A student at the University in 1940-41, and son of George Hart, city editor of the Eugene Register-Guard, Hart was reported killed in action in Holland, November 2. This picture of Hart, and his wife, the former Adele Say, was taken at the time of their wedding, October 2, 1943.

Hunter Makes Speaking Tour

After giving a series of addresses in eastern Oregon dealing with the 10-year building program of the state system of higher education, Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor, is expected to return to the campus today. Every two years before the state legislature meets, the system sends speakers to informational meetings throughout Oregon. Each school in the state system is responsible for a zone, and the alumni arrange the meetings.

Dr. Hunter spoke on "Oregon Ingredients of Postwar Progress" on November 27 to the chamber of commerce and joint service clubs of La Grande, and the joint chambers of commerce of Milton-Freewater. On November 28 he spoke at a luncheon for the chamber of commerce, the Kiwanis, and other service clubs of Pendleton. Dr. Hunter visited St. Helens November 16.

Apart from series talks, he spoke November 25 in Pendleton to the American Association of University Women. His topic was: "What We May Learn About Education from the War."

Other series speakers from the University include Orlando John Hollis, acting president, whose schedule is: The Dalles, December 5; Hood River, December 6 and 7. W. A. Dahlberg, director of speech and dramatic arts, spoke in Dallas November 17.

Dorothea Thomas Plays Britisher in 'Cornis Green'

Dorothea Thomas starring as the spinster English school-teacher, Miss Moffat, in "The Corn is Green" opening at Guild hall December 1, considers her role "wonderful, to put it mildly!"

"It's definitely a character role, an acting problem which gives you something to think about besides just playing," she added. "Acting is a lot of work but it is worth it. It's putting yourself into another's place, and getting the thought behind the character, thoughts that sometimes also apply to everyday life."

Miss Moffat, according to Dorothea, is different than any part she has ever had. Last year she played Alden in "Dark Victory," a comedy part of a cynical and sharp-witted authoress. A senior in English, Dorothea came to the University last year from St. Helen's hall, Portland, where she was also very active in dramatics. She considers herself "completely a black sheep" when it comes to drama as no one else in her family is interested in acting.

"Miss Moffat is a character of over 40, very British but the accent wasn't much of a problem, direct and vital and intelligent. That makes it hard for me," she laughed in describing her role. She enthusiastically labeled the "Corn is Green" cast as "a swell bunch of kids!"

But the work concerned in a lead role? Dorothea has a question there. "When do I study and sleep—that's all I want to know!"

Be not afraid of going slowly; be afraid only of standing still.— Chinese proverb.
