

Band Set for Prom

Bill Fisher Ork To Supply Music

Bill Fisher's band from Portland will be on hand to supply music when the junior class presents the traditional Junior Prom Saturday night in the Igloo.

During intermission at 10:15 members of the Prom committee will serve punch to the patrons and patronesses. Members of the Eugene Oregon Mothers club will serve refreshments to guests in the balcony.

Queen Anita and her court, Princesses Pegge Klepper, Frances Colton, Phyllis Horstman, and Elaine Wilson, will be formally introduced by Marion Gage, president of the junior class. The Gerlinger cup will be presented to the outstanding junior woman by Dean Hazel P. Schwering, and the Koyl cup will be presented to the outstanding junior man.

Tickets for this weekend event are $1.50 plus tax per couple. They will be available this week to students and soldiers at the Co-op, the educational activities office, the barracks, and other men's living organizations. Anyone holding a ticket will be eligible to vote for prime minister at the election to be held Friday in the Co-op.

The Prom, as is traditional, will be formal. Flowers may be worn if desired. To carry out the theme, "Mother Goose Goes to War," the decoration committee whipped up some nice surprises. Miss Riley has asked that anyone interested in helping her with the decorations should call her at 2340.

Men Not in Service Asked to See Dean

All men 17 years and older who have not been committed to any branch of the armed services either voluntarily or otherwise are asked to see Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, before Friday, May 5.

Oregon Seal to Get Traditional Polish

Freshmen men and women will get their chance to shine Saturday, when they polish the Oregon Seal in front of Villard hall, a traditional function of Junior Weekend. Jack Cairns, in charge of the scrubbing, has asked that all house presidents be responsible for getting their freshmen to the seal by 1 p.m. Saturday.

Campus Cleanup Scheduled for Today

Excitement began to mount last night when several eager coeds climbed into jeans and went out after dinner to survey the areas to which their houses had been assigned for the annual campus clean-up campaign today.

Each house will begin policing up their individual section of the University acres today, and by tonight Gloria Malloy and Bob Smith, chairmen of the committee in charge, expect to see all lawns and streets cleared of papers and unsightly debris.

"The girls will be allowed to wear jeans and slacks during the actual clean-up work. Here's a chance to get out into the sun for a tan and be doing a real service to the school while you clean up your areas," maintained Miss Malloy.

Bob "Joe College" Smith added: "and don't forget that the house which does the best all-around job of cleaning up will be awarded a prize at the big campus luncheon Saturday."

The area around the College Side Inn, Taylor's, and down Kincaid to the YWCA bungalow has been assigned to Hilyard house, Birch lodge, and Rebec house. The foregoing three houses had not been assigned an area in yesterday's report.

Dr. H. Herring Outlines Three Basic Ingredients

Three ingredients needed for sound Inter-American relations were outlined by Dr. Hubert Herring, director of committee on cultural relationships with Latin America, in a talk Wednesday night for the institute of Inter-American affairs.

"Realism is the first of these ingredients. You can't build sound relations with sweet music, and there has been too much of this and not enough realism," Dr. Herring said.

Second of the ingredients is imagination, the director stated, because imagination is always needed in dealing with people.

Greatest of the ingredients is respect, Dr. Herring emphasized. "The fundamental thing wrong with the relations now is that few people of the United States expect anything good to come from South America. There can never be any good Pan-Americanism without respect," he said.

Dr. Herring traced the beginnings of Pan-Americanism from the dreams of Simon Bolivar to the present "good neighbor" policy. That Latin Americans are suspicious at times of this sudden fondness for them was stressed by the doctor.

"It's gotten so that the South Americans can just send a penny postcard to Washington and get anything from the Congressional Record to an admiral with a full fleet in return," the Columbia graduate laughed.

The way to go about obtaining better relations, according to Dr. Herring, is through economic co-operation, based upon stabilization of currency and a strengthening of industry; and through cultural interchange.

"Inter-Americanism cannot be a political football if it is to succeed," he warned. Dr. Herring at-

Campus to Picnic Saturday at 5:30

Supper eaten under the trees on the lower campus is in store for everyone this Saturday at 5:30 p.m.. Wartime restrictions prevent the serving of the supper by the junior class, but ice cream and coffee will be provided, to go with the suppers which must be brought from home.

Tickets for the picnic will be sold in each living organization for 25 cents.

Traditions will be the order of the day and it is warned that penalties will be stiff for those who don't conform.

There are to be no white shoes worn by students of any class. Freshman girls must continue to wear their green ribbons, and boys must wear their class pants. Girls cannot talk to boys until the queen is crowned. Fellows can talk to the girls, however, and a word to the wise should be sufficient. Girls, don't answer!

Girls who have been guilty of slipping up on traditions this week will be dunked in the pool next to Fenton hall, and those who talk to the wrong sex will receive the same punishment. Boys not obeying the rules will be unceremoniously hucked.

The program of the picnic will be highlighted by the crowning of Queen Anita. The traditional tapping of the honoraries, Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, Friars, senior men's honorary, and Asklepiads, medical fraternity, will take place.

Announcement has been made that during the picnic there will be a Canoe Fete.

Order of 'O' Men Dish Out Medicine

The ever-vigilant Order of the "O" has reported a long list of offenders of Junior Weekend traditions. The following people must report at 12:45 this afternoon on the front steps of Fenton hall, "to take their medicine," says Herb Hoffman, president.

Those who did not report yesterday to get their hacks were Al Halteman, Robert E. Clark, Gordon Gellatly, Bill Patterson, Paul McBride, Don Jeppeson, Dick Potter.

