Former Student Now in Holland

David F. Knox, former UO student, has covered a lot of territory since graduating from the University, according to a letter received by Dean Onthank.
 He reported that the natives of both France and Belgium were "exceedingly happy" to see American soldiers. "It was not unusual for the women to rush out and kiss us on both cheeks," he wrote.
 On his trip across the ocean he saw Wayne Harbert, another Oregon student. Knox is now in Holland.
 Mrs. Phyllis Gray Knox, his wife, formerly accompanist for the Eugene Gleemen, is now studying music at Boston. She presented a concert at the University last spring.

Chemistry Instructors To Attend ACS Meeting

Faculty members of the chemistry department will attend a meeting of the Oregon section of the American Chemistry society in Portland, Thursday, October 19. They will be addressed by Dr. Earl A. Evans, Jr., on the subject of "Carbon Dioxide Fixation in Animal Tissues."
 Dr. Evans, who is professor and chairman of the department of biochemistry at the University of Chicago, began his study of carbohydrate metabolism while working in England in the laboratory of Dr. Hans Krebs. Since then he has worked on various aspects of carbohydrate metabolism, particularly on carbon dioxide fixation by animal tissues, the effect of insulin, and the mechanism of carbohydrate oxidation.

 They are part of a collection started in 1929, some of which were purchased from art dealers in France and Italy. Each picture is loaned for a period of 30 days without charge and may be renewed twice.
