

Final Tribute Paid Sunday To Dean Hazel Schwering

Final honors were paid to Dean Hazel P. Schwering, who died recently after a long illness, by the University student body and faculty Sunday afternoon in the music auditorium.

Marie Rogndahl sang "Ave Maria," Schubert, with Helen Luvaas, choir director and organist, accompanying her.

Burt Brown Barker, University vice-president, in his tribute to Dean Schwering, compared her to "mother lode," a mining term describing a body of nearly pure ore situated high in the mountains. From it particles and nuggets of the metal wash down to the valleys below.

When Dean Schwering was a young girl her mother died; thus she became her "own architect." Because of this, Vice-President Brown explained, she was better able to help young people with their problems.

"Dean Schwering, the mother-lode, eroded and worn down, has founded spiritual particles in many thousands of young people."

Audrey Holliday, ASUO president, said, "She spent her life helping to form ours. Doubtless her place on committees and in organizations will be filled, but her place as a particular person will be gone. University students will not miss the dean of women, but they will miss Dean Hazel P. Schwering."

Expressing the regret that President Orlando Hollis was unable to be present, Karl W. Onthank, personnel director, gave a brief summary of Dean Schwering's life. "She was in a personal and real sense a guide, philosopher, and friend," he said.

Closing prayer was offered by Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration. "Lord, Now Lettest Thou Thy Servant Depart" was given by the Vesper choir. Helen Luvaas played an organ prelude and a postlude.

MRS. MARY T. SWOBODA
Member of the national counseling staff who will speak to University girls on postwar opportunities November 30 and December 1.

Mrs. M. T. Swoboda Here November 30

Mrs. Mary Taylor Swoboda, until recently mental hygiene consultant of the Springfield (Massachusetts) Visiting Nurse association and lecturer on mental hygiene in nursing at Boston university, will be on the campus Thursday and Friday, November 30 and December 1. The Associated Women students are sponsoring her appearance.

Mrs. Swoboda is a member of the college counseling staff sponsored jointly by the National Nursing council for war service and the U. S. Public Health Service, which administers the U. S. Cadet Nurse corps.

The University is one of 400 universities, colleges, and junior colleges throughout the country being visited during the fall by the college counseling staff, in order to inform college women of wartime and postwar opportunities in nursing.

A native of New Jersey, Mrs. Swoboda obtained her B.A. degree at Mount Holyoke college, where she majored in psychology, and her professional training at the Yale university school of nursing. She later did post-graduate work in psychiatric nursing and mental hygiene at Providence, Rhode Island.

Openings now and after the war, in the fields of nursing education and administration, in public health nursing, psychiatric nursing, and in other specialties, offer unprecedented opportunities for young women with advanced preparation, she believes. As evidence that college women are responding to the challenge, she points to the fact that they form twice as large a percentage of new student nurses today as ten years ago.

Lt. Ralph Johnson Earns Promotion

Ralph W. Johnson, former University student who was prominent on the campus as a YMCA leader and member of Theta Chi, recently received his commission as second lieutenant at Fort Benning, Georgia, after successful completion of the officer candidate course at the infantry school.

Lt. Johnson enlisted in the army in March, 1943, and served with the 84th infantry division where he held the rank of corporal before being commissioned.
