

Choir Will Sing Sunday At Term's Last Service

The last University vesper service of the term will be presented March 11 at 4 p.m. under a new and revised program, announced Helen Luvaas, director of the vesper choir, recently. A policy of student leadership will be introduced Sunday when Leslie Brockelbank, senior in sociology, will read the scripture. This new student leadership will eliminate the formal address, thus devoting most of the half hour program to the choir.

The program includes a string quartet, consisting of Marion Salt-ness, Marilyn Olson, Joyce Whittle, and Robert Gilmore, playing "Largo Sostenuto" by Haydn; the vesper choir singing Palestrina's "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," the reading of Isaiah 1, 1-20, by Miss Brockelbank, the choir singing a Russian melody, "My God and I."

Dittersdorf's "Andante" played by the quartet; the choir and quartet in Bach's "Crucifixus" and "Interludium in Modo Antico," by Glazounov, played by the quartet.

Miss Luvaas has asked that the change in time from 5 p.m. to 4 p.m. be noted.

Dramatic Writing Sought by Alliance

The Dramatists' alliance of Stanford university offers four awards in dramatic writing in the tenth annual competitions of the organization. The Stevens award of $100 is offered for serious plays of full length in either prose or verse; the Etherege award of $100 will go to the writer of the best full-length comedy sent in. Brief plays of one act or in short unified scenes may compete for the Alden award of $50. The Gray award of $25 is offered for dramatic criticism in lucid, vigorous style.

The most produceable of the plays among these competitions will be staged in the summer of 1945 during the Dramatists' assembly. All prize-winning items, and the leading contributions among the works given honorable mention, are recommended to producing and publishing units of established worth. The contests are open to all persons who write in English.

Other opportunities extended to contributors include opportunity to obtain brief critiques of their work for a nominal fee of $3 beyond the registration fee; introduction of promising dramatists to members of the alliance already placed in theater and cinema, for advice and assistance; and the appearance of every item contributed in the contests, in the lists of the bulletin issued each year and sent to libraries and producing groups and individuals throughout the country.

Writers should send for registration forms and information as early as possible. The final date of this season's competitions is March 25. All communications should be addressed to the Dramatists' alliance, box 200Z, Stanford university, California.

Just Plain Gossip

By ERVIN WEBB

With all due respect to Ho Hum and giving him all the credit allowed by the OPA, we feel that one person or one column can not be in a position to "observe" everything worthy of print. Firmly believing the above is true we present the following collection of dust, dirt, and grit, that escaped the proverbial "I.Q. rug" at sweeping time.

Anita Fernandez—having a wonderful time with Elmer Sahlstrom. Natalie Brown going steady with Dick Bartholomew. Wally Johnson taking over Jeanne Robinson when Bill O'Hearn withdrew, green with jealousy. Now Jeanne has to leave for home, doctor's orders, and just when she and Wally were getting so well under way.

Elizabeth Gilmore, sporting two luscious baby white orchids from SAE Ted Baker, seen at the Gamma Phi house dance. Has John Ruble left petite Betty Green, Kappa, or is he just playing the field with anticipation of returning to Betty?

Chuck Plum was really chalking up a good time Friday night, with Robbi Bowman around to help!

Dick Dahlstrom literally swept Becky Burkes off her feet at the Gamma Phi dance and did a little of the same at the river on Sunday.

Bev Carroll Will Enter State Oratorical Contest

Beverly Carroll, sophomore in liberal arts, has been selected to represent the University in the "Old-Line" oratorical contest sponsored by the Intercollegiate Forensic association of Oregon, to be held on March 27 at Pacific university, Forest Grove.

Representatives from five other colleges in the state will also participate. The speakers may select any subject, the length of the oration to be from 10 to 12 minutes.

Odeon Workers Asked To Submit Efforts Early

Because the deadline for material to be submitted for Odeon, student creative art show, falls soon after the commencement of spring term on April 8, contributors are urged either to submit their work before final week or to spend extra time during spring vacation whipping it into final form so that additional time will not be needed, Peggy Overland, general chairman announced recently.

"This year, we are planning to include a short, one-act play in the program without lengthening the time which last year's production required," Miss Overland said. "There will also be a good section of master dance numbers by Orchesis and several musical compositions, both vocal and instrumental." Apart from these special groups, Miss Overland said that there would probably be poetry, a few short stories, and essays to be read.

Those students who submit written work to be read on the program should indicate whether or not they wish to present the work themselves. For those who do not, the committee will supply experienced readers from the speech or drama department who will meet with the writers to discuss interpretation. All persons considering contribution of written work should submit their material to Claudine Biggs at Westminster house.

The art exhibit in connection with Odeon, will open Sunday afternoon, April 22, the day before Odeon, and will remain open for inspection during that day and the following Monday. It will be held in Gerlinger hall.

Hansen Breaks Scoring Mark

While towering Vince Hansen of WSC was establishing a new all-time conference scoring record of 253 points, (topping Gail Bishop's 16-game and Laddie Gale's 20-game record), equally tall Red Rocha of Oregon State nailed down the runner-up spot with 225 counters.

Wilkins of Oregon was the only other man to climb over the 200 mark. The leaders:
