

FOR SALE . . .

. . . Wednesday will be these articles displayed by Signe Eklund, Bob Smith and Mick Riley, AWS president. The auction will be sponsored by AWS.

Assembly to Herald Weekend Festivities

A snowball rally this Friday evening, beginning at the Gamma Phi house and Casablanca lodge, will start off the proceedings of Junior Weekend this year, said Anne Craven and Edith Newton, co-chairmen of Junior Weekend, Monday.

The rally, beginning at opposite ends of the campus at 8:30 p.m., will meet midway on the campus and continue to the Student Union Meeting Slated

All Student Union committee chairmen and members, as well as anyone else interested in Student Union, will meet Wednesday night at 7 in 104 Journalism building, it was decided at an all-campus Student Union meeting Monday afternoon.

"All committee chairmen are requested to contact all their committee members, as it is imperative that they be at the meeting," Gene Conklin, chairman of the all-campus committee, announced.

At this meeting each chairman will give a report on the progress and work accomplished by his committee. Among these are the three class committees who within the past week have been surveying student opinion on Student Union facilities. At the Monday meeting the freshman group reported on possible club and game facilities for the building.

Paul Lum, junior in liberal arts, was appointed chairman of a committee to compile a complete history of the Student Union movement on the campus. Anyone interested in aiding with research is asked to contact either Lum or Marty Beard, secretary of the all-campus committee.

Phi Theta Upsilon Elects Signe Eklund President

New Phi Theta Upsilon members were initiated and 1944-45 officers were elected at a meeting Monday night at the Sigma Kappa house.

Signe Eklund, sophomore in liberal arts, was elected president by the new group of 29 members of the junior women's service honorary. Virginia Wright, newly-elected junior class president, received the vice-presidential position.

Mary Corrigan, sophomore in journalism, and Mary McCandless, sophomore in liberal arts, were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

New custodian will be Sally Twohy, sophomore in business administration.

Oregana Positions Due

Petitions for the positions of managing editors and positions on the upper staff of the 1945 Oregana are due today at 5 p.m. Edith Newton, editor, announced. They should be turned in to the Oregana office in the journalism building.

Students with experience on the Oregana or other yearbooks are asked to turn in petitions stating the applicant's experience and plans.

Dr. Sanchez Speaks Today

Luis-Alberto Sanchez, who will speak tonight at 8 in 207 Chapman hall on "The Latin American Novel and Its Social Content," is considered the outstanding critic of Spanish-American literature. Dr. Sanchez, a 43-year-old native of Peru, has written many books and articles dealing with literary criticism, as well as politics and history.

His visit to the University campus is part of a special trip to the United States under the auspices of the Institute of International Relations, and his talk is one of a series of faculty lectures. Several years ago he visited the United States at the invitation of the Library of Congress and several other groups. During his stay he did research in the Library of Congress, taught at Columbia university, and traveled throughout the country.

This enabled him to become acquainted with the American people, and as a result he wrote a book upon his study and understanding of them.

Director of the national library in Lima, Peru, he received the degree of doctor of history, philosophy and letters from San Marcos university there. San Marcos and the University of Mexico are the two oldest universities on the American continent. Dr. Sanchez has

(Please turn to page four)

Order of 'O' to Enforce Traditions Starting May 1

As it does every year during the week previous to Junior Weekend, the Order of the "O" next week will enforce the time-honored traditions of Junior Weekend, announced Sally Spiess, chairman of traditions, Monday. Herb Hoffman, sophomore in business administration, will be in charge of the "O" men.

UO Theft of OSC Talent Revealed

A theft comparable to the stealing by California of Oregon's Crater lake and Mount Hood was uncovered Saturday morning. Shortly after Saturday's Emerald was circulated, staff member were informed that the University had unintentionally "stolen" Jean Heather, identified in a story as an Oregon graduate. That was bad.

But what makes it worse is the fact that she was "stolen" from our Corn Valley rivals, Oregon State college, which she attended before graduating from the University of Washington.

