Guilty Await Punishment Today Noon

Order of the "O" members were kept busy Monday checking students for violating Junior Weekend traditions. Boys whose names appear on the list below are to be at the steps of Fenton hall today at 12:40 to receive their punishment. Spectators are invited to witness the hacking.

The violations for which students are being watched are: stepping on the grass of either the old or new campus, smoking on the old campus, walking on the seal, sitting on the senior bench, freshman girls not wearing green hair ribbons, failure to say "hello" to everyone you meet on "Hello Walk," which runs between Fenton and Villard halls, and failure of the men to wear the correct kind of fresh pants or slacks.

Freshman boys to wear tin pants or cruise blues; sophomores—blue jeans; juniors—clean cords; and seniors—cords.

A list of the offenders will appear each day in the Emerald with the exception of the girls, whose names will appear in Saturday's Emerald.

Realism, Fantasy Blended in 'Liliom'

By JEAN LAWRENCE

"Liliom," Ferenc Molnar's greatest dramatic work, reopens tonight on Guild hall stage after two highly successful weekend performances. Final performance, as now scheduled, will be Thursday, May 3.

A summary of the play shows that it begins in a mood of stark realism when Liliom, the carousel barker, and Julie, the servant girl, meet. It leads to the point where Liliom, rather than go back to work at the carousel, and faced with the expectancy of Julie's child, attempts stealin gand possible murder, to be caught and to commit suicide rather than to fall in the hands of the police.

After his death, the play becomes sheer fantasy and takes Liliom to a magistrate's court in heaven where he is sentenced to 15 years in the purging fire, after which time he is allowed to return to earth for one day to perform just one good deed which will make him worthy of attaining eternal happiness.

Not a 'Fleeting' Play

It has been said that there is more irony and more philosophy and true human emotion in "Liliom" than can be found in the fleeting plays of the ordinary season. Certainly it is true that "Liliom" has greatly increased, rather than diminished, in popularity since it was written in 1908.

This University theater production is under the direction of Horace W. Robinson. Giving vivid and dramatic portrayals of character are Lewis Vogler, as Liliom; and Phyllis Kiste and Mary Lee

Delta Zeta, national sorority which has been inactive on the Oregon campus since 1933, recently announced a list of thirteen pledges. Rosemary Petty and Georgia Moscrip have been tapped since the publication of pledges.

Morale Builders' Photographs To Appear in Co-op Window

By SHIRLEY PETERS

The Co-op will burst into full-bloomed beauty Wednesday when pictures of the 24 "Chin-up Boys" chosen by women's living organizations will be exhibited in the front window.

The pictures, which were wrested from their proud owners by brute force, will be displayed there until the end of the seventh war loan drive, which extends from May 8 to May 11. Houses selling the most bonds each day during that period, will have the pleasure of seeing their "Chin-up Boy" in all his masculine glory, in a highly spotlighted place in the window.

Beauty Doesn't Count

"It isn't the beauty, but the number of bonds sold that will determine the winner of this contest," declared Margery Skordahl, contest committee chairman, who remarked that all girls who were generous enough to loan their cherished pictures will have the photographs returned to them promptly after the contest.

Under the slogan: "He's my chin-up boy because he keeps up my morale," the following servicemen have been chosen by the houses:

Concert Date Set to May 11

The appearance of Rise Stevens, famous soprano of opera, radio, and motion pictures, scheduled for Wednesday night on the Eugene Civic Music concert series has been postponed to Friday, May 11, 8:15, McArthur court.

In a telephone call from Los Angeles yesterday to G. E. Gaylord, president of the local civic music group, Miss Stevens explained that she has been requested by the United States government to sing at the San Francisco peace conference on dates conflicting with her engagement here.

"We are all evry anxious to further the work of this momentous convention," says Mr. Gaylord, "and willingly inconvenience ourselves to facilitate it in this way. We feel exceedingly fortunate to be able to secure her for a later date."

Dr. T. Z. Koo to Speak At Assembly Thursday

Dr. T. Z. Koo, governmental adviser of the Chinese delegation at the San Francisco United Nations conference, will speak at an all-University assembly Thursday, May 3. He will speak at a forum in Gerlinger hall the same afternoon.

