

WSSF Chairman Appoints Aids For Drive Banquet

Pat McFadden and Marilyn Stratton were named co-chairmen in charge of arranging the dinner for solicitors of the World Student Service fund drive, announced Marguerite Wittwer, general chairman, yesterday after a meeting of committee heads.

Miss McFadden is a senior in business administration and Marilyn Stratton is a freshman majoring in art. The dinner will be held Monday, November 6, in Westminster house at 5:30. All solicitors for campus organizations and chairmen of all committees working on the WSSF drive which begins next week, are asked to attend. The solicitors who attended the meeting Friday received envelopes containing explanatory literature about WSSF and all students wishing precise information on the subject should contact their house representatives which were published in Friday's Emerald. Frances Mettler, sophomore in liberal arts, is equipment chairman of the drive.

Jean Halling, Pat Keck, Marilyn Stratton, Mary Lee Booth, and Jean Long are the committee which is soliciting the cooperation of faculty members in promoting the WSSF assembly November 9.

All houses making posters to publicize the WSSF drive should get their materials from JoAnne Whitson or Rene Hodson, poster chairmen, at the Sigma Kappa house today. Completed posters must be returned to the Sigma Kappa house before Sunday night or early Monday morning, according to the chairmen. All students wishing to work on WSSF and not already assigned to a specific committee should contact the poster chairmen and volunteer to post the cards around the campus before November 6.

Soliciting in the houses will begin Monday, November 6, and continue Tuesday, November 7.

Concert Group Slates Schmitz

E. Robert Schmitz, Victor recording pianist and concert artist in the United States, Canada, Europe, and the Orient, is scheduled to appear in McArthur court, November 14, in the place of Leonard Pennario, now overseas with the army air corps. Mr. G. E. Gaylord, chairman of the Eugene civic concert group, announced Thursday.

Schmitz, who has played more than 1000 successful concerts, plays semi-classical as well as classical numbers and "may well exceed the expectations of the artist originally signed," Mr. Gaylord said.

Tuesday Last Chance For Oregana Pictures

Final dates for Oregana pictures for the organization sections will be today, Monday and Tuesday, it was announced Friday. Yeomen, or any men planning to join the group, will have their pictures taken today and anyone registered in school this term who wants his picture in the book must have it taken before 5:30 next Tuesday.

No appointments are necessary for pictures on these three days, but no pictures will be taken after this time.

All proofs should be returned to the Kennell-Ellis studio as soon as possible, before Christmas vacation at the latest.

Students Get Phone Guide, Date Roster

Oregon's traditional handbook of names and numbers, the Pigger's Guide, was released yesterday to members of the student body, and the remaining copies, purchased at registration, will be distributed today from 9 a.m. to noon at the Co-op.

This book, which was edited by Jean Lawrence with Berta Reische assisting, and with Annamae Winship as business manager, was passed out to students by members of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary.

The publication is a complete compilation of University offices, faculty, employees, and students, as well as the remaining ASTP men on the campus. In addition to the names, home addresses, courses, University addresses, and phone numbers contained in these directories, a section in the back gives full data concerning UO publications, student committees, boards, clubs, and various student body activities.

Also found in this year's Pigger's Guide are the names of the presidents and social chairmen of all living organizations connected with the University.

Freshman Talent to be Displayed at Meeting

The Freshman Activities association will have a free-for-all freshman amateur program at their next meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday, November 7, at Westminster house. With talent discovered at this meeting, a variety skit will be arranged for presentation at a Thursday assembly later this term.

The meeting this Tuesday included refreshments and a boogie-woogie solo on the piano by Frances Olsson. The following committee chairmen were appointed: publicity, Lorna Kingwell; refreshments, Phyllis Falk; and entertainment, Frances Olsson. All freshmen with talent, from the harmonica to bass fiddle, from jitterbugs to heavy drama are urged to attend with their specialty.

Old Oregon Features Marie's Own Story

Marie Rogndahl is now a cover girl. Her picture graces the cover of the October issue of Old Oregon, the University alumni magazine, and within its pages is a story written by Josephine Moore of the University News bureau, telling of Marie's rise to fame in the musical world and of her return to the campus this year.

Another feature in the magazine, which came out October 30, was the alumni family interview with Connie and Ed Averill of Portland, written by Winifred Romtvedt. Mr. Averill has been either president, secretary, or a

Razors Gather Dust As 'Beard Ball' Impends

The fabled "Whiskerino" returns to Oregon—with razors, but no holds, barred for the next seven days. Renewing traditions, Webfeet will again "trip the light fantastic"—men in jeans, plaid shirts, and varying degrees of beardedness.

Scheduled as "the" sophomore dance of the year, the Whiskerino will be held in Gerlinger hall from 9 to 12, November 11.

Sophomores, under the direction of Barbara Pearson, class president, will spare no expense, energy, or imagination in presenting this all-campus affair, the theme of which will be revealed at a later date. Dateless men are urged to remedy their state as soon as possible, and are reminded to cultivate the traditional "baby beavers." A prize will be awarded the most remarkable beard.