New offenders to the crimes of walking on the lower campus lawn, smoking there, or not wearing their class pants, were: Don Taylor, Joe Lind, Glenn Fisher, Sam Benvenisti, Bob Schott, Bill Baird, Bill Patterson, Harry Lee, Bob Smith, Fred Hessel, Morrie Mink, Bob Bisset, Dick Johns, Paul McBride, Keith Murphy, Russ Monahan, Winthrop Ware, Bill Patterson (for the third time), C. W. Osborn, Roy Koski, Bob Mueller, Don Tucker, Gilbert Roberts, Art Butterfield, Edward McDonald.

It seems that the girls are being more careful than they have been, because only one female was apprehended yesterday by the "O" men. Jean MacPherson was the sole girl to be caught today.

Weekenders to See Dramatists in Action

A special feature has been added to the Junior Weekend program. Under the direction of Horace Robinson, acting head of the drama department, members of the technique of acting class will present scenes from three great modern plays.

Especially for the pleasure of visiting mothers, the plays will be presented at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, in the University theater. It is estimated that the presentations will last approximately an hour and a half.

No admission will be charged, and the public is invited.

"Hedda Gabler," by Ibsen, will be played by Dorothy Weygandt, sophomore in music. Margaret Murphy, senior in liberal arts, is in the role of Tia Elvesteadt.

The second play from which a scene will be presented is Daphne Du Maurier's famous "Rebecca." Margie Shearn will play Mrs. Danvers, and Jean Briggs will portray the role of Mrs. De Winter.

"Mary, Queen of Scots," by Maxwell Anderson, will have in the title role Katherine Korn. Playing opposite her, as Queen Elizabeth, will be Dorothy Rosenberg.

It is the first time that scenes such as these have been presented during Junior Weekend, but advance reports indicate that the work done in the scenes is excellent and enjoyable.

Top Poetry Prizes Won

Peggy Overland, junior in liberal arts, has been awarded the Burgess prize for her poem entitled "Narrow Circumference" the English department announced Wednesday.

Helen M. Johnson, editor of this year's Oregonian, received honorable mention for her poem, "Return."

The Kidd prize goes to Claudine Biggs, sophomore in liberal arts, for her poem "Cornucopia," honorable mention going to Mrs. Theodosia Goodman, sophomore in liberal arts, for her poem entitled "Husbandry and War."

Judges in the contests were Dr. R. D. Horn, Mrs. Alice Ernst, and Mr. E. G. Moll, who expressed themselves as well pleased with the quality of the manuscripts submitted, saying that they found the work of the students sincere, technically competent, and in some cases poetically significant.

Copies of these poems are available in the English office but can be released for publication only by permission of the authors.

Joint Recital Due Tonight

Charlotte Allen, flutist, and Betty Jean Taylor, pianist, will present a joint flute and piano recital tonight at 8 p.m. at the music auditorium. Both girls are seniors in music, and this program will be the graduation recital for them.

Miss Allen will play the Mozart "Concerto in D-major"; "Orientale," by Keller; "Syrinx," by Debussy (unaccompanied); "Badinerie," by Bach; "Serenade," by Hue, and "Cantabile et Presto," by Respighi.

Miss Taylor will perform the "Sonata No. 20," by Galuppi; the "Andante con Variazione, in E-minor," by Haydn; "Sonatine," by Ravel, and "Bruyeres," by Debussy.

Accompanist will be Miss Elizabeth Schaefer, Eugene.

Lane Republicans To Rally Tonight at 8

Rallying their forces behind Wayne L. Morse, former dean of the law school, in his campaign for senator, all interested republicans will meet in the Woodrow Wilson junior high school auditorium tonight at 8.

An informal forum, discussing vital issues of the day, will be a feature of the rally, which is the last that will be held in Lane county before the Oregon primary on May 19. Following his talk, Morse will answer questions from the floor. Community singing and special music are also on the program.

All students, especially those of voting age, are encouraged to come, says Harry Skerry, president of the University Morse for Senator club.

Other republican candidates on the May 19 ballot will be introduced from the platform.

Dixie Cup Vendors On Campus Today

In order to refresh campus clean-up workers, Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism honorary, will sell ice cream dixie cups from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in front of the Co-op, library, and Friendly hall.

The following girls will have charge of the booths: 10 to 11, Betty Lambert, Co-op; Margaret McGee, Friendly; Phyllis Lloyd, Library; 11 to 12, Joanna Mapes, Co-op, Jean Lawrence, library; Flora Furrow, Friendly.

1 to 2, Anna Mae Winship and Jackie McKenzie, Co-op; Gloria Fick, library; Betty Sailor, Friendly; 2 to 3, Betty Sailor, Co-op; Beverly Carrol, library; Pat Maloney, Friendly; 3 to 4, Winifred Romtvedt, Co-op; Margaret McGee, library; Pat Maloney, Friendly; 4 to 5, Louise Montag, Co-op; Grace Edwards, library; Marguerite Wittwer, Friendly.

Program Planned By Westminster

Westminster house will welcome mothers this weekend with open house held all day Saturday and Sunday and a special program of music and devotions planned for Sunday morning.

The worship service will be held at 9:45 Sunday with Lois Clause, president, welcoming the mothers. Other students who will speak are Thelma Nelson, "College Students' Mothers"; Bill Deskin, "The Army, and Mothers"; Pauline Smith, "Mothers of History"; Sue Ferniman, "My Mother," and Claudine Biggs, an original poem. The worship service will be led by Andy Montgomery.

Special music is planned and coffee and rolls will be served at 9:30.

The evening forum subject is, "What Shall We Do With Germany," and participants will be Marian Gage, sophomore in liberal arts; Pvt. Frank Lawson of the air corps; and Pvt. Fred McGeoch of the pre-meds. The discussion begins at 6:30 following a social tea at 6 o'clock.
