Magazine Sent To UO Grads Outside States

The Newsletter, a four-page condensation of Old Oregon, is sent to approximately 1200 U. of O. men and women in overseas service. Since the servicemen in the states were receiving the Emerald, the alumni association tried to send complimentary copies of Old Oregon overseas. Since postal authorities don't permit the sending of complimentary copies overseas, a small campus bulletin which could be folded and sent first class, was published.

This is the second year of publication of the Newsletter; three issues are printed a year. It is made up of general campus news and letters and pictures from the men themselves. It also includes news concerning military promotions and citations. The last issue contained a complete sports round-up of the basketball season. Many of the servicemen say that the Newsletter is their only tie with the campus and that it helps to prove their point about Oregon.

Five other papers are published on the campus and sent to Oregon service men and women overseas. The art school prints an art school

UO Job Seekers Should Register

Students interested in war work and other summer employment are advised to sign up as soon as possible at the University employment bureau located in the YMCA bungalow. Additional workers are needed urgently at the three Kaiser shipyards in the Portland-Vancouver area and other opportunities are open elsewhere.

Graduating seniors are requested to fill out permanent record forms at the bureau immediately. These records are filed with recommendations, from former employers and instructors, and are always available in the future when graduates are applying for positions. Students taking advantage of this service are asked to take several pictures, 1½x2½ inches, with them when they make out their records.

Old lady: Little boy, I wouldn't kick my sister around the street like that if I were you.

Little boy: Oh it's all right. She's dead.
