

Beards Blossom Forth As "Whiskerino" Nears; Public Shearing Planned

Sideburns, mustaches, "five o'clock shadow," or even the barest peach fuzz will rescue Oregon males from immersion in the water barrel in front of the College Side Inn this week. "Dunking" Chairmen Russ Monohan and Leon Williams guarantee that the penalty for shaving will be enthusiastically, if not violently, enforced. By official permission, ROTC members are no exception to the rule.

Beard cultivation will be climaxed at the Sophomore Whiskerino Saturday night, with the choosing of the most remarkable growth on the campus. A prize and a public shearing by Harry Hinton of the Varsity barbershop will be awarded the winner.

Stressing informality, the Whiskerino committees announce that jeans and plaid shirts for men, and campus clothes for women, will be worn at the affair, which promises to be one of the most successful of the year. Every Webfoot is invited to dance to the music of George Carey's orchestra at Gerlinger hall from 9 to 12.

Plans for the dance include appropriate decorations, the sale of cokes and hot dogs by Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, and an award of three cartons of cigarettes.

ISA Senators Kill Legislation

ISA senators were deadlocked Tuesday evening over an amendment which proposed that the officers of the ISA executive council be given a vote and a right to discuss and introduce legislation to the senate.

The only objection voiced by the senators towards the new amendment was found in the clause that provided a senatorial vote for the executive officers. Unable to decide on this amendment, senators Craig, Webb, and Moore of the Yeomen assured the senate they were willing to recirculate a new petition for an amendment that would be favorable. As the group was unable to make a decision, Senator Fred Samain, who presided over the group in the absence of Chairman Gene Conklin dismissed the question until the next meeting and opened the meeting for new business.

Other senate discussion included a vote of confidence for the ISA fall social program and the possibility of an independent student forum for the immediate future.

Turnabout Is Fair Play

The reckoning day at last is here,

The day for which we've yearned, For Robinson, Dahlberg, and Franchere,

The tables will be turned.

Guides Still Available

Everyone who paid for a Pigger's Guide at registration, and hasn't yet received his copy, is reminded to call for it at the educational activities office in McArthur court in the near future.

Additional copies are on sale there and at the Co-op.

Auction Set Today

Four UO Faculty Members Offer Services to High Bidders In World Student Fund Drive

Spotlighting four faculty members whose services will be auctioned to the student body for the benefit of the World Student Service fund, the ASUO assembly will be held at 11 in McArthur court. Bishop Benjamin D. Dagwell of the Oregon Episcopal diocese, and J. Paul Snyder, former prisoner of the Japanese, will be featured speakers.

Bob Moran, red-headed rally squad man, will act as auctioneer. Anyone may bid from the floor, and money will go to the WSSSF University quota.

R. D. Horn, associate professor of English, and W. A. Dahlberg, director of speech, have promised to reveal their stunts at the assembly. Hoyt Franchere, assistant professor of English, has agreed to organize an orchestra which will play for the house which bids for him. Horace Robinson, associate professor of speech and dramatic arts, will don apron and chef's hat at the College Side inn when he serves free cokes to the living organization which tops the bidding. Through the courtesy of the Side, ten per cent of all sales made by Mr. Robinson will be donated to the fund.

Music will be provided by the University band, directed by J. H. Stehn, and the rally squad will lead two yells.

Evans Cantrell and two new stars, Phyllis Perkins and Floyd Stapp, will sing. Barbara Bentley, winner of the Miss Lane County title and recently returned from Portland, and Betty Ditto, Nancy Kirkpatrick, and Sue Welch, finalists for the title, will be introduced.

No Armistice Holiday

Armistice day, Saturday, November 11, is not an official holiday. University offices will remain open, and scheduled Saturday classes will meet as usual. This is in accordance with action taken by the state board of higher education.

MISTER WHISKERS

Peering from behind his fall term foliage, a sophomore begs a "Betty Coed" to accompany him to the Whiskerino. An annual affair, the sophomore informal dance will be held Saturday night in Gerlinger hall.

