

Marie Rogndahl to Star With Gleemen

As guest soloist for the 36th semi-annual concert of the Eugene Gleemen, Marie Rogndahl, who appeared on the Hour of Charm program last summer as the "Undiscovered Voice of America," will sing tonight in McArthur court at 8 p.m. This event will mark the only formal concert appearance in Eugene of Miss Rogndahl, blonde coloratura soprano, a senior at the University, and pupil of Sigurd Nilssen.

Theodore Kratt, dean of the school of music, will make his first appearance as conductor of the choir; and Donald W. Alton, who is new this year on the music faculty, as accompanist. The University is represented also by Executive Secretary Earl M. Pallett, president of the Gleemen, and Maxine Cady, who will accompany Miss Rogndahl.

All students will be admitted to the concert free upon presentation of their registration cards. They will be accommodated by bleachers on the west side, and in the north and south ends of the balcony. The balance of the space has been reserved, the proceeds going to the Boy Scouts of America to develop Camp Lucky Boy at Blue river. Composed of 60 active members, representing many professions, the Eugene Gleemen is a men's singing organization which was started and has been active since 1926. Conductor Kratt has arranged the following program:

- I
- "March of the Men of Harlech," Welsh national hymn, arr. by John Hyatt Brewer.
- "Come Roam With Me," old folk song, arr. by Morten J. Luvaas.
- "Keep on Hopin'," Kathleen Heron-Maxwell, arr. by Sumner Salter.
- II
- "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," from the cantata "Sleepers Awake," Bach, arr. by A. T. Davison.
- "A Prayer for These Days," "Dies Irae," by Joseph Parry, arr. by W. H. Anderson.
- "Blessed Be the Day," from the oratorio "Susanna," Handell, arr. by Charles D. Dawe.
- III—Miss Rogndahl
- "Hymn to the Sun," from "Le Coq d'Or," Rimsky-Korsakov.
- "The Crying of the Waters," Campbell-Tipton.
- "The Queen of the Night," from "The Magic Flute," Mozart.
- IV
- "Morning Hymn," Henschel, arr. by A. T. Davison.
- "Saubian Folk Song," Brahms, arr. by A. T. Davison.
- "Carillon of Kharkov," A. Arensky, arr. by Samuel Richard Gaines.
- V—Miss Rogndahl
- "Je Suis Titania," from "Mignon," Ambroise Thomas.
- VI
- "Viking Song," S. Coleridge Taylor.
- "Stars of the Summer Night," (Longfellow), Joseph W. Grant.
- "Splash!" Samuel Richard Gaines.
- VII
- "Keep in the Middle of the Road," Negro spiritual, arr. by Marshall Bartholomew.
- "Victory Tide," William Grant Still.

War Board Activities Keep Campus Alert

Plan Paper Drive, 'Coke Day' Seek $1950 to Buy Ambulance

Admitting that the opportunity to help the war effort is not great on the U. of O. campus, the war board met yesterday to discuss what is being done, and additional things which students may do to back the drive to victory.

Next Sunday, February 18, the only scrap paper drive of the term will be held under the chairmanship of Bibbits Strong.

New Activities Program Begun

At the initial meeting of the freshman council, February 13, a new method of cataloging and promoting extracurricular activities was explained to a large part of the freshman class by Martha Thorsland, Kwama president.

Under the supervision of the sophomore women's service honorary, members of the class of 1948 signed their names under the various activity divisions. Chief Coordinator Marge Skordahl has placed the names on a permanent file subject to the call of committee chairmen and activity heads.

Divisions and Kwamas in charge include: Jean Lawrence and Nadyne Neet, publications, Emerald and Oregana; Marilyn Sage and Pat Metcalf, preparation and clean-up work; Marge Allingham and Bea King, general production work which includes house-to-house announcements, program-folding, and box office arrangements; Elizabeth Gilmore and Jean Watson, telephone committee work; Marge Cowlin and Barbara Pearson, entertainment and assembly work, including faculty and alumni functions; Elsie Ball and Beverly Carroll, stenographic and office help; Roseann Leckie and Jada Fancher, publicity and advertising work, which includes signs and posters; and Dorothy Rasmussen and Ann Scripser, work at the alumni office and Panhellenic.

All freshman who were unable to attend the Tuesday meeting and who are interested in working under any of these departments are urged to call the division heads listed above and submit their names. Freshmen will be impartially called upon to do the type of work for which they signed and will be rated as to how efficiently the task assigned was completed.

Phi Theta Initiates Plan for Independents; Encourage Activities

An attempt to arouse more interest in activities by the Independent students is being made by Phi Theta, junior women's honorary, announced Signe Ecklund, president, Thursday. Dorothy Godknecht, Janet Douglas, Dottie Lou Simonsen, and Charlotte Calder have been giving informal talks at the dormitories explaining how petitions are handled for various activities, what the honoraries are, and in particular encouraging Independent students.

