

EDITOR SELECTED; EX-SOLDIERS MEET

Miss Anne Craven To Head Paper

Anne Craven, acting editor of The Emerald, last night was appointed 1944-45 editor by the educational activities board. The appointment is subject to the approval of the ASUO executive council.

Miss Craven fills the position left vacant when Marjorie Young did not return to the campus.

Commenting on her appointment, Miss Craven said her policy would be one of presenting the news accurately and completely on the news pages with fair and unbiased criticisms and opinions on the editorial page. She announced no changes in staff positions at this time. Upper staff members include Norris Yates, managing editor; Elizabeth Haugen, news editor; Peggy Overland and Louise Montag, associate editors.

Miss Craven, a senior in journalism, is also chairman of the campus war board and associate editor of Old Oregon.

Young GOPs Slate Parade

The all-campus parade and rally planned by the Young Republicans club will be changed to a snowball rally from living organizations only in case of rain, it was decided at the meeting yesterday by the committee in charge.

Present plans announced by Harry Skerry, chairman, include a general rally of houses organized by their individual representatives and a parade which will form at the railroad station in Eugene to welcome vice-presidential candidate John W. Bricker. The parade, including if possible a band and the rally squad, will proceed up Willamette street, assimilating townspeople on the way, and climax at McArthur court where Bricker will speak to the public.

Red Cross Hears Speech

Mrs. Cora Pirtle spoke to about 30 University Red Cross members at Gerlinger Tuesday on the origin of the Red Cross and its services in the war. Mrs. Pirtle, the executive secretary of the Lane county Red Cross, also brought samples of the comfort kit, a bag given to service men before they go overseas.

To fill positions on the University chapter of the Red Cross this fall, five new chairmen were chosen Tuesday afternoon.

Heading the sewing committee will be Eileen Fisher. Other committee heads are Phyllis Perkins on the accident prevention com-

Guide Work Commences

Pigger's Guide workers started yesterday to type the names, addresses, and phone numbers so essential to campus life, Miss Jean Lawrence, editor, reports.

Students typing for the directory are Karen Martin, Mary Bruce Crane, Patt Skinner, and Naida Fishback, freshmen in liberal arts; Betty Ditto, freshman in art, and Berta Reische, sophomore in liberal arts. Eileen Fisher, sophomore in liberal arts, will be the assistant editor. Annamae Winship, national advertising manager of the Emerald, is the business manager. The cover design will be done by

New Adviser System Put to Use This Term

"With all arrangements at last completed there goes into effect this fall for the first time a new system for conference between advisers and students," Mr. L. K. Shumaker, director of lower division advisers, announced yesterday.

The lower division advisers' office, on the left as one enters Johnson hall, will be used as a conference room for meetings between advisers and students.

Some advisers who have many advisees are nearly swamped just before and during registration by students trying to arrange schedules for the next term. It is planned that sometime during the term, preferably the middle, each adviser and student will meet in the conference room.

Planning Made Easier

With the help of the student's balance sheet, prepared by Mr. Shumaker to show exactly what requirements have been met and what the student has yet to complete, his next term's schedule can easily be planned and registration will become simply a matter of collecting a few signatures and paying one's tuition. If the registrar or dean of personnel needs to be consulted they are readily avail-

Organizing Vetoed by Veterans

Forty-five of the sixty veterans on the campus last night voted down the formation of a committee to form plans of organization of a separate group of veterans on the campus.

Kenneth Geiger, who originated the plan for the meeting and veterans' organization, was called upon by George Luoma, who was elected temporary chairman, to explain the purposes and functions of such an organization. According to Geiger, who said last week that the organization was "to form an active social veterans' group," the motive now would be to help incoming veterans "overcome any obstacles they may encounter as they register."

Parley Held

An open discussion was held in regard to the formation of such an organization. A general feeling for the use of more initiative on the part of all campus men students to promote social and other activities was expressed by several veterans.

"This view was brought forth particularly due to the present lack of a definite social program for all students," said Mr. Luoma.

Action Deferred

The organization of an active campus veterans' group, either as a membership for all veterans or some kind of advisory council, should not be considered a dead issue, according to Luoma, because of the group's decision not to formulate definite plans at this time.

First Assembly Scheduled For ASUO Thursday Morning

The opening University assembly, to be held this Thursday at 11 o'clock in McArthur court, marks the restoration of the popular Thursday assemblies after a year's lapse.

The purpose of this formal assembly is to arouse more interest in campus activities and to stir up "school spirit." A full attendance is expected as all 11 o'clock classes on Thursday have been omitted.

Prizes Await Best Ticket Drive Heads

There are three $5 prizes yet to be won by the living organizations and three $3 prizes for their chairmen who come through 100 per cent in the current athletic ticket drive, according to Gerd Hansen, chairman.

About 700 basketball tickets have been sold, with the Alpha Gamma sorority the first house to go over the top. It was followed by the Delta Delta Delta sorority, which won second place, and the Delta Gamma sorority, which took third place.

Basketball tickets will be turned over to house chairmen when they present the voucher cards to Miss Hansen. When a house goes 100 per cent, she should be notified immediately.

The tickets, which cost $4.80, entitle the holder to view 8 pre-conference games and 8 conference games. This represents a saving of $7.60, for the regular admission prices for these 16 games would total $12.40.

"Why Are We Here?" will be the topic of President Hollis' address, a current subject which should be of interest to every student on this campus.

Student Prexy to Speak

Audrey Holliday, ASUO president, plans to "Keynote the Year" in her address, touching on the main points of student activities and of the attitude of the student government.

The University band, organized and directed by John Stehn, will make its first appearance of the season. The band is made up of forty-five members, most of whom are girls. The number of boys in the group, however, surpasses that of last year. The band will be heard playing "Mighty Oregon," several well-known marches, and a group of service songs, including "Anchors Aweigh," "Marine Hymn," and the "Caisson Song."

Plans are underway for pop assemblies in the future.

Art Museum Will Open Doors Sunday at 3 p.m.

The Murray-Warner Museum of Oriental Art will open for the first time this term Sunday, October 8, at 3 o'clock. This has been announced by Mrs. Gertrude Bass Warner, donor of the art exhibitions and director of the museum.

Excepting for one exhibition which is the Russian Icons, all other pieces in the museum have been devoted to Oriental art.

During the summer, several changes took place in the museum. Two Chinese painting galleries were reorganized. One of these galleries is hung with pictures which have never been exhibited in the museum.

Collection Augmented

Another addition to the museum has been made on the first floor. New exhibitions of Chinese textiles have been hung up for exhibition. Another interesting room to be found on the first floor is the border line room which is devoted to material from Cambodia, Tibet, Mongolia, and Korea.

Students may visit the museum of art during these hours: Wednesday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.; and Saturday and Sunday, 3 to 5 p.m. The museum library is open on Monday and Tuesday, 3 to 5 p.m.; Wednesday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.; and Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday, 3 to 5 p.m.
