Ex-UO Prexy Top Pi Phi

Singled out as the outstanding Pi Phi from six northwest campuses Nancy Ames, 1943-44 ASUO president, leaves Portland Saturday for the University of Maryland where she will be adviser to a new chapter of Pi Beta Phi to be established there.

Miss Ames last spring was chosen as the province candidate for the annual Amy B. Onken award of funds for further education. The schools included in the province are: University of Idaho, University of Washington, University of Oregon, Washington State College, Oregon State College, and the University of British Columbia.

Scholarship, participation in campus activities, contribution to the campus as a whole, and personality were the qualifications which won for Miss Ames the Pi Phi graduate scholarship. The promotion of these elements of successful coed living, with special emphasis on scholarship, will be the chief interest of the tall, dark-haired Portlander when she takes over the responsibility of proctoring the new chapter.

Nancy Ames graduated with honors in English from the University last June and plans to study political science in Maryland. Her post-war blueprints include a possible trip to Europe to engage in some form of government work, probably reconstruction activities in the liberated or captured nations.

Due to the proximity of College Park, Maryland, to Washington, D.C., Miss Ames expects to contact some of the many Oregon alumni who are working in that city. She was on this campus during rush week to help the Pi Phis, speak to several of the professors, and to copy a list of the UO alumni who are living in the vicinity of the capital.

Registration to Begin

President's reception will take place in the Alumni hall at 9 p.m.

The traditional Hello dance will be substituted by a terrace dance and program in the hall. Yells and songs will be led by the rally squad and there will also be a talent program. Full details have not yet been revealed.

Lt. Les Anderson Wounded In France

Lt. Lester Anderson, president of ASUO in 1942-43, has been wounded for the second time in France, according to a letter received from him by Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration.

Lieutenant Anderson was awarded the Purple Heart after shrapnel grazed his cheek at Saint Lo. He did not reveal the extent of his present injuries but expected to be back with his outfit in a few weeks.

Former Emerald Editor Marries In Egypt

Cairo, Egypt, was the scene of the marriage late in August of Helen Angell, editor of the Emerald in 1941-42, and Jeffrey Kitchen, business manager of the Oregonian in 1942-43.

The ceremony was performed by a British army chaplain in the All Saints cathedral and was followed by a wedding supper at the Mohammed Ali club.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen are both civilian government employees attached to the army.

Mrs. Kitchen was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta and various honoraries. She was an associate editor of the Reader's Digest after she graduated from the University in 1942.

Mr. Kitchen attended the National Institute of Public Affairs and then entered his government work.
