

Dancers Form Honor Groups

Orchosis, dance honorary, formerly called Master Dance has re-organized and adopted a new constitution. The club is divided into two groups, junior Orchosis and senior Orchosis.

Newly elected officers of senior Orchosis are Pearl Petersen, president; Charlotte Johnston, vice-president, and Lois Roeder, secretary-treasurer. Chairman of junior Orchosis is Becky Fish. Lois Blankenship is secretary-treasurer. Members include Shirley Cox, Charlotte Johnston, Jacqueline Kenfield, Hermie Kroeger, Shirley Kroeger, Helen Maxim, Marilyn May, Pearl Peetrsen, and Lois Roeder.

Members of junior Orchosis are: Lois Blankenship, Dorothy DeRoss, Grace Edwards, Becky Fish, Barbara Fulmer, Virginia Gaggs, Barbara Hinds, Marilyn Sage, Phyllis Teeters, and Gloria Cartozian.

The present members are girls who are now taking dance and have been selected because they have shown special talent in dance. Any girl who has had previous dance training elsewhere, and who wishes to try out for membership in junior Orchosis may do so by seeing Rosamond Wentworth, adviser of the groups.

Marie Rogndahl to Sing With Gleeman Concert

Marie Rogndahl, junior in music, will be soloist for the Eugene Gleeman concert Friday evening in McArthur court. Miss Rogndahl's appearance with the Gleemen is her only appearance in Eugene this winter. The Gleeman concert proceeds will be contributed to a project for the Boy Scouts.

Bronze Star for Heroism Awarded Ex-UO Student

Lt. Tom W. Cox, former student at the University of Oregon, has been awarded a bronze star medal for heroic achievement. June 22, 1944, Lt. Cox's platoon was pinned down by enemy fire and suffered from heavy casualties. Although all wounded men had been evacuated, Lt. Cox refused to leave until his unit had completed its mission of cleaning out a pocket of enemy resistance.

Council to Promote

(Continued from page one) will be contacted. From these lists of names, freshmen will be selected impartially and called upon to serve. A constant record will be kept of the activities of each freshman and he or she will be rated according to the efficiency with which each of the tasks was performed. Comparatively good grades must be maintained in order to remain in good standing on the council.

Appointments of committee heads will be made from petitions as before.

Working in collaboration with Dean of Personnel Karl Onthank and Dean of Women Golda Wickham, and heading the divisions under which activity preferences will be filed are: Jean Lawrence and Nadyne Neet, in charge of publications which includes work on the Emerald and Oregana; Marilyn Sage and Pat Metcalf, preparation and cleanup work; Marge Allingham and Bea King, general production work which heads house-to-house announcements, program-folding and box office arrangements; Elizabeth Gilmore and Jean Watson, telephone committee work; Marge Cowlin and Barbara Pearson, entertainment and assembly work, including faculty and alumni functions; Elsie Ball and Beverly Carroll, stenographic and office help; Roseann Leckie and Jada Fancher, publicity and advertising work, which includes signs and posters for the various rallies, dances, and assemblies; and Dorothy Rasmussen and Ann Scripter, work at the alumni office and pannelienic.

Origin of Meteorite Revealed

By DARRELL BOONE

In a conspicuous spot on the campus is a full size plaster copy of the fifth largest meteorite in the world. Students, however, have become so accustomed to seeing this heavy-looking mass on the porch of McClure hall they pass it daily without giving it a second glance.

The original, known as the Willamette meteorite, was discovered on a wooded hillside near the small town of Willamette, Oregon, by Ellis Hughes in 1902. Hughes, knowing that such a mass of metal must be valuable, moved the meteorite to his own adjoining property through the use of a low flat truck, that he constructed, and a cable and windlass. It took him three months to complete the job.

But he made the mistake of placing the meteorite on exhibition after getting it on his own property and the owners of the land from which it was taken sued him to recover it. Winning their case they took the meteorite to Portland, where it was exhibited at the 1905 world's fair.

Sold to New Yorker

A number of Oregonians wished that the mighty 16-ton meteorite might remain in Oregon, where it was found, but the owners received a handsome offer for it, and sold the rock to Mrs. William Dodge II of New York, who presented it to the American museum of natural history in New York City.

