

CAMPUS CALENDAR

The frosh commission of the YWCA will meet tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. in the Y bungalow. All members are expected to attend.

Girls to Receive Nurse's Aide Caps

Capping service for the girls who took American Red Cross volunteer nurse aide corps training winter term will be held Friday night at 8 in the alumni room, Gerlinger hall.

Miss Grace Robertson, R.N., nurse instructor for the corps has asked that the class be present. Guests are invited to attend.

Faculty Plans

The smoker will nevertheless be primarily a student-presented program, according to Charles Politz, co-chairman. It will be held in McArthur court April 21, instead of on the 14th as originally decided.

Members of the faculty present at the meeting included, besides Dr. Shumaker, Dr. Robert D. Horn, during the year with government associate professor of English; Dr. W. D. Smith, head of the geology and geography department; Dr. D. S. Dedrick, assistant professor of chemistry and physics; Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department; and Horace Robinson, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts.

Charline Pelly

(Continued from page one) office-holders, gives the opportunity to observe the working and administration of the various departments of the government. After nine months, during which the students may take graduate work, tuition free, most of them are offered positions with the United States government.

About 100 honor students and student body leaders applied for fellowships this year, and a limited number of these were selected for interviews. Although representatives of the institute have usually come only to key cities, such as Portland for the Northwest, to select one or two winners from each section, Miss Pelly was interviewed on the campus.

Miss Pelly will leave July 1, and she hopes to get into the office for Latin American affairs, as she has become adept at Spanish. She is a member of Sigma Delta Pi, national Spanish honorary, and Gamma Alpha Chi, national advertising honorary. For her sorority, Alpha Chi Omega, she has served in the past as scholarship chairman and president. Other activities have included the rally squad, Emerald and Oregon staffs, and Junior Weekend decoration committee in 1943.

Last year Jeffrey Kitchen won a fellowship to work in the war and state departments. The only previous winner was Jayne Bowerman.

Marty Beard

(Continued from page one) war, freshman Ducks were made to wear "tin" pants, sophomores appeared in denim jeans or mole-skirts, juniors were allowed to attire themselves in clean cords, and seniors had the honor and privilege of wearing dirty cords. Lum stated that the class of '45 would win the respect of the school by reviving the old Oregon traditions and carrying on the school spirit.

Turning the attention of the University House Skins Highland by 14 to 4

Yesterday's games in softball: University house beat Highland house, 14-4; Hillcrest lodge defaulted to Alder lodge.

Today's games: Tennis, Tri Deltas vs. Highland and ADPis vs. Pi Phis at 4 p.m.

Softball games to be played at 5: Orides vs. Hawthorne lodge; Alpha Phi vs. Sigma Kappa.

assembled coeds to a more serious project for the class, Lum suggested that a committee be appointed, preferably of history majors or other students interested in that aspect of campus life, to do research and write a complete history of the class taking into consideration all sides of campus life—historical, sociological, psychological, etc.

"We should gather objective and accurate data," he said. "Sociology and other departments would be greatly benefitted by a complete book like this if it were published. I want this class to be a model class for later classes on this campus and other campuses. If everything were written down, it would disperse the details that cause disunity within the class. This project would make the class a unit."

It was moved and seconded to elect Paul Lum temporary chairman of the class history committee and the discussion was tabled to be brought up again at the rally before Junior Weekend.

'Citizen' Recognition

"Star Spangled Banner," AAFTTD band.

Invocation, Rev. Francis P. Leipzig, Catholic church of Eugene.

Address of welcome, Judge G. F. Skipworth, circuit court in Eugene.

Vocal selections, "Laughing Song," "Prelude," by June Johnson accompanied by Patricia Metcalf, both from the University.

Introduction by Mr. Robert C. Eroderick, junior first citizen of Eugene.

Address, "The Responsibilities of Citizenship" by Mrs. Margaret M. Sharp, administrative assistant of the Portland extension center and prominent in Portland civic activities.

"America the Beautiful," sung by Miss June Johnson.

Benediction, Rev. W. G. Nicholson, First Congregational church of Eugene.

Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of the Oregon state system of higher education said in endorsing this program, "The American association of university women is driving toward a vital goal in arranging for the recognition of new voters and new citizens. Americans have long recognized the rights vouchsafed under our constitution to citizens, but have never fully realized nor emphasized the responsibilities and the vigilance required to maintain a truly democratic system. In a world scene filled with bewildering complexities, the spotlight is on citizenship."

University students, as well as Lane county citizens, are invited to attend the meeting. The last such meeting sponsored by the group in Eugene was in 1941, a program honoring naturalized citizens alone.

Formerly a student in France and also in England, Dr. Ducasse received bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from the University of Washington, later earning his Ph.D. degree at Harvard university. He is a fellow in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and is the author of several books and articles in the field of aesthetics.

On the following evening the second of the two speakers, Dr. Walter M. Miles of Yale university, will discuss "Psychology and Military Aviation," stressing the outstanding contribution of psychological and other similar research to the efficiency of our air forces in the present combat.

Dr. Miles, who received his doctor's degree from Yale, now teaches psychology there in the medical school. He also has held the position of psychologist at Carnegie Institution, Washington, D.C., lecturer in psychology at Columbia university and professor of experimental psychology at Stanford. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and the American psychological association.

Scheduled Friday and Saturday evenings at 8, both lectures will be held in 207 Chapman hall. Joint sponsor of the lecture to be presented by Dr. Miles is the campus chapter of Sigma Xi, national science honorary.
