

By BOB CHAPMAN

Everyone on the campus is looking forward to the return of collegiate football, baseball, track, swimming, and tennis next year even though prospects for all of these sports are slim at the present time. Experienced material is lacking in every field and unless returning veterans can fill the depleted squads the outlook will be far from bright next fall, especially in grid competition.

Oregon's return to collegiate grid competition will give the majority of students their first opportunity to see a Webfoot grid machine in action. Although the outlook isn't bright, remember what Oregon had in the way of experienced basketball material last fall; anything can change the picture before the season opens. If the spirit of the basketball team this past season is any indication of the future, the Webfoots may surprise everyone and come out in the first division.

11 Positions Vacant

At the present time 37 students have expressed their intention of turning out next fall. If a few 17-year-olds and returning veterans can be added to this list, Lt. Comdr. Gerald "Tex" Oliver, now stationed at Los Angeles but expecting a discharge from the navy during the summer, upon his return should be able to fill the eleven vacant positions on the squad.

In the past "Tex" Oliver has always had a squad of at least 60 players to build from and unless the unexpected happens, next year's club will be limited to 45 or so players, all lacking in collegiate competition. Oregon State, Washington State, and Idaho are in the same boat but the Huskies have been fielding a combination civilian and navy club for the last two seasons; from the sidelines it looks as though the Washington club has the Northern Division pennant cinched. Travel restructions and a shortage in players seems to have killed any possibility of competition with any of the California elevens.

No Spring Practice

Stanford and Montana are still holding out and it is questionable if either one of the clubs will return to collegiate grid competition before 1946. Although no spring practice was held it is believed that the Webfoots will be in as good shape as the Beavers, who held a three-week scrimmage with but a small turnout.

Those who have indicated their interest in playing football next fall include: Ray Beeson, Dean Bond, Don Byers, Melvert Byers, Evans Cantrell, Bill Davis, Harold Haskell, Marion Huff, Jim Kroder, John Kroder, Ted Loud, Larry Neer, Bill Patterson, Tom Riley, Gil Roberts, Dick Savinar, Ozzie Seida, Herb Squires, D. Sullivan, Vernon Wadsworth, William Walkinshaw, R. J. Wardwell, Lloyd Whitford, Howard Bay, Bill Elder, Dave Kenyon, Hal Ford, Jim Bartelt, Del Smith, Jack Powell, Don Martin, Charles Ma, Stu Mercereau, Lou Kotnick, Jim Ellison, Bill Kavet, Thomas Seifort, and Jack Stiergth.

Anyone whose-name-is not on this list or who hasn't turned in an application to Anse Cornell and who is interested in playing football-next fall should contact him immediately.

Hobby Hobson, head basketball and baseball coach, will return to the campus to assume his former position in the athletic department. At the present time Hobby is in Rome, Italy, acting as a civilian sports consultant at the army's Mediterranean sports school. He expects to return to the States July 1.

Webfoot Quintet Waits Return of Hobby Hobson

This has been the most successful basketball season for the University of Oregon since 1939, when Hobby Hobson's quintet won the first national collegiate athletic association title by defeating Ohio State in the national playoff. Although Oregon came out third best at Kansas City, no one can doubt for an instant that "Honest" John Warren turned in the greatest coaching feat of the year when he took over the reins last September and prepared to make the best of what looked like a poor bargain. One veteran and three reserves formed the nucleus of experienced material at the beginning of the season.

Win Far West Title

Oregon's _ freshman - dominated club was victorious in 30 out of 43 starts and went on to win the far west NCAA title after defeat ing Washington State in a threegame playoff for the Northern Division crown. Their offensive average for the season was 53.9 tallies per game as compared to a defensive average of 47.3 per game. During the season the Webfoots collected a grand total of 2,415 points. Dick Wilkins, all-coast forward, accounted for 544 points out of Oregon's total to rank sixth at the close of the season for individual scoring honors in collegiate basketball throughout the United States. Bob Hamilton, captain and allcoast guard, follows a close second for high scoring honors with a total of 496 points. Hamilton ranks in the top ten and Ken Hays, 6foot-7-inch center is next in line with 401 tallies.

Susie Women Win UO Softball Series

Susan Campbell hall defeated the Rebec-Hilyard team 5-4 Monday, May 21, to win the 1945 XAA softball championship. The two evenly-matched teams batted out a seven-inning battle highlighted by two home runs by Dorothy De-Ross and Alenor Merrifield. Hurler for Susie was B. J. White.

With the score tied 4-4, at the first of the seventh inning, Betty Crabb scored to give the Susan Campbell ten their win.

Both teams played heads-up ball under the leadership of Susie's Betty Crabb and the Rebec-Hilyard co-captains. Dorothea Thomas was Rebec's pitcher.

Students to Give Last Broadcast Tonight at 7:30

When University students go on the air at 7:30 p.m. tonight over KOAC, the state-owned radio station, an outlet of state institutions of higher learning, it will be their last broadcast of the season, Kenneth S. Wood, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts, and director of campus radio programs has announced.