Although the subject of his program has not been announced, A. F. Holmer, YMCA secretary, said Mr. Koo will probably have something very important to say about what "China Has at Stake at San Francisco." Dr. Koo's visit to the campus will be a return engagement, for he has appeared here for assembly talks prior to the present war.

In Occupied Territory

Dr. Koo recently returned to the United States after three years in Japanese occupied territory. He was in Hong Kong on December 17, 1941, and with Mrs. Koo, endured hardships, starvation, and deprivation for many months. Both he and his wife lost 20 and 30 pounds weight in Hong Kong. Later Dr. Koo lived in Shanghai, where life was better, but food was scarce and living conditions were greatly restricted. During his two-year stay there, he had opportunity to observe the Japanese method of bringing their "East

Junior Weekend Traditions ...

Mud Bath Scheduled for Sophomores; Freshman Pants to Paint Skinner 'O'

Led by Captains Floyd Fredrickson and Gil Roberts, picked teams of freshmen and sophomores will battle to the finish in a tug-of-war contest Saturday at 10 a.m. behind the music school. Bob Hamilton, chairman of traditions, announced the arrangements for the event, which is a traditional feature of Junior Weekend.

Because of the danger of injuries, the tug-of-war will be held in the vacant lot north of the music building, instead of over the mill-race as in past years. The contest will take place over a trench, three feet deep and six feet wide. To quote Chairman Hamilton, "It will be filled with mud of a liquid variety, and the whole field will be sprinkled generously all day Friday. Contestants may wear anything but tuxedos."

All freshman boys whose names appear in the Emerald either Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday for violations of traditions are to meet at the Side, Thursday at 3:30 p.m. to receive orders. These boys will have the pleasure of digging the trench for the tug-of-war.

'O' To Be Painted by Freshmen

All freshman boys are required to be at Skinner's Butte at 4 p.m. Friday to paint the "O." Order of the "O" club members will supervise the application of lemon yellow paint. Freshman roll will be called at that time. Any absentees will be listed for paddling at the campus picnic Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Jameson Speaks On Social Service Work

Dr. S. H. Jameson, professor of sociology, spoke before the Lane county social service council April 24 at a luncheon given at the Eugene hotel. His topic was "The Role of Social Service Exchange in Eugene."

At a discussion Sunday at Westminster house, Dr. Jameson answered questions from the question box, which ranged from matrimony, education, and Christianity, to the San Francisco peace conference.

UO Veterans' Training Officer Quotes Rules on Allowances

By WINIFRED ROMTVEDT

Because an article appearing in Saturday's Emerald regarding veterans' subsistence allowances under Public Law 346 may have been confusing, Raymond S. Sifdol, training officer for the University veterans administration guidance center, is quoted directly as follows:

Today's World

GENERAL MARK CLARK, 15th army group commander, announced the virtual end of the long and bloody campaign in Italy by declaring that the German armies in Italy have been eliminated as a military force.

THE AMERICAN 9th ARMY established another contact with the Russians three miles west of Wittenberg, enlarging the wedge between the Germans' northern and southern pockets.

THE BRITISH CABINET re-examined the "peace" situation in a regular meeting and the authoritative British press association said the "peace position was fully discussed."

FIRST REPORTS from a closed meeting of the executive committee of the San Francisco conference said that invitations had been approved for Argentina, White Russia, and Ukraine to join the United Nations meeting.

ISA Meeting

All ISA senators will meet tonight at 7:15 in 105 Commerce hall, announces Alice Harter, ISA president.

"In order to clarify the question of 'whether a veteran, who is employed in outside employment while pursuing a course of instruction in an educational institution at which his training is being received, which employment has no bearing on the course of education or training pursued, may receive subsistence allowance as enacted by Title II, Public Law No. 346, 78th Congress,' the following is an excerpt from a decision on the issue here involved, rendered by the veterans administration:

"Subsistence allowance is neither pension nor compensation. It is a monetary allowance intended to provide a person in receipt of education of training under Part VIII with a measure of support during such education or training. The full allowance is awarded to one pursuing a full-time course, without requiring the applicant to show need, but such award should not be made to one who is gainfully employed in full-time employment, even though pursuing a full-time course of education or training under Part VIII. . . . This principle will be applicable logically whether the person was employed in a full-time job at the time he entered training or whether he entered in a full-time job after he started training.

"On the other hand, a person
