

Directory Available On Friday

Pigger's Guide will be distributed to students Friday and Saturday at the Co-op, Annamae Winship, business manager, announced Wednesday.

All students who purchased the directory at registration may call for their copies between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday, or between 9 a.m. and 12 noon Saturday. Each student must countersign the card he signed at registration before he gets a book.

Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, will distribute the book. If possible, students are asked to get their copies during the hour rather than between classes.

Faculty members and student offices will receive their Guides Thursday afternoon and Friday morning.

Jean Lawrence, sophomore in journalism and managing editor of the Oregana, edited the handbook and Annamae Winship, junior in journalism and advertising manager of the Oregana, was business manager.

Nisei Problem Is Panel Topic

"What shall we do with the second generation of Japanese in America after the war?" will be the topic of controversy tonight when the University of Oregon Panel of Public Affairs broadcasts its fourth program of the season.

Participating in the discussion, which begins at 7:55 and lasts for 45 minutes, will be Mr. Ben Buisman, editor of the Oregon Grange bulletin; Dr. Waldo Schumacher, professor of political science; and Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the department of anthropology.

Mr. Kenneth Wood, director of programs released over "The University Hour," will act as moderator of the discussion.

Tonight's program must be considered seriously as a current problem in view of the recent resolution passed by the executive board of Northwest State Granges to the effect that the constitution be amended to permit the United States to deport all Nisei to Japan,

Student Show Asks For Talent

ASUO President Audrey Holliday yesterday revealed plans for a forthcoming all-student variety show, to be written, staged, and directed by members of the University.

Miss Holliday requested that all houses and living organizations submit names of any students interested in participating in this show in any capacity, but stressed particularly the need for workers back stage.

Rt. Rev. T. J. Tobin Speaks Here Today

Address to Highlight 'Faith' Series; Silver Dessert Scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

The Right Reverend Thomas J. Tobin, who will continue the Christian Faith conference series with his lectures in Alumni hall today, studied in Rome, Italy, and is now vicar general of the Portland archdiocese.

Father Tobin's main address "Christianity and the World Order" will be given tonight after the silver dessert in Alumni hall at 6:45. Everyone is welcome.

The first lecture is at the invitational luncheon at noon in Alumni hall. "The Christian Conception of the Kingdom of God," will be the topic. This afternoon, 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., Father Tobin will be at the Alpha Delta Pi house to welcome all students to an informal fire-side discussion of any problems or questions they may have.

Born in Pittsburg, Penn., the Rev. Mr. Tobin was educated in schools of that city and in Cannonsburg, Penn. He attended the University of Notre Dame, 1916-1920, and the North American college, Rome, 1921-1925. Later he again went to Rome in 1933 to 1936.

In 1925 Father Tobin was ordained for the archdiocese of Oregon City by Cardinal Pompili in the Lateran Basilica in 1925. He has been pastor of the St. Francis parish in Portland since 1936.

After the death of the Right Reverend Anthony Hillebrand in 1940, Father Tobin succeeded him as vicar general of the archdiocese. He was recently appointed a member of the Multnomah county selective service board.

Guild Production Tonight at 8; Final Showing

"The Skin of Our Teeth," Thornton Wilder's celebrated comedy of the history of man, will end its University theater run tonight in a command performance in Guild hall at 8.

With a cast of nearly 30 actors including such University theater favorites as Lewis Vogler, Dorothy Weygandt, Marilyn Rowling and the newest star, Bev Brunton, "The Skin of Our Teeth" has proved another feather in Director Horace W. Robinson's theatrical cap.

Box office records show full houses every production after opening night. There are still a few seats left for tonight. Phone local 216 for reservations.

An extensive crew is needed behind the scenes on "The Skin of Our Teeth." It is composed of Marjory Allingham, Cay Shea, Betty Johnson, Evelyn Diamont, Jeanette Daffern, Mary Dobrinin, and Marilyn Wherry.

Business manager is Marjory Allingham. Box office manager and attendants are Mary Lee Steel, Pat Percival, Jeannette Williams, and Dorothy Rasmussen. Others assist.

BARBARA BENTLEY Goes to Portland today to compete for "Miss Oregon" title.

Miss Marie Rogndahl Oregon 'Charm' Girl To Sing at 11 Today

Students will hear Marie Rogndahl singing for the first time since her return to the campus in the ASUO assembly this morning at 11 a.m. in McArthur court. She will sing "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah" by Meyerbeer. Her accompanist will be Maxine Cady.

Miss Rogndahl catapulted to fame when she became America's "undiscovered voice" on General Electric's "Hour of Charm" program. Realizing, however, that more study would be an asset to her, she returned this fall to the University as a senior to complete her college training.

Ed Allen is scheduled on the assembly program to explain the purpose of the war bond drive to the students and urge cooperation during the coming campaign.

Also planned for the program are two songs, "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" and the Chi Psi song sung by the Theta quartet. Charlotte Gething, Pat Scott, Eloise Mulhausen and Phyllis Evans are the members of the quartet.

The rally squad will lead the student body in some new yells and songs in anticipation of the coming basketball season, which begins November 10 and 11.

Marguerite Wittwer will explain the World Student Service fund, and Barbara Pearson will make an announcement about the coming sophomore dance.

MARIE ROGND AHL She will entertain at assembly today.

Honorary to Meet

Plans for the year will be made tonight at the first fall meeting of Phi Lambda Theta, national education honorary for women, announces Mrs. R. W. Leighton, vice-president of the organization.

Ducks Beat Army In Scrimmage

John Warren's casaba team defeated the army boys 42 to 28 last night in the first public scrimmage of the season. The Ducks showed strong possibilities though most of the fellows are inexperienced. The players need more of these games and practices, and Coach John Warren will fulfill these needs.

The army boys showed good ball for the amount of practice they have had and really gave the team a rough time of it.

Mixer Co-chairmen Request 5 Posters

The freshman representatives from each living organization appointed to the publicity committee for the Frosh Mixer have been requested by Co-chairmen Barbara Johns and Nancy Bedingfield to make five posters instead of two, as originally planned.

The mixer, sponsored by Phi Theta Upsilon, is scheduled for Friday, November 10, from 7 to 10 at Gerlinger. All freshmen are cordially invited to attend an evening of dancing, entertainment, and refreshments.

No admission is being charged, and the affair is strictly "stag." Campus clothes will be worn. The theme is not to be revealed until a later date, according to the decoration committee.

Tins, Cans, Fats To be Collected

Tin cans and waste fats, saved on the campus by living organizations, will be collected by the Lane county salvage committee on November 16, according to Florence Hintzen, chairman of the war bond salvage committee.

Directions for saving tin cans are: the cans must be washed, the bottoms taken out, the labels removed, and they must be flattened and stored in boxes. Salvaged tin is used in making ammunition, waterproof containers, and other war materials.

Waste fats should be collected in covered jars or tins. They are used in the making of soap, medicine, and ammunition.

"Let's show them that we're willing to do our part with a bigger amount of cans and fats than ever," said Miss Hintzen.

The campus salvage committee was asked by Mrs. P. L. Herbig and Mrs. J. J. Kamarman, of the Lane county committee, to sponsor collections on the campus in connection with the county drive.

Jessup To Speak At Luncheon

Honoring Dr. J. C. Merriam, president of Carnegie Institute for 20 years, the third and last of a series of informal faculty luncheons will be held from 12 to 2 p.m. today at the College Side Inn. Dr. B. E. Jessup, assistant professor of English and aesthetics, will talk on "Aesthetics."

Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department and J. C. Sullivan, professor of philosophy, spoke at the first and second meetings.
