

Alder Hall Nets Win

A 35-yard touchdown pass from Don Fulgham to Chuck Butler Tuesday afternoon extended Alder hall's victorious gridiron march to two straight wins in as many starts. The game was close throughout but the Alder boys eked out a 7-0 victory over the tough Boyd's squad.

Butler set up a scoring play by intercepting a pass thrown by Bill Uhle and intended for Ray Carter in the third quarter of play. Two downs later Butler scored on a pass from Fulgham and Gil Roberts booted the pigskin through the uprights for the extra point.

The lineup:
Alder Hall (7)
 Roberts C
 Johnston RE
 Stamper LE
 Butler F
 Van Allen Q
 Fulgham RH
 Hasson LH
 Substitutions: Alder — Martin, Boyken, Smith, Wright.

 government," commented Elmer Sahlstrom, chairman of the Young Democrats group.

"It is rarely that University students, or any group of citizens, receive the chance to hear and compare several candidates on one platform at the same time," Harry Skerry, chairman of the Young Republicans said. "We should all attend, if possible, in order to hear the views of all the candidates."

Questions which the speakers will discuss are:

1. Do you favor a world union of all nations or a plan whereby the major powers accept responsibility for preserving the peace in given sections of the world?
2. What is your attitude toward an international police force? Only an air force? Recruitment?
3. Should the president have the authority to call out troops for international police service without an act of congress?
4. Do you advocate the present method of ratifying treaties? If not, how?
5. Would you change the two-thirds rule to majority on limiting debate in order to prevent filibustering?
6. If your best judgment did not agree with the opinion of your constituents, which should prevail?

National Poetry

 tion will be published in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry and will afford the writer an opportunity to compare his work with that being done in other colleges and universities throughout the country.

There are no charges or fees for the inclusion of verse. Each effort must be typewritten on one side of a single sheet of standard size paper. Space is limited and more favorable consideration given by the judges to shorter poems.

Each piece of original work must carry the following statement: "The verse entitled '.....' is my own personal effort." and must be signed by the author. The name of the university and the writer's home address must be enclosed.

Manuscripts must be submitted before November 5, 1944, to the National Poetry association, 3210 Selby avenue, Los Angeles 34, California.

 chairman of the Oregon post-war readjustment and development program.

The creation of a market for the finished products was also discussed by the group. An answer to this reconversion problem may be found in the plans for the development of trade and commerce in the Pacific areas. Another possibility is the immense tourist traffic expected after the war.

Due to the fact that the European theater of war is likely to close, there is a strong fear that the time element will create a problem on this coast.

"In view of this fear for our economic future the conference recommended that a continuing committee, including one representative from each of the eleven states, be appointed to present the problem to our congressional delegation and other government agencies to see that the west is not penalized in the conversion process," Dr. Morris said.

He pointed out that the proportion of war workers and veterans for whom peace jobs must be found are about the same as in the other states represented at the conference. Our preparations to meet this problem seem to be in line with those developed elsewhere.

Oregon is ahead of the other western states in regard to the attitudes and efforts of local communities who have been making plans to handle their own individual problems, Morris said.

The eleven states represented at the conference were Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Nevada, California, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico.

Fight to Live

Essentially "The Skin of Our Teeth" portrays man's struggle for existence, from Adam to Post War II. It is crazy and true; nonsensical and deeply sensible; vaudeville corn and splendid theater. Man is Mr. Antrobus. He invents the alphabet, sails Noah's ark, and propounds postwar plans for peace. He is crudeness and culture, and he survives by the skin of his teeth.

Sabina, the Antrobus' maid, is the voice of the people, the common people, who must have a movie to go to on Saturday nights or they give two weeks' notice. Mrs. Antrobus is the family, the honored institutions, good common sense. She's interested in silk worms and tomatoes, and most of all in her children. Gladys and Henry, with the brand of Cain on his forehead. E. T. and M. Muse, Moses in Hebrew and Homer reciting Greek, and the telegraph boy singing "Happy Wedding Anniversary to You" are all part of the kaleidoscopic view of this history.

Faculty Adds Seven to Staff

Increased enrollment in Romance language, music, women's physical education, and English courses has necessitated the appointment of seven new instructors, Orlando J. Hollis, acting president, said Tuesday. Although some of the new faculty is on the campus now, final approval of most of the appointments will be made at the meeting of the state board of higher education on October 24.

Although the increase in the student body is only ten per cent, the acting president pointed out, there are 19 per cent more freshmen this year—902 as compared to 757 at the same time last year. This accounts for increased enrollment in required English composition and physical education courses, and beginning Spanish and French courses.

of Man which Mr. Wilder has created.

All-Student Cast

In the University Theater production Lewis Vogler, sophomore in music; Dorothy Weygandt, junior in music; and Bev Brunton, a newcomer to the University Theater, will play Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus and Sabina, respectively. Others included in the cast are: Marilyn Rowling, Gladys; Shubert Fendricks, Henry; Del McKay, Mr. Fitzpatrick; Betty Jean Miller, the dinosaur teller; Ruthe Foreman, the dinosaur; Roberta Quigley, the mammoth; Sam Benveniste, telegraph boy; Paul Lum, the doctor; Bill Ireland, professor and broadcast official; Del Jones and Virginia Woods, Hester and Ivy; Lee Petrusek, Fred Bailey; Elizabeth Dean, Libby Helen Spiruta, and Dedo Misley as the Three Muses.

The University of Buffalo has established a course in military German.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

A meeting of the war board has been called for this afternoon at 4 in the war board office in McArthur court. All committee chairmen are expected to be present.
