and book exhibits, trophy rooms, shops for art and hobby work, practice rooms, a newspaper collection, and a bureau for conducting research on campus problems and topics of interest also appear.

Along with ideas from other colleges with Student Union buildings, the committee plans to work out the details of just what the University building will include. Gene Conklin added that any drawings of plans for various rooms and services will be welcomed.

Jean Frideger, chairman of the war board, expressed her appreciation of the support the campus has given the Red Cross and stated that all who had contributed should be commended for making the Red Cross service activities here and abroad possible. Mary K. Minor and Dorothy Rasmussen, co-chairmen of this drive, were equally enthusiastic about the response to the call for help and quoted statistics to prove that the money would be used for worthy purposes.

Last year the Red Cross collected 5,000,000 pints of blood, built 350 overseas clubs for servicemen, produced 925,000,000 surgical dressings, recruited 50,000 nurses for the army and navy, gave aid to 15,000 survivors of marine disasters and 119,000 persons in other types of disasters. The Gripsholm was packed with $1,500,000 worth of food, clothing, and medicine for Americans held by the Japanese when that ship sailed last September. The money for all of this came from contributions.

Jewelry Dinners

have worn to dinner. The contributions will then be handed over to Mrs. Omar Fendall, head of the USO, to be given to servicemen who need costume jewelry badly in trading with the natives.

Phyllis Horstman, chairman of the hospitality committee of the war board, and Mary Jane Dunn, head of living organization defense, were appointed co-chairmen of the dinners.

Miss Horstman announced that all social chairmen of the living organizations will meet Monday in the men's lounge, Gerlinger, at 4 p.m. to discuss arrangements and compare ideas on how the dinners should be carried out. One suggestion brought forward was that the diners should all eat on the floor in keeping with South Sea customs.

Operatic Pupils Will Give Recital

The school of music will present a program of operatic music on April 11, under the direction of Sigurd Nilssen. It will take place in the school of music auditorium at 8 p.m. and is free to the public. Mr. Nilssen, head of the voice department, presents his pupils annually.

Singers will be: coloratura soprano, Frances Brabert; lyric sopranos, Rose Zena Latta, June Johnson, and Odellia Jungers; mezzo sopranos, Barbara Bentley and Sue Welch; contralto, Jean Carkin; dramatic soprano, Margaret Zimmerman; and bass-baritone, Sigurd Nilssen.

Marie Rogndahl, coloratura soprano who is at present in the East to compete in the General Electric Hour of Charm contest, may return in time to sing on the program.

Concordia Teachers college's enrollment this year is the largest in history. This is the 86th year for the River Forest, Ill., school.

PFC J.R. Taylor, '42 Grad, Cited by F.D.R. for Record

Among the long list of Oregon students serving with honor in the armed forces throughout the world, is a former student who is a member of the famous rescue squadron of the India-China wing of the air transport command. PFC John R. Taylor, who was graduated in 1942, is serving with this United States army air force squadron which was recently cited by President Roosevelt for its spectacular record in supplying fighting forces in China with arms, ammunition, men, and supplies vitally needed since the closing of the Burma road.

Pfc. Taylor, who majored in geography at the University and played football, entered the service in December, 1942, and has been on duty in the China-Burma-India theater for the past six months. At present, his duties are those of a dropper and gunner on the squadron planes.

The rescue squadron is the unit charged with aiding flying personnel who have been forced down in the jungles in their flights across the spur of the Himalayas known as the "hump" between India and China. The squadron makes surveys in search of lost and crippled planes, crews, and passengers; and after locating them maintains contact, and drops supplies and directions from the air.

Just a G.I. Seamstress?

If you're forever getting out the needle and thread, here are some tips:

When a button comes off, sew it on well the first time. A slipshod job just means you'll have to do it over again soon.

Make your next shirt an Arrow. Arrow buttons are attached with a patented stitch, which "anchors" them to a shirt.

Check your size—you may be wearing too small a shirt and therefore causing too great a strain on the buttons and seams. The Sanforized label in an Arrow shirt guarantees shrinkage no greater than 1%—no danger of an Arrow ever getting too small!
