

Women to Elect Officers Today

OREGON Daily EMERALD

VOLUME XLVI UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1945 NUMBER 88

Assembly to Choose AWS, WAA, YWCA

AWS, WAA, and YWCA officers will be elected by all University women students today, at 11 a.m., in the Gerlinger gym. Voting by the three organizations will be preferential. Formerly, the associated women students put up vice-presidential candidates but with the preferential ballot more candidates will be chosen for president and the one with the second highest number of votes, automatically, will become vice-president.

For AWS the slate has been prepared by senior members of the council and additional nominations may be made from the floor. President Mary Riley requests all senior council members to stay after the assembly and count votes.

Outgoing AWS officers are: Mary Riley, president; Ardis Jensen, vice-president; Signe Eklund, secretary; Mary McCandless, treasurer; Margery Skordahl, reporter, and Beverly Carrol, sergeant-at-arms.

YWCA

"In voting for YWCA officers you do have to be a member of the organization, but you do not need to have your membership card with you," announced Jo Dolph, president of the "Y." This supposed regulation has prevented some students from voting in previous years. Officers of the 1944-45

Men Who Ski Invited to Join Rescue Group

The Willamette Valley Ski patrol, a group of Eugene men organized last fall at the suggestion of the fourth interceptor command, will meet tonight in 207 Chapman at 7:30.

Formed as a rescue group to look after wrecked planes in this locale, the ski patrol has been skiing every Sunday since they were organized. Army transportation is provided for those in the group.

A request that anyone interested in working with this group come to the meeting has been made by Kenneth L. Shumaker, University director of lower division courses.

Qualifications in first aid must be met by the applicant.

KNIT AND PURL

Campus living organizations are meeting a plea for the Red Cross for knitted afghans. Here Jean Jones, Betty Householder, Barbara Munteanu and Pat Davis are shown doing their part.

Supreme Court Justice To Discuss Personalities

Speaking on interesting personalities in the law, Justice George Rossman of the Oregon supreme court will be the fifth speaker for the University lecture series when he appears on the campus tonight at 7:30 in room 12, Friendly hall.

"Justice Rossman is an outstanding legal scholar and has a distinguished record on the bench of the supreme court," Orlando John Hollis, acting president of the University said, when commenting on the lecturer's campus appearance.

"He has addressed groups on the campus before, and has always given an interesting and well-prepared speech. In addition to his duties on the supreme court, he has a keen interest in current developments in the field of law, being particularly active in the American Law institute during its recent project of restating the law."

Among the personalities whom he will discuss will be Coke and Bacon, 16th century lawyers in England, and the conflict between the two on courts of equity and courts of law. This lecture is intended for laymen, and all students and faculty are invited to attend.

The lecture is under the joint sponsorship of the law school student body and the University lecture committee.

Today's World

FILTERING THROUGH a western front news blackout have come reports that German forces are retreating before the blows of four Allied armies. The U. S. first army charged from three bridgeheads across the Erft river Wednesday to within 6½ miles of Cologne.

Infirmary Communique Lists Eight New Patients

According to a recent communique from an official source, there are eight patients now taking it easy in the infirmary. They are Jean Ballentyne, Marjorie Cowlen, Eleanor Merrifield, Travis Olsson, Patricia Moffat, Helen Steele, Lucille Bellinger, and Raymond Armstrong. They will welcome visitors at any time from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m.

Kerensky Traces Russian Revolution Says Freedom Not Absolute Dream

By MARJORIE McNEEL

Speaking before history classes on the campus Wednesday, Alexander Kerensky, head of the provisional Russian government after the revolution of 1917, expressed optimism for the future of Russia and of the world.

Kerensky pointed out that the restoration of freedom in Russia is not an absolute dream. "I will never accept the idea that by terror,

Red Cross Cup To be Awarded Saturday Night

Mary Kay Minor, collections chairman, announced Wednesday that Red Cross contributions on the campus had reached $280.94. All living organizations now have two days in which to make further collections and Saturday night the cup will be awarded to the group with the highest average gift per person. Miss Minor urges all representatives to notify her daily concerning the amount of their solicitations.

Phyllis Donavan, chairman of the drive, expressed the hope that the goal of $1200 may well be topped by Friday since so many students will be receiving allowances March 1. She further stated that contributions will surely be forthcoming in view of the fact that almost every student knows some service man who either has been aided by the Red Cross or might have need of its services in the future.

UO Men Helped

The World Student Service fund drive conducted on this campus last fall would have been purposeless were it not for the International Red Cross which is successfully delivering the educational supplies which the WSSF purchased. Second Lt. R. P. Cable, Second Lt. A. E. DeBoise, and John Lindner, former U. of O. students and now prisoners of war

KAY KORN

From "Dark Victory" to "The Trojan Women," Miss Korn is covering a lot of territory and she'll end in being murdered, according to the play.

Modern Greek Baffled By Metrical Problems

Two major problems disturb Kay Korn, senior in French, in her portrayal of Andromache, one of the four leading parts in "The Trojan Women," opening in Guild hall March 7.

"Will somebody," asks Kay, "please tell me what you do with a three year old child named Astyanaz?" The reference is to the son of Andromache, who after his father's death, is the only remaining Trojan heir. The part of this tragic young Trojan who is murdered by the Greeks to prevent a future Trojan dynasty, has not yet been cast.

Things Are Tough

Kay's second problem concerns her lines. "How does one ad lib in iambic pentameter and couplets?" The nature of the lines makes word for word memorizing a necessity, says Kay.

Andromache, to place her historically, is the daughter-in-law of Hecuba, and the wife of Hector who, in the play, has just been defeated and killed in battle by the Greeks. Her scene in "The Trojan

Banquet Acceptances Due by Five Today

Those persons planning to attend Matrix Table, annual formal banquet given by members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism honorary, should acknowledge their acceptance through Dean George Turnbull's office in the journalism building by 5 p.m. today, Louise Montag, chairman of the dinner, said Wednesday.

Among University women invited to the banquet are two outstanding upper classmen majoring in liberal arts chosen from each living organization.

YW Officer Plans Union With YMCA

Miss Eleanor French, executive secretary of the student division of the national YWCA, will speak on "The Time's Demand," today, at 4 p.m. at the "Y" bungalow. Miss French will elaborate upon Christian faith, racial equality, full employment, world organization, political effectiveness, and religion in higher education.

The YWCA officer has been touring the middle west and Pacific states in a campaign to unite the YWCA and YMCA. Her work for the "Y" began five years ago on the Ohio State campus as local secretary. Later she served as national personnel secretary.

Postwar plans on the campus were discussed Wednesday night at the Chi Omega house, where a dessert was held in Miss French's honor. Members of the YMCA and YWCA board attended. At noon she was a guest of the YWCA luncheon club.

Members of the YMCA and YWCA, as well as non-members are invited to hear the talk.