Music will be provided by George Carey's orchestra and food and drink will be sold by Kwama. Tickets will be available after Monday noon at the Co-op, College Side, and other places on the campus.

Committees for the Whiskerino have been appointed as follows: publicity, Marilyn Sage; patrons and patronesses, Elizabeth Gilmore; decorations, Roseann Leckie and Jean Watson, co-chairmen, Terry Carroll, Bob Moran, and Chuck Politz, adviser; music, Jean Lawrence; posters, etc., Nick Weddie; lighting, Milton Sparks; and tickets, Florence Hintzen, chairman, Patricia Percival, and Janette Williams.

Committee members are requested to attend the general meeting at the Kappa house Monday at 4 p.m.

W. H. Genne Is YM Speaker

The 100th anniversary of the Young Men's Christian association led to a discussion of the progress of the "Y" through the years Wednesday night, when William H. Genne, regional secretary, met with the YMCA cabinet. Mr. Genne gave several suggestions as to the position the YMCA should have on a university campus.

In discussing the basis for the "Y" organization, the group emphasized that the YMCA is now a democratic, non-sectarian, student organization for the betterment of the student and the furthering of religious ideas. It is a worldwide fellowship which aids students in broadening their minds and attaining harmonious relationships with others.

Group to Discuss Racial Attitudes

Inaugurating a new series of evening meetings, the College Fireside of the Congregational church will discuss "What Should We Do With the Japanese-Americans?" Sunday from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Mr. Wesley Nicholson, pastor of the church, will lead the discussion in the Wheeler room.

The general topic for these meetings is "The Christian Attitude Toward the Race Question."

The public is cordially invited to these discussions and it is expected that they will develop a great deal of interest on the part of those present.

Gene Conklin, third-year law student, chairman of the ASUO committee on student union, will be interviewed over KOAC at 8:15 Tuesday evening on the status of that project.

The interview, one of the weekly University Journal series, will be conducted by Jean Taylor and Barbara Younger, members of the senior class in editing in the school of journalism. The program will be handled by Dr. Kenneth S. Wood, in charge of radio instruction on the campus.

British Numbers Highlight Concert

Two pieces by British composers, one by Haydn, and two from Brahms, will make up Sunday's recorded music concert at 4 p.m. in the library. Miss Ella Carrick, catalog assistant at the library, will play the pieces from her collection.

Sponsors of the program are Mrs. E. F. Bartlam, Mu Phi Epsilon patronesses, Mary Kay Williams, Mu Phi active, Miss Adeline Adams, circulation assistant at the library, and Phyllis Donovan, house librarians.

The first selection will be Haydn's symphony No. 102, sometimes known as the "London" symphony No. 9. Two songs for alto, viola, and piano from Brahms will follow. The British pieces are "English Folk Song Suite" by Vaughn Williams, and "Passing By," by Purcell.

Blood Donors Meet Monday

Transportation will be provided for students wishing to participate. The group will leave Lane county Red Cross center at 43 West Eighth, and plans to return by noon.

Anyone desiring to give a donation should notify Sally Spiess, phone 772, of his intention immediately.

Blood donors must be in good health, and between the ages of 21 and 60. Students over 18 may give their blood if they have obtained written permission from their parents. The permission card may be obtained from Mrs. Spiess at the Gamma Phi Beta house, 1021 Hilyard street, and should be returned to her not later than 8 a.m. Monday morning.

A mobile unit will be sent from Portland to Eugene early in December. Although the Lane county chapter of the Red Cross is responsible for obtaining the donors, they have asked for assistance from groups on the campus to help them reach and go over their quota.

Former Emerald Worker Drops In

Captain Jack Bryant, Oregon Daily Emerald gossip columnist in 1940 and journalism major, declared by Bud Jermaine, journalism graduate assistant, to have "more stooges than anyone I've ever seen" for newsgathering purposes, returned to visit old friends in the Shack, Friday, on a four-day leave.

A front-page cut in the January 1940 Emerald shows Bryant wearing a wig to cover a newly-shaved head after his column, "Behind the Eight Ball," backfired from the direction of the Kappa Sigma house. Bryant also got mill-raced that day.

After graduating from Kelly field as a second lieutenant, Jack joined a fighter group and December 12, 1941, went to Hawaii to fly fighters. Later he was transferred to the combat transport command and has been flying in combat areas for two and a half years, transporting "troops, bombs, cabbages, nurses, evacuees, nurses and nurses" in unarmed planes.

Now attached with the air transport command, with a home base at Hamilton field, he will fly evacuees, mostly wounded men, out of the Central Pacific theater.

After the war Jack plans to go into commercial flying.

member of the executive committee of the Oregon Dads' association since 1936, and his daughter, Connie, who graduated from the University in 1943, is now a reporter on The Oregonian.