Several pieces of the meteorite were removed, however, before it was sold to Mrs. Dodge and they may be found in various museums in Europe and this country and in private collections. A 181-gram slab was presented to the University of Oregon by the American museum.

This piece, owned by the University, has been ground, polished, and etched to show the beautiful crystalline structure of the meteorite. Pieces may be seen in the exhibition cases in the natural science museum in Condon hall.

Mortar Board Plans Bar Sale

Mortar Board will sell maple bars and glazed doughnuts today on the campus. The sale will be held from 11 to 4 at booths placed at the Co-op, the library, outside Friendly hall, and the art school. It will also be featured as a highlight of the Heart Hop Wednesday at Hendricks hall, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Gamma Phi.

The maple bars and doughnuts will be sold for ten cents each. Gerd Hansen, Mortar Board president, announces that all profits made on the sale will be contributed to a scholarship fund.

In past years Mortar Board has sold ice cream at booths on the campus. However, this term the committee decided to sell doughnuts and maple bars instead. Ice cream was sold to the living organizations last week.

Plans for the scholarship loan sponsored by receipts of this sale will be announced later.

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

Night Staff:

Maryan Howard, night editor
Shirley Peters

Tuesday Advertising Staff:

Marilyn Stratton, day manager
Maryanne Hansen
Margie Fay

Tin Can Drive

(Continued from page one) tions will receive mention in the Emerald.

Florence Hintzen, chairman of the drive, asks each war board representative to be responsible for a quantity of tins from his house, as this material is so vitally needed in the war effort.

Student Body Heads

(Continued from page one)

Eastern Oregon college of education; and Doris Johnson, Oregon college of education. Unable to attend, Jack Smith, president of the Southern Oregon college of education student body, sent information on his school.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that a member of the state legislature had requested University of Oregon student to stop writing letters to members of the state legislature concerning the building program. Reason for the request was not given.

Investigation of the building situation was begun in an ASUO executive council meeting several weeks ago when Gene Conklin, junior representative, brought up the proposed bill and cited its inadequacies. Additional research revealed that the state legislature had appropriated $100,000 for buildings in the last 15 years for the state institutions of higher learning in comparison to $3,000,000 spent through student fees and federal funds. Statistics further showed Oregon at the bottom of the list for western states in such appropriations.

All four presidents wished to make it clear that action taken was entirely a student movement and that no faculty members were connected with it in any way.

No special appropriations for any one school were requested, but an over-all appropriations to assist the five state system colleges in the immediate postwar expansion was urged.

Girls Will Vote

(Continued from page one)

Tickets to the Hop are now being sold for 25c per couple in every girl's living organization and thus far 11 houses, AOPi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Sigma Kappa, Pi Phi, Theta, ADPi, Kappa, Dee Gee, Chi O, Alpha Xi, and Gamma Phi have gone 100 per cent in their purchase of these tickets.

A trail of red hearts on the sidewalks and a maize of posters will clearly mark the way to Hendricks hall, Alpha Gamma Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Gamma Phi Beta where the hop will be held from 3:15 to 5:15 Wednesday, with the climactic event occurring at the "V" in front of Hendricks hall where the King of Hearts will have his crown bestowed upon him by Joan Dolph, president of the YWCA.

Lovely, new LYSANDA
fragrances

- * Nicka
- * Lilac
- * Carnation
- * Bouquet

Gift Boxes of Soap in the same fragrances

Powder Mitt
in Nicka

RITE-PRICE
DRUGS, Inc.

Next Door to Broadway, Inc.

DELICIOUS BREADS
make your dinners more enjoyable
and your lunches more healthful

Korn's Bakery

Phone 71

14th and Mill

SPRING

COMES TO

KAUFMAN BROS.

Mary Muffet

says . . .

"PASTEL SUIT
FOR WEEKENDS & SUCH . . .

COED VERSION OF THE COSTUME LOOK,
IN WOOL JERSEY
PLUS EYELET
BLOUSE"

Kaufman Bros.

EUGENE'S FASHION CENTER