

Wide Selection of Books Offered by Co-op Library

The rental library in the Co-op is an important section which some students seem to have missed in the rush of school opening. Membership to this library costs only $1 per term, and with this the student may read as many books as he desires. One book can be withdrawn at a time, and each book may be kept a whole week. If held after one week, regular rental rates will be charged. This means a 3c charge per day for fiction and a 5c charge a day for nonfiction.

The rental library has a wide selection of books, including novels, mysteries, plays, and outstanding nonfiction. New selections include "Time Must Have a Stop," Huxley; "Cluny Brown," Sharp; "Green Dolphin Street," Goudge; "Freedom Road," Fast; "Pastoral," Shute; "Esme of Paris," Davis; "Night Unto Night," Wylie; "Rome Hanks," Pennell; "Land I Have Chosen," Berlin; "Leave Her to Heaven," Williams; "Time for Decision," Welles; "Letters of Alexander Woollcott," and "Immortal Wife," Stone.

Books on order are "Everybody's Political What's What," Shaw; "State of the Nation," Dos Passos; "The World of Washington Irving," Brooks; "Journey Through Chaos," Meyer; "The Four Fears," Thomas, and "Democracy Reborn," Wallace.

Modern Art On Exhibition

The University of Oregon art school has on exhibition a new group of paintings which are being circulated by the Museum of Modern Art, New York. This exhibition answers the question: "What are young artists doing today?" because the paintings were done by twelve young contemporary artists. The work is done in watercolor, oil, crayon, ink, and pencil. There are also short biographies of the painters and descriptions of their work. Some of the painters represented are: Darrel Austin, Jacob Lawrence, Walter Stuempfig, and Francesco Custofanetti.

try and of the world depends on our foreign relations; it is the duty of the president to name our diplomats on whom the burden of world affairs rests. Internally, the president chooses the judges on the bench of the supreme court. There are various philosophies of law, and for the three terms of the Roosevelt administration the bench has reflected the New Deal philosophy since FDR appointed 88 per cent of the membership.

"Why Dewey?" he questioned again, "Because Bricker is a man of presidential caliber, a man able and prepared to lead this country in any emergency. We must face the fact that Roosevelt is no longer a man in the prime of life. If he fell by the wayside, Truman would be president. You all know that Truman got where he is by the influence of Boss Pendergast, and although I do not question Truman's integrity, he has been quoted often as 'sticking to his friends.'"

Lodge as examples of the men who in 1918 "gave support to frustrations of the League of Nations" and who now comprise the same forces at work today under this campaign to elect Dewey as a peace-shaping president. He urged University students to read "Versailles and After" by John Maynard Keynes, which gives the facts to bear out his statements concerning the League's defeat after the last war.

Luncheon Club Opens At Y.W.

Lois Greenwood, executive secretary of the YWCA, announced Thursday that the "Y" luncheon club has begun its daily lunch hours.

Miss Greenwood stated that the group this year is smaller than in previous years and is anxious to have more girls attend.

Although this club is not a regular organization, it does have a president. Miss Ruth Robertson holds this office at present.

Girls who bring their meals are the ones who are invited to join. There is a place at the Y Bungalow where students may leave their lunches in the morning. During the noon hour the girls use the main room of the "Y" as their meeting place.

Before this year it has been a custom for the members to bring one hot dish each day. This is rotated so that each girl has her turn.

For further information, contact Miss Greenwood at the "Y" Bungalow.

SAVING AMERICA TIME AND EFFORT

TO DEVELOP AND USE ways and means for saving time and effort is a typical American trait. You see it among your classmates and you exhibit the same shrewdness when you send your packages, laundry and baggage, home and return, by Railway Express. The pick-up and delivery at your door, and the quick forwarding by fast trains, or by superspeed Air Express planes, is a shipping service unique in American life. It has saved time and effort for generations of college students.

These nation-wide facilities are now being utilized to their utmost by the government, industry and the public. You can help Railway Express to carry its share of this war-time load by doing three simple things: Wrap your packages securely—address them clearly—express them early. "A shipment started right is half-way there."
