

Oregana Keeps Kappa Busy 24 Hours a Day

By CAROLYN JACOBS

"My job? Oh, it's fine, just fine!" Marge Cowlin dashed down the hall, muttering under her breath, "Poor Edie, poor me." Asked to explain, she said that Edith Newton, editor of the Oregana, is in the infirmary. "Work is piling up, but I'm sure everything will turn out all right," she added. "At least I hope so," she said as an afterthought.

Business manager of the Oregana, Marge doesn't have to be a philosopher to understand the meaning of "the full life." Collecting advertising money, money from living organizations, registration money, distributing Oreganas to every high school in the state, and several other jobs keep her busy most of the 24 hours in a day. Marge has held her job since October.

Too Much Work

"The life of a business manager is never dull, but it can be a strain on the nerves at times. This term is my busiest one on the Oregana," she continued, "but every term there's lots to do on the book."

A sophomore, this brown-haired Kappa is 18. A Portland girl, Marge graduated from Catlin.

"My major?" she said. "Well that's a problem. I'm majoring in science and I'd like to take a minor in advertising, but my plans are still rather indefinite. I haven't any plans for what I'll do after I graduate," she stated. "They'll come later, but I would like to go to summer school at Cal. It all depends on how long the war lasts."

Helps Others Be Active

Marge is a member of Kwama and very active in the honorary. Activities chairman for the Kappas, she helps freshmen get into activities, shows them how to write petitions, and sees that they are interested in campus events.

"Skiing is my favorite sport," she exclaimed. "In fact, I'm practically a skiing fiend. I'd rather ski than do anything else—well, almost anything else. I don't have much time for hobbies, but I do like sports in the summer."

Asked whether she had a favorite popular record, Marge grimaced and said, "I guess you might say that 'Accentuate the Positive' is my favorite record. I've heard it played so often my resistance is breaking down. I used to despise

Bright Flashes On a Cloudy Day

Bobbie Pearson's gay red kerchief . . . Virginia Harris' lavender sweater with kerchief to match . . . Mary McCandless' white cable-knit sweater (more elaborate than most cable-knits) with fancy topped anklets . . . Georgia Liskey's multicolored parrot on the back of her white kerchief . . .

Dorothy "Frenchie" Herman's blinding but beautiful fuchsia sweater . . . Mary Landry's soft salmon-colored sweater . . . Hospitality Girl Mary Margaret Ellsworth's light red coat and her pretty blond braids across the top of her head . . .

Pearl Peterson's red sweater with the white thread running through it, looks like sparkles . . . Myrl Sykes' many-pleated plaid skirt with gray, maroon, and blue colors . . . Lois Evan's light blue and white laid skirt . . .

Jewelry . . . Jean Miller's diamond and sapphire ring . . . Dagmar Shanks' unusually-mounted ring with one diamond and one ruby . . . Betty Lou Siegman's two large opals . . .

The unusual color of Margie McNeel's rose-colored sweater . . . the bright green sweaters worn by Marguerite Wittwer, Jane Corkran, and Betty Lou Reynolds . . . Alberta Upton's shaggy red fur mittens . . . —Florence Falk.

it, but it's kind of growing on me now."

Typifying the busy life many a student leads, Marge has earned the title of "Coed of the Week."

UO song: "I wish I had a paper dollar I could call my own."

Should Coeds Don Jeans on Campus?

By LOIS EVANS

A must in every girl's college wardrobe is that smart pair of grey woolen slacks—anyway that's what the fashion commentators insist upon telling us every year. This proves confusing to the freshman who arrives on the campus with a collection of slacks, jeans, and peddle pushers prepared for that "casual living" that someone also told them about.

"No, no, University regulations stipulate that women are not to wear such unfeminine apparel on the campus."

"O. K.," says the ever-ready-to-please-can-I-clean-your-spaldings-for-you frosh, "just around the house then."

"That's the spirit, you can wear them anyplace in the house that you want," the helpful junior concedes, "except the living room, dining room, kitchen, hall, front and back yards. I'll be back to give you a few more tips later. Right now I have to go to class," the upper-classman adds as she dashes out wearing plaid shirt and jeans.

Hail, Upperclassmen

After an adequate period of observation, say 36 hours, the "inquiring" freshman comes to the conclusion that there are two sides to every controversial question. Considering the problem even further, our "I'm for the casual life" principal character also formulates an original opinion. Mainly, there are two distinct types of persons in relation to rules and regulations—those who read the complete edition and don't believe in such limitations, and those who can't read.

Briefly, the situation is simple. Everyone does as she pleases. But just for the sake of public opinion and Gallup a survey has been made among Oregon coeds with the following results:

What Do They Say?

Edith Newton, editor of the Oregana—I don't believe it is a good idea; doesn't look well. A lot of the girls who favor wearing slacks and jeans on the campus say that they're doing it to keep warm. If that's the case, why didn't the fad for knee-length stockings take?

Kathie Dunn, president of the heads of houses—I don't believe it is necessary to have a regulation stipulating that women are not to wear slacks or jeans on the campus. I believe it should be up to the good taste of the individual.

Marguerite Wittwer, news editor of the Emerald—I think women should be allowed to wear anything they like depending upon their own tastes and their figures.

Betty Lu Siegman—I don't think they should wear them to classes or in the libe, but anyplace else seems all right.

Pat Spencer—I agree with the present regulations that coeds shouldn't wear slacks or jeans during the week, but I think they are a lot more comfortable to wear on Saturdays.

Romeo: "Juliet, dearest, I'm burning with love for you." Juliet: "Come, now, Romeo, don't make a fuel of yourself."

It's yellower than a Beaver!
It's greener than a Freshman!
? ? ? ? ?

Stamp Sales Hit New Total

War stamps totaling $60.70 were sold to persons attending the basketball games in McArthur court Friday and Saturday nights last week, announced Phyl Perkins, stamp promotion chairman, Monday. Saturday night a group of 18 blue-sweatered freshman women sold $38.15 worth of stamps which all goes toward the $1900 goal to purchase an ambulance which will bear the name of the University.

Miss Perkins revealed the appointment of Carol Wicke as assistant stamp promotion chairman and listed Pat Smith as chairman of the posters and booths committee and Dido Misley chairman of the telephone committee. She announced that stamps will be sold at the Don Cossack concert in McArthur court Wednesday night, and urged all concert-goers to buy from the girls in blue sweaters.

Clips and Comments

(Continued from page two)
a dry night club are just a few of the varied jobs filled last term by the University of Minnesota employment bureau.

King for a Day

UCLA's favorite professor will trade his traditional briefcase and lecture notes for a scepter and crown to rule over their Midwinter Mardi Gras. On the day before voting the students expect short assignments, easy quizzes, and few exams since all professors will have an eye toward gathering votes.

ELECTRIC SEWING MACHINES FOR RENT

Now available — Electric cabinets and portables by the month.

SINGER SEWING MACHINE CO.
640 Willamette Phone 1358

HEAR YE!

HEAR YE!

Proclamation

The Honorable Members of

Phi Theta Upsilon

Junior Women's Service Honorary

Herewith Challenge

The Honorable Members of

KWAMA

Sophomore Women's Honorary

to a

Basket Ball Game

in the near future

Signed,
SIGNE EKLUND,
President

for limited time only!

DAGGETT & RAMSDELL'S
PINE BATH OIL

only $1.49

15½ oz. JUMBO size
Regularly $2.25

Fragrant refreshment for today's
"busy-bodies"!

Exclusively at Miller's

MAIN FLOOR

"IT'S OUR PLEASURE TO SERVE YOU"