

YW Group Seeks Girls

Students who are interested in contributing to the popular flying speech squadrons have been invited to a meeting Thursday at 4 p.m. in the YW bungalow. Marge Skordahl, chairman of the squadrons, has announced that several positions for skit writers and public speakers are open, and that there is a great demand for girls to join the squadrons in making announcements in the various houses.

Two girls will be chosen from each house, and in order to make the judging fair, Miss Skordahl has asked that each house be well represented at the meeting. If a house has no students at the meeting, no one will be chosen from it. Appointments will be announced Friday.

Jo Dolph, president of the YWCA and originator of the FSS, will be at the meeting.

Art School Bulletin Out With Alumni Addresses

In the middle of September the school of architecture and allied arts mailed the second issue of its bulletin which is sent to all men and women, former art majors, in the armed forces or in defense work. Between four and five hundred copies were sent.

The bulletin is a factual statement locating each individual and giving the branch of service in which he or she is serving. It also covers personal information about former students.

Any help in securing additional addresses for the file will be greatly appreciated. Such information should be given to Mrs. Mabel A. Houck, librarian of the art school.

Honorary Tries 24 Swimmers

Twenty-four would-be Amphibians turned out Tuesday to compete in the tryouts sponsored by the swimming honorary.

These girls demonstrated a variety of strokes and swimming forms, upon which they were judged, on the point system, by members of the Amphibians. There will be another opportunity for girls of all classes to be tested for eligibility in this organization; a second tryout has been scheduled for October 17 at 4 in the Gerlinger pool.

Houses Use Moving Libe

Books again are being distributed among the various living organizations under the "traveling house library" plan, according to Miss Bernice Rise, head of circulation at the library.

Under this plan, each living organization appoints an individual who is responsible for borrowing and returning the books. The books may be kept one month.

Miss Rise originated the idea in 1934, when $400 was donated by the Interfraternity council for this purpose. There are now several hundred books in the traveling library, most of which have been purchased with money donated by students and various student organizations. Included in the collection are books concerning music, art, the dance, and fiction.

Officers of the house librarians are Nancy Boles, president; Mary Landry, vice-president; Phyllis Perkins, secretary, and Phyllis Donovan, treasurer.