ODE Hunts Face, Most Photographic

The Emerald's contest to find the most photogenic woman on the campus is an annual spring event. Annamae Winship, Emerald business manager in charge of the contest, requests that all living organizations choose their candidates for the honor and photographs of each coed nominated must be turned in to the Emerald business office, journalism building, by February 21.

The purpose of the contest is to determine the most easily photographed woman, personality and activities being irrelevant. A full-page cut of the winner will be published on the front page of an issue of the paper later this term. Women who receive honorable mention rating will be photographed for advertising for downtown stores.

Living organizations should telephone the names of their candidates to extension 354 as soon as possible.

Bundles from all campus living organizations will be picked up by the Lane county salvage committee.

With every purchase, with the exception of meals, at the College Side inn Wednesday, February 21, a 10 cent war stamp will be sold. Arrangements for this "Coke Day" are being made with the manager of the Side by Martha Thorsland.

Dime Dinners

This is only one opportunity to buy war stamps toward the campus goal of $1950 for an army field ambulance. Bonds and stamps purchased at the Co-op and at games and other public events from members of the corps of freshman girls all apply toward the goal. However, most purchases so far have been made at Monday night "dime dinners," which are becoming popular.

Say 'O-day-on,' If You Mention Student Show

The name is Odeon. It is pronounced "o-day-on" and is the original Greek term for musical theaters. And that is what it is on the Oregon campus, except that it has been given an added twist and polish and handed out as a student creative art and talent show. The term Odeon has floated around the campus ever since it was first begun two years ago by a group of enthusiastic creative minded students and there are still many who have little knowledge of the subject.

Today's World

THE FIRST GREAT seaborne assault against the Japanese homeland Friday (Japanese time) struck Tokyo and its industrial environs in a raid by more than 1200 U. S. carrier-based aircraft. The daring foray by Vice Admiral Mitscher's task force was a direct challenge to the Jap fleet.

THE EIGHTH DAY of the northern front offensive brought Canadian troops to the west bank of the Rhine opposite Emmerich. Action on the southern part of the front has been brought to a stand-still by floods.

SOVIET TROOPS have broken across the Neisse river on both sides of Forst, strategic rail hub 62 miles southwest of Berlin, to tear into the southern flank of the capital's defense.

CONTINENTAL DISPATCHES indicate that President Roosevelt may investigate arrangements for the relief of French civilians when he arrives in France.

"Heaven Can Wait" will be presented tonight and Saturday night in Gerlinger hall. See story on page 4.

Peggy Overland, student chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, emphasized the following points concerning it:

Odeon is an annual show devoted to presenting student creative endeavor. It was scheduled for April 23 and will be produced in the music building. Since Odeon is primarily concerned with original work in the fields of music, art, drama, letters, and designing, it has been rumored that any such display of the "finer things of life" would be limited to an audience of the aesthetically-minded.

However, that impression is erroneous. Odeon is presented for the entertainment of the entire student body and faculty, according to Miss Overland.

Contributions Wanted
Odeon is also free to the public; there will be no charge for admittance, but tickets will be required. These tickets will be available at the Co-op soon.

Contributions of art, essays, (Please turn to page four)

Dance Cancelled
Due to the scheduled house dances of Omega and Gamma halls, there will be no interdorm dance tonight.

VOICE OF CHARM
In her first public appearance in Eugene since her return from New York, blonde, silver-throated Marie Rogndahl will appear with the Eugene Gleemen, who make their 36th appearance to "home" audiences tonight.

Rabbi Compares Democratic Way With Judaism

"American democracy is a child of the Bible," stated Rabbi Joseph Giten of the University of California, in his lecture on Judaism and democracy Thursday evening in Friendly hall. This was the fourth in a series of University lectures arranged by Dr. Rudolf Ernst.

Rabbi Giten discussed religion in relation to democracy and declared that "the ideals of Judaism and the ideals of democracy are synonymous; democracy is only a political name for the ideals of religion because this form of government is moral before it is political."

The essence of Judaism and democracy are the same, he said, because first, Judaism inspires democracy with the sovereignty of God. A nation denying God admonishes the supremacy of the state; second, Judaism and democracy believe in the brotherhood of men; third, Judaism emphasizes the spirituality of men, and fourth, it stresses the equality of men.

Journalism Women To Eat, March 2

Annual Matrix Table, formal dinner given by members of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional and honorary fraternity for women in journalism, will be held March 2, at the Osburn hotel, Louise Montag, general chairman of the dinner, said Thursday.

Featured speaker for the occasion will be Mrs. Vere Keeland, Portland radio woman.

Two outstanding upperclassmen in arts and letters will be selected from each house and invited as special guests along with members of Pot and Quill, Theta Sigma Phi, and alumni.

8 Enjoy 'Comforts' Of 'Cold Castle'

Several Ducks contacted wet feet or some similar ailment recently because there are eight inmates cozily tucked in at the Fill Palace. Among those kayoed by the cold insect are Fred Miller, Jack Kroder, and Wally Adams. Two more hardy gallants, Charles Politz and John Hall, are also laid up.
