

Personnel Administration To Award Three Grants

Three grants-in-aid in advanced personnel training amounting to $750 each will be awarded in 1945 by the Rosenberg foundation, the Pasadena headquarters of the Western Personnel service announces. The grants allow $500 for living expenses, and costs of tuition, fees, and materials are covered by the remainder of the award.

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, is chairman of the academic council of the personnel service and will clear applications from the University.

The training course provides a general overview of the field of personnel work in education, industry, and government. Trainees develop their special interests and gain experience through reading, supervised work in student personnel methods research, occupational research, practice in office procedures, and individual projects at Western Personnel service headquarters or other personnel offices.

Trainees will be accepted April 1 and September 1, and applications must be received not later than March 15, and June 1, respectively. The training period normally covers 10 months.

Must Have Degree

Applicants must at least hold a bachelor's degree or have completed the equivalent of four years of college work. Upper division courses in personnel administration or vocational guidance, or an adequate general background in psychology, sociology, education, economics, or political science is required.

Dean Onthank termed the training an "extraordinary opportunity." There is some chance for employment in the field without this training, he said.

Among University graduates who have trained through these grants and become successful in personnel work are Elizabeth Stetson and Ann Fredrickson. Miss Fredrickson formerly was in charge of the induction of Waves at the U. S. naval training school at the Bronx, New York. She now is doing personnel work for the Waves in Washington, D.C. Miss Stetson served as counsellor at the San Francisco junior college until her marriage.

And then there is the fellow who joined the navy before he found out who kept the ships so nice and clean.

Dan Cupid Aims In Preparation For Springtime

With winter term over and previews of spring in the air, a young coed's fancy turns to love. Winter has given the campus many exciting times and spring promises even more. Of engagement and wedding news there is much to be told before finals start and we leave for our week vacation.

The Sigma Kappa house dance held a double thrill when Jo Anne Deaville announced her engagement to Bill Hessel. Bill, home on leave from the navy, helped Jo Anne pass heart shaped candies with their names inscribed to the girls and their dates.

A DG anchor filled with violets told of the engagement of Yvonna Prather to Bill Harding. Announced on February 24, Yvonna carried out the wedding news by serving French pastries with violets frosted on them. The date has been set for some time in August.

Chi O Dorothy Fleming returned from a short visit in Portland and told her sorority sisters of her plan to wed Lt. Roy Baxter of the army air corps.

Curt Welburn, former SAE at Oregon State, sent Janice Seymour, Alpha Chi, his pin from overseas.

February 27 was the day Jean Probst, ADPi chose to announce her engagement to Cal Huson. Little white bells with the couple's names told the news.

Alpha Xi Joan Van Doren is telling her friends informally of her engagement to Lt. Loren Smith.

The Alpha Gamma Deltas were awakened by the fire bell recently to sleepily follow signs to the living room where they were pleasantly surprised by the news of Betty Whittle and Elwood Hedberg's engagement.

Alpha Chi Marge Curtis announced her engagement to War Correspondent Tom Weiss while she was in Portland. Mr. Weiss is leaving for Guam shortly on an assignment.

Peggy Smith, Alpha Xi, now has the Sigma Chi pin of Russell Turner now in the navy.

As the result of another leave Pat Silver, Alpha Ci, is wearing Bob Daggett's Sigma Chi pin. Bob, a lieutenant in the army air corps, is a former student at Oregon.

Every night he calls her up! And that is something when the calls are from San Diego. Who is the long-distance ensign, Frannie Maier?

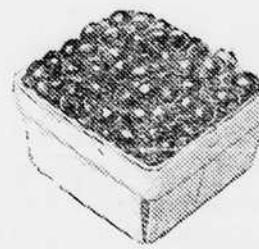

Expecting many new romances to culminate with the increasing blue skies and spring days we say goodbye for this term. Until spring has its fling . . . !

How did you puncture that tire?
Ran over a milk bottle. What's a matter, didn'tcha see it? Naw, the darn kid had it in his pocket.
