

UO Extention Courses Offered Again This Term

Eugene extension courses will be offered again this term from January 2 to March 17. These courses are open to the public that those who wish to continue with their studies may do so. Those who do not wish college credit for the courses will be excused from any written work.

The courses offered include: conversational Spanish, first year Spanish, argumentation and persuasion, interior design elements, marriage and the family, reading and conference, American poetry, methods in woodworking, and Oregon school law.

A course in creative writing will be given if there are enough persons interested in subscribing to it. Those who wish to take any of these courses should contact the general extension division, telephone 3300, extension 326, at once.

The schedule of fees for these courses are: graduate credit: $3 per credit hour; minimum fee $6; audit or noncredit: $2 per hour; minimum fee, $5. Laboratory fees are extra and are indicated in the course. The fee must be paid within the first two week. If the fee is not paid then an extra charge of 50 cents per week will be charged.

Westminster Discussion To Follow Potluck Dinner

"From Victory to Peace," a recent book by Dr. Paul Hutchinson, will be discussed from 7 to 8 p.m., Thursday, at Westminster house after a potluck dinner at 6.

Mr. Hutchinson will be in Eugene from February 1 to 3.

Yeomen Install New Officers

Three new officers were installed in office following resignation of Ted Kent, president, Harry Em-singer, treasurer, and Jack Craig, vice-president, at the first 1945 meeting of the Yeomen, Monday evening. Elected unanimously for each office were Jack Craig, president, Bryce Thalman, vice-president, and Ervin Webb, treasurer.

Harvey Humphries, freshman in business administration, was appointed athletic manager, to succeed Charles Ma. Under Humphries, a Yeomen basketball team will make its appearance on the campus soon to take part in the intramural league.

Social chairman, Don Taylor, announced that several Wednesday night mixers had been scheduled in advance and that a Yeomen-Orides dessert was being planned. This week's mixer is to be at the Pi Phi house from 6:30 until 7:30, Taylor said.

Evans Cantrell, corresponding secretary and pin chairman, reported that all members and future members should contact him before Monday, January 15, if they want pins. Pins will then be bought in mass and delivered within four weeks.

Independent men, new on the campus this term and desiring Yeomen membership are urged to contact Douglas Moore, membership chairman, for information regarding organization requirements.

"Hirohito" Subject Of Radio Series

Problems of the Pacific basin will be the topic of the winter broadcast series. The second program of this series may be heard tonight from 7:55 to 8:30 over KOAC, broadcast from the studio on the campus.

Dr. Harold J. Noble, associate professor of history; Dr. Waldo Schumacher, professor of political science, and Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology and geography department, will discuss "The Emperor of Japan." The position Hirohito occupies and the problem he presents for postwar plans is expected to occupy part of the triangular lecture.

Men---Women Change About To Fill Dorms

Both men's and women's dormitories are filled to capacity this term and the late registrants are being housed in vacancies left by students dropping out of the University.

Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, said that the change in housing of Mary Spiller hall, Omega, and Sherry Ross, went off smoothly and the students seem well satisfied with their new homes. The Sherry Ross girls are now housed in Mary Spiller hall, and they will retain their identity as a unit in activities such as Coed Capers, their house council, dances, and firesides.

The girls are being served evening meals and Sunday dinner in their own dining room, but have breakfast and lunch in the Hendricks cafeteria. Miss Mabel Potts, Hendricks housemother, acts as housemother to Mary Spiller, but Miss Anita Feldmyer, senior student, is head proctor.

In the past years, before army occupation, Mary Spiller hall was known as the home of the senior women honor students on the campus. The girls now living there will attempt to uphold this tradition, they said.

Women Urged To Join YWCA

Traditional on the Oregon campus is the 100 per cent YWCA membership of all women students, according to the "Y" membership chairman, Mary Corrigan. All new women are urged to contact membership chairmen in their living organizations to secure membership cards. New students and women who neglected to join the "Y" last term may also enroll with Miss Lois Greenwood, secretary of the YWCA, at her office in the "Y" bungalow, or call Miss Corrigan, at Sigma Kappa house. Membership dues for one year are $1.

Due to a shortage of membership cards, some girls received their cards only recently. Those who have paid their dues and have not received cards may call at the bungalow and get them from Miss Greenwood.

Two Movies to be Shown By Business Ad. School

Two free films will be presented by the school of business administration Tuesday, January 16, at 7:30 p.m. in 207 Chapman, Victor Morris, dean of the school, announced.

Topics of the films, which will last about 40 minutes, are "The Magic of Steam" and "The Surface Condenser." The public is invited to attend.

Alpha Phi Plans Open House for District Guest

An open house honoring Mrs. John O. Phillips, Jr., governor of district V of Alpha Phi sorority, will be held at the Alpha Phi house January 10. Mrs. Phillips, graduate of the University of Washington, is visiting the Oregon chapter from January 7 to 12.

CLIMAX"

Two Oregon Professors To Lecture on Art at OSC

Dr. W. S. Baldinger, associate professor of art, has been asked to conduct a class in connection with the extension courses offered by the state system of higher education at Corvallis this term.

Baldinger will illustrate his February 26 lecture on Latin American painting. Although most emphasis will be placed on Mexico, he will also deal with both prehistoric and modern Peruvian art and sculpture.

Wallace Hayden, associate professor of architecture, will lecture on Latin American architecture.

Dr. Warren J. Mead, head of the geological department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, guided a recent investigation in which rich deposits of bauxite were discovered in the Haitian republic.

Library Gets New Books

New books for the browsing room in the library were presented by Ruth Teal Durell in memory of her mother, Bessie M. Thompson Teal. Included in this new collection is a complete set of leather bound books of Scott and a white leather-bound set by Hawthorne, "The Marble Faun."

Volumes in the collection also include Balzac's "Letters" to Madame Hanska, the complete poems of Edgar Allen Poe, "The Rubaiyat" of Omar Khayyam, and "Les Miserables," by Victor Hugo. Two autographed books from the collection of former Senator Charles L. McNary, "My Friend the Black Bass," and "Rural Credits System" have been given to the University library.