Bishop Dagwell To Speak At WSSSF Assembly Today

Named in 1940 the "outstanding civic leader" in Portland, Bishop Benjamin D. Dagwell, president of St. Helen's hall preparatory school, will appear at the WSSSF assembly and at several meetings open to students today.

The main theme of today's Christian Faith series conference is "The Christian Conception of God," and the principal lecture will be given tonight at 6:45 in Alumni hall. All students and townspeople are invited.

Preceding the evening discussion a silver dessert will be served in Alumni hall by members of the Student Religious council, which is sponsoring this series of conferences under the direction of Marty Beard, chairman, and Lois Clause, council chairman.

The Right Reverend Dagwell, Episcopal bishop of the Oregon diocese, will be guest of honor at an invitational luncheon, the last of a series of three, in Alumni hall, and Charlotte Calder, luncheon chairman, reports that tickets have been sent to students.

This afternoon Bishop Dagwell will confer with the Student Religious council in the YWCA and after the meeting anyone wishing to meet him personally may see him in the "Y" bungalow, 4:45-5:30. The bishop will be a dinner guest of Chi Omega.

"These conferences are not to inspire or evangelize; the purpose of the series is to bring to the attention of students the importance of religion in its historical aspects, its relation to individuals, and to our modern society, and its significance in the shaping of the world which those students will someday lead," said Marty Beard, chairman of the series.

UO Servicemen To Get Emerald

The servicemen's edition of the Emerald will be mailed November 11 to all Oregon men stationed in the United States, according to Marilyn Olson and Dorothy Davis, co-chairmen of the service correspondence committee of the War Board.

This issue, the first to be printed this term, will contain a summary of all the fall term campus news. Members of the committee serving under Co-chairmen Marilyn Olson and Dorothy Davis, are Mary Fairchild, Joyce Whittle, Dorothy Rasmussen, Margery Skordahl, and Paul Lum. Students who assisted in compiling the lists and typing the labels are Carol Radinour, JoAnn Luke, Sally Luke, Jean Jones, Pat Davis, Helen Hicks, Miriam Becke, Nila Desinger, Hazel Leonard, Jean Lausmann, Joan Elliot, Nancy Rivenburgh, Ann Burgess, Marguerite Hirschbuhl, Pat Hoefle, Barbara Tibbetts, Virginia Geoferson, Barbara Hawley, Joan Meyer, Gloria Hawley, Mary Ellen Struve, Wynn Maclay, Eleanor Wallace, and Beverly Theroff.

Today's World

Franklin Roosevelt is being returned to the presidency with numerical control of congress as the mounting tide of Democratic votes are being tabulated. Though the margin in the popular presidential vote is much closer than it was in 1940, Roosevelt has 413 of the 531 electoral votes.

Morse Triumphs

Ex-Law School Dean Will Go To Washington

In commenting about his plans for the senatorship after he takes office in January, senator-elect and former dean of the University of Oregon law school, Wayne L. Morse, said Wednesday, he would "work and fight" for the things he advocated in the primaries.

Morse was at home on his 30-acre ranch with his family and a group of friends Tuesday night, when the election returns were announced, and when his opponent, Edgar W. Smith, made his conceding speech at 9:30 p.m. Later, at 11:16, Morse spoke to voters over stations KORE and KALE.

WAYNE MORSE
Former dean of the U. of O. law school, was elected to the six-year senate term Tuesday.

The former dean of the University law school came to Oregon as assistant professor of law in 1929 and in two years was made a full professor and dean of the school. From 1938 to 1942 he was Pacific coast arbitrator for the United States department of labor. In 1942 he was appointed to the war labor board in Washington, D.C.

The first Lane county man to be elected to the senate, Morse intends to take care of his Eugene law office until leaving for Washington in January. He will also participate in conferences throughout the state.

In a statement to the people after the election, Morse said Wednesday, "I shall hold to the faith
