

UO Enrollment Shows Increase Over '44 Totals

That a gradual but steady enrollment increase at the University is developing was made evident by figures released Monday by C. L. Constance, assistant registrar. Mr. Constance's totals, which are complete as of Saturday, April 7, indicate a 22 per cent increase in the spring term enrollment of this term, as opposed to that of 1944 spring term. A grand total of 1742 persons has been recorded, with 383 men and 1359 women included.

Forty-eight per cent more men or 383 as tallied with 259 of last year's totals, are now on the campus. An increase of 16 per cent is shown in the ranks of women, with 1359 now registered, as opposed to 1170 last year.

Few Student Tickets Still Available for Ballet Tonight

A limited number of student tickets are still available for the San Francisco ballet to be presented tonight at 8:15 in McArthur court, announced Horace W. Robinson, educational activities manager yesterday afternoon. "All reserved seats have been sold," Robinson stated, "but general admission tickets may still be purchased."

Acclaimed as one of the finest ballet groups in America, the San Francisco ballet is composed of 26 artists, directed by William Christensen, who formerly headed a ballet troupe in Portland. On this first stop of the company's annual nationwide tour, they will offer three different numbers. The first will be the second act of "Swan Lake," with music by Tchaikowsky. The second number to be presented is the perennial favorite "In Old Vienna," by Johann Strauss. The concluding number on the program will be the popular "Nutcracker Suite" of Tchaikowsky.

No seats will be sold on the main floor, in order to give all members of the audience a good view of the dancing. All University students will sit in the bleachers and the general public will be seated in the west balcony.

Runner Up: Highland House; Campus GPA Rises to 2.527

University cooperative house topped campus grades winter term with a 2.93 GPA, a tabulation released Monday by the registrar's office revealed. Battle Waged, Turner Freed

Despite the valiant efforts of Attorney Harry Skerry, a dozen jurors decided an assault and battery case in favor of Defendant Donald Turner, when a mock trial was held by members of the law school April 7 in the Lane county courthouse.

An annual feature presented for members of the 4-H marketing club, this year's case was one in which George Luoma, second year student in law, attempted to sue Donald Turner, first year law student, for damages resulting when Turner threw a baseball bat which hit Luoma. John Hathaway, second year student in law, was attorney for Turner.

Kenneth J. O'Connell, associate professor of law, presided

Movie Series Presents All-Oriental Program

An all-Oriental program will be presented through the movie series Wednesday in 207 Chapman hall. The first showing begins at 7:30 and the second at 9. The program will consist of a film on China, "The 400 Million," and three films on Japan entitled "The Land," "The People," and "Dream of an Empire."

Following the first showing the YMCA and YWCA will inaugurate a series of movies forums in room 204 Chapman. W. S. Baldinger, associate professor of art, will lead the discussion. Mr. Baldinger has made a study of the Far East, particularly of its art. Doug Moore, YMCA president, and Mary Corrigan, YWCA president, invite all students to attend.

PETITIONS DUE

No petitions for chairman positions for the seventh war loan drive, May 8-12, have been turned in, Carol Wicke, war board chairman, said Monday.

The deadline has therefore been extended to 4 p.m. Wednesday, at the Alpha Delta Pi house. The war board will make appointments at the Wednesday meeting. Upperclassmen may petition for the general chairmanship, while those of publicity, finance, auction, and coke day are open to upperclassmen and sophomores.

Three Seniors Present Recital; Expressive Program Enjoyed

By BETTY JANE BENNETT

Three talented senior piano students, Betty Jones, Elizabeth Schaefer, and Alfhild Wahl, presented a varied and well-polished recital in the music school Monday evening. Miss Schaefer opened the program with the Mozart "Pastoral with Variations" and played it with a musician's feeling for the lovely theme and gay ornamentation. She followed with "Praeludium" by Macdowell. De Falla's "Serenata Andaluza" was played with spirit as Miss Schaefer seemed to thoroughly warm up to her keyboard.

Miss Jones played Bach's exacting "Italian Concerto" with accurate fingers, making up somewhat for a lack of feeling sensed especially in the first and third movements. Agility on the keyboard was shown by Miss Jones in her treatment of the Chopin "Berceuse." Poulenc's "Toccata" was well suited to Miss Jones' rather dry but accurate style and she presented a puckish type of humor and built up to a colorful climax in this work.

Chopin's Nocturne

All the subtlety and delicacy of Chopin's "Nocturne No. 27, No. 1" was well brought out by Miss Wahl. Miss Wahl played "Two Arabesques" by Debussy with this

Houseboys Eye Favorite Dish For Butlers Ball

Campus houseboys will stage a contest to select their "favorite dish" from each dorm, co-op, and sorority during the coming two weeks. After the individual contestants are selected, a board of judges composed of a houseboy from each "eating" organization will pick the final winner and announce her name at the "Butler's Ball" April 21. Each girl to be selected will be presented with a small token of recognition by the houseboys of her organization.

As the result of today's tapping, the following candidates can be revealed: Alpha Phi's "meatball five" selected Marilyn Moore as their "favorite dish"; the "biscuit bouncing six" of the Chi Omega selected Pat Davis as their most savory dish; and the "hash-slinging six" of the Theta's tapped Nancy Rivenburgh as the most select item on their menu.

No Photos Necessary

Because the choice selections of the "Butler's favorite dish" contest are carefully chosen in the primary selection, no photographs need be submitted by the contestants.

Tickets for the "Butler's Ball" will go on sale late this week at $1.80 per couple.

Annual Senior Speech Prizes To Total $300

All students who wish to enter the annual senior Failing-Beckman-Jewett oratorical contest to be held Saturday, June 16, or who wish information on the nature of the contest are asked to get in touch with Mr. W. A. Dahlberg, director of speech and dramatic arts.

All seniors who participate in the commencement exercises are eligible for the contest, in which the participant must deliver a fifteen-minute oration on any subject of his own choice. Three prizes will be awarded: for first place, the Failing prize of $150; for second, the Beckman award of $100, and for third place, the Jewett prize of $50. There will be six final contestants.

Mr. Dahlberg has agreed to help all interested seniors in the selection of their trophies and in the drafting and presentation of the speeches. Subjects have varied in former years from such selections as "Teaching for Poetry Appreciation" to "World Peace" and "Child Psychology."

Librarians Meet Today

All old and new members of the House Librarians should attend a very important meeting today at 4 o'clock in the Browsing room of the library, announced Nancy Boles, president of the group. Election of officers will be held and several important business matters will be discussed.
