Mystery Surrounds UO Dream Girl Contestants

Snow Ball Rally Starts Bond Drive

With the steps of Johnson hall serving as a stage, students glimpsed for the first time "Bonds Away Girl" candidates who were presented last night by Ed Allen and Bob Moran, co-chairmen of the 6th War Loan drive.

The program at Johnson hall came as a climax to the snowball rally led by the yell squad, starting from Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, and Sigma Kappa houses.

The first day of the war bond drive on the campus resulted in the purchase of bonds totaling $2400 in the Co-op and the First National bank of Eugene.

Sally Frame, Pi Beta Phi's candidate for "Bonds Away Girl," topped the list by beginning the race with 77500 votes. Each vote represents one cent in war loan investments.

Nancy Rivenburgh, Kappa Alpha Theta, ran second with 52, (Please turn to page three)

Holland Sky Blitz Starts Movie Bill

"Sky Blitz," "Rubber," and "South of the Border with Disney," will be shown Wednesday night in 207 Chapman hall as the weekly movie feature sponsored by the educational activities office, and free to all students. The show will run from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., and is continuous. Students may enter and leave at any time they wish.

The film, "Sky Blitz," was captured from the Germans and shows the attack on an unidentified city in Holland. The second feature is an army film which shows the use the army makes of rubber. "South of the Border with Disney," technicolor shots of life, color, and scenery in Mexico, was made during the time Walt Disney and his company were doing research for "Saludos Amigos."

Dr. Morris Discusses Inter-American Affairs

Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration, met with service clubs in Roseburg, Ashland, and Albany, Oregon, over the weekend to discuss inter-American affairs.

Late Permission Still Undecided

The resolution that late permission be extended until 1 a.m. Saturday nights henceforth was passed at the student affairs meeting yesterday. President Orlando J. Hollis has not yet consented to the action and final confirmation awaits his decision.

Oregon's Dream Girl, to be introduced at the annual Coed Capers and featured in the next servicemen's edition of the Emerald, will be chosen from candidates named by each women's living organization. All houses must submit the name of their representative in the contest to Marjorie Skordahl at the Chi Omega house not later than Saturday, November 25, Beverly Carroll and Marjorie Skordahl, co-chairmen of the Dream Girl contest announced today.

The candidate must be a freshman, and the house sponsoring her should keep secret the identity of the person who is selected, Miss Skordahl said. Candidates for the position will be announced in the Emerald November 29.

Pictures of each of the contestants must be handed in to Miss Skordahl by November 30, and must not be larger than 4 by 6 inches. Photographs of all the contestants will be displayed in the Co-op January 4.

Six finalists from this group will be picked by a group of judges consisting of members of the faculty, and senior members of the AWS council. These six finalists will not be known until the night of Coed Capers, when students will select the winner by casting their admission tickets as votes.

Besides being introduced as at Capers, the freshman chosen as "Oregon's Dream Girl" will be honored with a special date for the annual Mortar Board ball, and will broadcast on the University hour over KOAC sometime in January.

Bird Offered At ISA Dance

A prime piece of poultry named McGillicuddy will be guest of honor at the ISA Turkey Strut in Gerlinger hall, Wednesday at 9 p.m. McGillicuddy has graciously consented to go home after the dance with members of one of the campus living organizations. If sufficiently strong methods of persuasion are employed, it is possible that this roast-ripe bird may be induced to participate in the Thanksgiving dinner of his host.

It was originally intended to have an old fashioned turkey shoot to determine which house would receive the privilege of providing hospitality for the young fowl. Because of the extremely pervious quality of the Gerlinger windows as far as bullets are concerned, however, the plans have been amended and McGillicuddy will be given to a house representative. Living organizations must have at least ten members present to be eligible for the turkey.

Mexico Fosters Open Political Thought

By NORRIS YATES

"Communitistic murals on the wall of the national capitol? Impossible."

That is what almost everyone would probably say, especially if the building in question was the state house of a country which is often thought of as a dictatorship. And yet Mexico, where this sight may be seen, can undoubtedly give America several pointers on freedom of speech and expression.

When Paul Callahan, graduate assistant in social science, and I toured Mexico City this freedom was one of the more noteworthy of the things that "gave us pause."

Newspapermen, university professors, and artists are among those who openly and often violently express opinions which would be considered treasonable in most countries and which might not escape retribution even in this. Radical newsletters and magazines flourish, most of them published on a shoestring. "That's why the government doesn't worry," a loquacious guide told us. "None of the dissenters ever have enough money to do any harm."

We further ascertained that only a minority of the population can read the newspapers anyway, though the literacy rate is going up by leaps and bounds. Those interested in art are also, we judged,
