

UO Band to Appear In Concert Sunday

The University of Oregon band, under the direction of John Stehn, assistant professor of music, will appear in concert Sunday, April 22, at 3 p.m.

The band will play: "Inglesina March" by Delle Cese; "Introduction to Lohengrin" by Wagner; seven from Act III and Bridal Chorus" selected pieces based on Hungarian folk songs by Bela Bartok; "Intermezzo," from Rustic Wedding symphony by Goldmark; three pieces by Dmitri Shostakovich; and "Repertoire" for piano and band by David Bennett. Johnette King, soprano in music, will accompany on the piano in the last number.

Five Students Attend Conference in Salem

Students from the University of Oregon, Oregon State college, Pacific university, Lewis and Clark college, Reed college, and Willamette university will attend a weekend conference in Salem, sponsored by the First Congregational church and the Knight Memorial Congregational church. The conference will open with a dinner for the delegates Friday at 6 p.m., and will close with the 11 a.m. service Sunday morning.

University delegates to the conference include Ellen Sutherland, Sylvia Jensen, Elsie Ball, Patricia Howe, and Gloria Campbell, and Mrs. W. G. (Mary Kay) Williamson. They will be accompanied by the Rev. Wesley Nicholson, pastor of the local church, who will speak on "Love, Marriage, and the Home," at the conference.

A proud mother walked into the furniture department of the E-Zee Credit company clutching a small monthly payment.

"Here is the last installment on our baby carriage," she said happily.

"And how is the baby?" asked the clerk.

"Oh fine," she replied. "He was drafted last month."

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

It was in Tunisia. The enemy's artillery was pounding our forces. Corporal John W. Percer of our Field Artillery saw his section chief fall, ran to the officer and staunch his wounds with a tourniquet. The shelling was intense, but the Corporal threw himself between the wounded man and the exploding shells to shield him until it ended. For that he won the Silver Star.

Lord, we seem to remember, was born in a stable. Far better than the machine gunning to death of civilians by the Moors in the bull ring of Badajoz.

"The addition of a new navy to his arms made Franco admiral of the fleet." The Spanish navy consisted of a few pre-1914 relics divided equally between both sides.

"He has built the greatest Spanish power since the days of Philip II." Bull!

"England and France each paid $100,000,000 in gold for Spain's neutrality." Try and prove it!

"This is being used to rebuild the damage wrought by the Bolsheviks." Who destroyed University city?

"Christians can go to church on Sundays." They can pray for an hour on Sunday and be preyed upon by the world's most corrupt and inefficient bureaucracy the rest of the week.

"Education is extended to the masses." The schools have been taken over by the church whose curriculum consists mainly in learning the catchism and studying the lives of the saints.

Franco was appeased by our state department because we needed Spain's neutrality at the time of the North African invasion. The Franco regime is on its last legs. The army, industrialists, and grandees are about to restore the monarchy as their last resort. The approaching crisis was highlighted by the recent resignation of the Duke of Berwick and Alba as Spanish ambassador to Great Britain.

nalistic makeup apart from other courses, and one on the techniques of magazine editing, especially as they differ from newspaper editing.

Radio Stressed

Arliss Boone—I am very much in favor of radio journalism being included in the course. The faculty needs a little inflation, the building should be done over inside, we need a few more workable typewriters, and an office for informal conferences.

Barbara Younger—To a certain extent radio and journalism should work together in a joint program to train a person for both fields. We need more people on the faculty, because it is hard for the professors to teach so many classes.

Ruth Kay Collins—I would like to see an advisory system which would help the student combine his journalism course with dramatic criticism or politics or whatever else he chooses. I'd also like to see radio journalism.

Will Lindley—We definitely need a photographic and engraving plant for students to learn these processes. We need one direct teletype service for the copy desk, especially a night wire for world news, and an enlargement of the printing plant might even make two-color processes available for the Emerald.