P.S.: Her real name is Jean Heatherston.

All the old traditions of years gone by will be in force this year, said Mrs. Spiess. For all freshman girls, announcement was made that they are to wear green ribbons in their hair beginning Monday, May 1. All freshman boys must wear their class emblem—the yellow and green rooters' lids.

No walking—by anyone—on the lawn of the lower campus will be tolerated, nor will smoking on or around the buildings of the old campus be allowed.

Hello walk, the walk running from Villard hall to Fenton hall, will also be honored. All students going down the walk must speak to anyone they meet, whether they know them or not.

Penalty for non-participation in the famous traditions of Junior Weekend will be stiff, Mrs. Spiess

(Please turn to page four)

First All-Campus V League Meet Set

The first all-campus meeting of the Total Victory league will be held tonight at 7:30 in alumni hall of Gerlinger. Everyone, regardless of his opinions on the subject of postwar plans, is urged to come. The idea is to look forward and to get people thinking about the future, stresses Peggy Magill, president.

But the idea of community discussions, and on the campus the student body is a community, is not new. Old town meetings dated way back to colonial times. Entire townships were run on the theory that everyone had ideas about how to solve certain problems, both present and future. Some towns in this country are still organized under this plan, with regular meetings, when everyone is expected to come and "say their mind."

Early in the 1930's the University of Oregon was selected by state community planners as the institution which could best encourage and direct open forums and community organization. Under the direction of the social science department and with the help of state leaders in this type of public meeting, groups met and talked over plans. But the depression and other factors pushed the plan into the background.

Later a student international relations club was organized to discuss the same problems, but it was later disbanded, also. The Total Victory league hopes to arouse the enthusiasm which flared when these previous groups began—not with the hope of outlining any course of action, but with the aim of discussing all problems which will arise after the war.

Discussion of Inter-American Affairs Planned for Oregon

Citizens of Oregon will have the opportunity to learn more about inter-American relations through an Institute of Inter-American Affairs, being inaugurated by the general extension division of the Oregon state system of higher education. The extension division is working in cooperation with the federal coordinator of inter-American affairs, represented by Churchill Murray, assistant director for the Pacific coast area, of San Francisco. A pamphlet outlining the forms and aims and purposes of the institute is being published at the University press.

Forums for the discussion of inter-American affairs have already been scheduled for several Oregon cities, as follows: Klamath Falls, May 2; Eugene, May 3; Corvallis, May 4; Portland, May 5; and La Grande, May 6. Dr. Hubert Herring, a leading authority on South American affairs, will be the discussion leader for these programs, which usually consist of luncheon and afternoon and evening sessions.

Assisting Dr. Herring, whose services have been made available by the office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs, will be a discussion group comprised principally of staff members of the University and Oregon State college. Local organizations such as service clubs, women's organizations, and church groups are co-operating in sponsoring the forums.

Headquarters for the institute are the office of dean and director of the general extension division, 814 Oregon building, Portland 4, Oregon. He will arrange for lectures, conferences, and forums, and will furnish names of qualified speakers.

A second feature of the institute will be to serve as a depository and distributor of films and literature furnished by the office of coordinator of inter-American affairs. An education bureau has been established in the department of visual education at Corvallis, with Dr. Curtis Reid in charge of this activity. More than 50 films picturing resources, life, and scenery in the other American countries are available, for the cost of transportation.

(Please turn to page four)

Hey, You Freshmen—Don't Miss This

At 4:30 sharp this afternoon, all freshmen interested in helping to put out the streamlined freshman edition on Friday will meet in room 10, Journalism building, with ideas.

The following are especially requested to be present: Betty French Robertson, Marguerite Wittwer, Winifred Romtvedt, Jean Lawrence, Ervin Webb, Betty Sailor, Maryan Howard, Don Nielsen, Louise Robson, Barbara Smythe, Joanna Mapes, and Marilyn Sage.