The program tonight will feature John H. Stehn on the clarinet, Marion Saltness on the viola, and Sylvia Killman at the piano, presenting "Trio in E Flat" including the andante, menuetto, and allegretto movements, by Mozart.

Mr. Stehn will also present "Recitative and Polacca," from Weber's "Second Concerto." He will be accompanied by Miss Killman.

Broadcasts Named

During the year, various broadcasts have been presented from the campus, under the direction of Mr. Wood. The senior editing class has presented "University Journal." Students from the school of music have presented a half-hour cam-Hays, 6-foot-7-inch center; Del pus recital, called the "University Smith, the most rugged forward in Hour." Faculty from the school of the league; and Reedy Berg, the music have also presented the newcomer who brought Oregon "Faculty Hour," and faculty memfrom behind to victory on numbers have presented the "Univererous occasions this season. Resity of Oregon Panel of Public Afserves who are expected to bolster fairs," a discussion of vital topics of the day. In the "World in Rethe lineup next year include: Bruce view," Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean Hoffine and Lou Kotnick, guards; Chuck Stamper and Les Wright, of the school of business adminforwards; and Ed Allen and Bill istration, has been a regular speaker.

At the present time Hobby is On Thursday from 11:10 to 11:30 in Rome, Italy, acting as a civilian a.m., "Let's Sing America," a prosports consultant at the army cen- gram for children of the state, untral Mediterranean sports school. der the direction of Maude Gar-Other famous sports figures who nett, associate professor of public

Bids for Veterans' Apartments Being Received in Johnson Hall

The University of Oregon is now receiving bids for the construction of married veterans' apartments, J. O. Lindstrom, University business manager, announced recently. Plans and specifications are on file in Dr. Will V. Norris' office, 106 Deady. Bids will be opened June 8, in the Johnson hall office

When veteran enrollment decreases

Men at Tripoli Air Base

As base mess officer at the alumni, is responsible for the proper feeding of all men at the base.

Native of Bonneville, Oregon, tors, Mr. Lindstrom added.

of Dr. C. D. Byrne, secretary of the state board of higher education. years from the rents collected.

To be located at 13th and Beech streets, on University-owned pro- after a possible ten years, the perty, the apartments will consist apartments will be rented to marof 16 combination bedroom and ried graduate students and instrucliving room homes, and 8 apartments with both living room and bedroom. If bids prove satisfactory to the authorities, construction will Oregon Alumni Feeds be completed by registration fall term. They will be fully equipped, Mr. Lindstrom said, and will be connected to the University steam Mellaha air base in the north Afheat.

Additional Apartments

will be vitally needed before long," Mr. Lindstrom said, "but these additional apartments would have to be financed with some kind of government aid."

versity funds, the apartments will built over the ruins of Benito kins, all-coast forward and the nabe paid for over a period of 20 Mussolini's famous auto race track. tion's sixth highest scorer; Ken conference.

Hobby to Return July 1

Prospects for next year are greater than ever because when Hobby Hobson returns from his assignment in the European theater of operations July 1 he will rican division of the air transport and reserves with the exception of command, Tripoli, First Lieut. Jack Jim Bartelt, first string guard who "Probably 200 more such units H. Elle, University of Oregon enters the army air corps this summer.

next fall when Hobby assumes his Financed with a loan from Uni- minute drive of Tripoli, and was tain and all-coast guard; Dick Wil-are teaching refresher courses in school music, has been given. athletics at the school for physical education instructors in the army's educational program are Ethan Allen, Cecil Isbel, and Bill Cavanaugh.

Elder, centers.

Professor to Lecture At Relations Institute

Dr. Anibal Vargas-Baron, assistant professor of romance languages, will give several lectures on Spanish-American relations at the Northwest Institute of International Relations June 10 and 11 in Portland.

The lectures will replace the Latin-American round table, of former student of the University, which Dr. Vargas was chairman last year. He was compelled to refind a complete squad of regulars fuse chairmanship this year because the date of the conference over as navigator a teraporary coincides with final examinations on the campus.

Regulars who will be on hand International Relations is com- as navigator, stating that his qualiposed of a number of round tables fications included a pilot's license, Elle has been overseas ten months. former position as head basketball for the discussion of various inter-The base is located within a ten- coach include: Bob Hamilton, cap- national problems. Dr. Vargas' lectures will probably concern the background of the Chapultepec Grove, completed seven successful

Ę

UO Alum in Tripoli Helps Base Morale

Capt. Norman R. Hawk, graduate of the University who served as athletic coach in Grants Pass before entering the service, now continues his recreational work as officer in charge of personnel service at the Mellaha air base in Tripoli, North Africa. In the two months he has spent overseas Captain Hawk has visited the cologful African cities of Casablanca, Senghazi, and Cairo.

Raines Acts as Navigator

Staff Sgt. Ralph W. Raines, a proved his merit as a navigator, though his assigned position is that of Liberator gunner, when he took vacancy on a bombing mission in Europe. With the 15th air force The Northwestern Institute of crew, Sergeant Raines volunteered obtained in civilian life, as well as some actual navigating experience. Raines, whose home is in Forest missions before he was received.